Rev. James P. Stone of Lower Cabot, Vt., formerly of Dalton, N. H.

A Faithful Pastor

Is held in high esteem by his people, and his opinion upon temporal as well as spiritual matters is valued greatly. The following is from a clergyman long influential in New England, now spending well earned rest in the beautiful town of Cabot, Vt.:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: 'We have used Hood's Sarsaparilla in our family for many years past, with great benefit. We have, with confidence, recommended it to others for their various ailments, almost all of whom have certified to the great benefit by its use. We can Honestly and Cheerfully recommend it as the best blood purifier we have ever tried. We have cured others, but none with the beneficial effects of Hood's. Also, we deem Hood's Pills and Olive Ointment invaluable. Mrs. Stone cannot do without them." Rev. J. P. Stone.

Better than Gold

Mr. Geo. T. Clapp, of Easton, Mass., says: "I am 82 years of age and for 30 years have suffered with running sores on one of my legs. A few years ago I had two toes amputated, physicians saying I was suffering from gangrene and had but

A Short Time to Live eight months ago at the recommendation of a neighbor who had used it with benefit, I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. The whole lower part of my leg and foot was a running sore, but it has almost completely healed and I can truthfully say that I am in better health than I have been for many years. I have taken no other medicine and consider that I owe all my improvement to

HOUSEHOLD AFFAIRS.

KEEPING BEEF AND PORK.

It is much harder to keep beef through the year without spoiling than it is pork, probably because the beef has usually more lean meat in proportion to its fat. It is the lean of meat that taints soonest, though once begun it quickly spreads through the whole. Hence it is often remarked that it is almost impossible to keep pork in barrels that have held beef. Nine times out of ten these beef barrels are more or less tainted, and as the wood is porous, it is almost impossible to entirely purge them of it.

TABLE RUNNERS.

"Table runners" is the new name for the embroidered centers introduced down the middle of the table. Linen strips, with the laburnum flower and pods in green and white wash silk, are artistic and pleasing. Zulu cloth forms a good ground-work for the more elaborate runners, on which is wrought most beautiful embroidery in lace stitches and darned work with jewels introduced in the pattern. Congress canvas is also used, wrought in bold and decided patterns of corn flowers in blue. Holland is occasionally used, worked with wash silks or flax, and Holbein and Russian embroideries are very much employed.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

STOPPING A LEAK IN A SAUCEPAN.

"I do not know if one way of stopping a leak in a saucepan is generally known," says a young housekeeper