The Sullivan County Boy.

Ellery P. Ingham of LaPorte, who on Thursday of last week received the appointment of U. S. District Attorney for the Eastern District of Penusylvania, is considered among our brightest young men. As a local politician he is without equal in this section. His becoming and friendly ways has gained for him the respect of not only the Republican faction of our county, but Demoerats as well and when he enters a campaign, this following is at his command. Ingham during his period of practicing law in Sullivan, was not wholly for self gain. A neighbor in trouble was pretty sure to strike him for relief and invaribly left Ingham's law office with smiles on his countenance. This is one of the many kind acts that made Ellery so universally popular at his home. He is considered one of our shrewdest attoreys. The people of Sullivan county have a right to feel more than proud of our representative, considering the fact that he has only been in the light of the moving world, but two and a half years and is honored with one of the highest state appointments in the gift of the President.

First Blood for Quay.

The first square battle between Senator Quay and his opponents within his own party was fought at the Armstrong county primaries on Saturday by a direct vote for instructions for United States Senator. and Quay practically distanced Dalzell. The popular majority for Quay is not less than 1,000, and half as much more is claimed by his friends.

A less direct but equally decisive battle was fought between Quay and his opponents at the Republican primaries in Snyder county on Saturday, and Quay has won on the popular vote over Dalzell by a considerable majority. In both Armstrong and Snyder the same primaries nominated candidates for the Legislature, and in structed for Quay for Senator.

In Union county the lines were not so sharply defined on the Quay issue because of local manipulations but Quay comes out substantially the victor, and his favorite candidate for the House is nominated.

These battles on the Senatorial issue will soon be followed by like direct votes in Buttler, Mercer, Lawrence, Venango, Crawford, Erie and other counties, and the prestige of Quay's overwhalming victory in Armstrong, and his practical triumphs in Union and Snyder, will be likely to carry instructions for him in most if not all of the Western counties named.

It is now evident to all who dispassionately view the Senatorial situation, that Senator Quay has the active party men not only with him, but thoroughly organized and agressive in his support. The opposition is formidable in both intelligence and numbers, but it is a loose aggregation of militiamen against veteran regulars; and it may now be accepted as settled that Quay will control the legislative nominations.

The Presidential Canvas

It is now the very general opinion among intelligent and impartial observers of the drift of popular sentiment that President Harrison will be renominated by the Republican National Convention, which will meet a little more than two months hence. Up to this time all the Republican State Conventions held have substantially committeed themselves to this course. It is natural and fully justified.

There is now no indication that there will be any formidable candidate other than President Harrison presented to the convention. It is not at all improbable that his will be the only name offered when the time comes, and that the convention will by acclamation ratify a choice already made by popular sentiment. If this is not done there must be a miraculous charge within the next two months, and nothing like that is now indicated in any section of the country. The great heart of the Republican party is in full harmony with the present Administration, has confidence in its broadminded and honest purposes, and in its dignity and force.

There never has been any formidable opposition to President Harrison, and the real insignificance of what opposition there was became evident as soon as it could no longer use the great popularity of and enthusiasm for Mr. Blaine in order to make it appear to amount to something. That opposition is much less to-day than it was two months ago. It was expected to concentrate somewhere else if Mr. Blaine declined to be a candidate, but Mr. Blaine is irrevocably out, and there has been no drift in any direction save toward President Harrison. He grows stronger every day, and the conviction is general, and it is justified, that he will be the Republican nominee.

The Democratic situation, on the other hand, is pretty badly confused. No thoughtful observer believes that Senator David B. Hill's nomination is probable. Mere politicians of his calibre have never bad very good luck in getting Presidential nominations. They are tolerated, for a time at least, in certian positions, but it is a much graver consideration when they are put forward for the Presidency. There are plenty of Democrats who would like to see Senator Hill carrying the party banner this year, but it is very unlikely that these will be in the National Convention in sufficient force to bring about that result. The purposes of the early convention held in Hill's interest in New York have not been accomplished so far

There are great obstacles in the pathway of ex-President Cleveland, due to Hill's operations in New York. Cleveland is clearly the choice of the Democratic rank and file, but the politicians have made trouble for him. The election of Crisp to the Speakership last December was a very serious damage to Cleveland, but he has been steadying up a great deal since. The vote in the House last Thursday on the silver bill will do more to revive the feeling in behalf of his candidature than any other event for a long time. In that respect it has a very im portant and significant bearing, which Mr. Cleveland's friends will not fail to appreciate.

Back of these two leading figures in the Democratic discussion are half a dozen others, including Governor Pattison, any one of whom is a possibility should the nomination of Cleveland be deemed inadvisable. At present, however, it must be apparent that Cleveland has more chances of getting the nomination than anyone now in view. It would not be surprising if the canvass this year were made, as in 1888, with Harrison and Cleveland.

Gray Fights Cleveland.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 28-The feeling between the Democratic leaders in Indiana, who favor the nomination of Cleveland, and the friends of Isaac P. Gray is intense and seems almost certain to result in a factional division which will endanger whatever prospects the party have for carrying the State. The Democrats admit this, but it is the evident determination of both sides to fight it out.

The Cleveland end seems to have captured the party machinery, including a majority of the State Central Committee, the State organ and a majority of the most influential politicians. They have been quietly endeavoring to side-track Gray but he has stubbornly insisted that long established political custom gave him the right to name the Indiana delegates to the National Convention and that he was entitled to the solid support of the delegation as long as he wanted it. His refusal to accede to the wishes of the Cleveland men who have believed him to be in league with Hill all along led to their open warfare upon him as begun last week at the public meeting held in this city, followed up by the action of two local conventions on Saturday and the editorial declarations of to-day demanding his withdrawal from the race. While the gray people are very much disheartened, they still say that he will not withdraw and that he will insist on the State convention instructing for him. Gray himself refuses to say anything at present.

Young Cleary Must Hang.

PHILADELPHIA, March 28 .- The Supreme Court to-day approved the decision of the court of Oyer and Terminer of Clinton county in the case of the Commonwealth against Cleary. Chief Justice Paxson filed the opinion of the court, and a dissenting opinion was delivered by Judge Sterritt.

Cleary is the man who murdered Chief of Police Philip Paul at Renovo about three years ago, and has been twice convicted of murder in the first degree. The first judgment was reversed by the Supreme Court upon a technical error in the Jude's charge, and he was again tried and convicted. It was for this second conviction that he appealed.

A deer was seen by an Erie & Wyoming locomotive engineer the other day drinking from Roaring Brook, near Nay Aug Station, Wayne county. A law ought to be enacted in this state protecting deer from being killed for at least a term of five years. What a grand sight it would be to see this beautiful animal roaming unmolested over our hills and mountains.

DELANEY WILL TRAIN COR-RETT

The Californian Has no Use for the Champion Wrestler.

William Muldoon, the wrestler, will not train Corbett for his coming fight with Sullivan. The matter was settled on Saturday, "Billy" Delaney, of San Francisco is the man that "Jim" has engaged to take care of him. Muldoon and Corbett have been dickering for a week or more. They had a long talk Saturday night, and Corbett brought it to s close by saying that although he had the highest opinion of his ability, he had decided to engage the same man who trained him for his fight with Peter Jackson.

It is said on excellent authority that Muldoon told Corbett and various other persons that Johnston and Wakely were after him to train Sullivan. But those closely connected with the Sullivan party said that there was no chance on earth for Muldoon, as Sullivan had soured on him and would not allow himself to be put in the wrestler's care again.

THE SILVER BILL DEAD.

Speaker Crisp Effectually Prevents Its Reconsideration

WASHINGTON, March 28 .- The silver bill is dead in the House of Representatives. The free coinage men this evening acknowledged this. Speaker Crisp, they learned to-day, had decided not to report a cloture rule from the committee on rules unless a majority of the members of the Democratic party in the House should so request.

The intelligence dumfounded them as they had confidently expected the rule to be reported to-day or tomorrow. They were exceedingly angry and at first were disinclined to make any effort whatever to get a petition signed. Later in the day Mr. Pierce, of Tennessee, circulated a petition asking Speaker Crisp to report the rule and got a number of signatures to it, but he found that many silver Democrats would not sign, and late this afternoon he announced that the petition was withdrawn and that the free coinage men had given up the fight in the House. Mr. Pierce said: "We will make further effort and have decided to let the committee on rules assume the responsibility."

One of the other silver men attempted to get signers to a petition, but met with poor success, for, as already stated, thirty-five of the men who have hereretofore voted for the silver bill refused to sign it. Among the number was Mr. Compton, of Maryland, who not only declined to sign the perition, but gave notice that if any cloture resolution is brought in he will vote against it The anti-silver men are exultant over the change in the situation, but the pronounced silver advocates are exceedingly irritated and angry and do not hesitate to indignantly protest against the treatment they have received. They were so much discouraged at the declared intention of the thirty-five silver men not to sign any petition that the effort to procure signatures to such a paper was abandoned and no actual petition is now in circulation.
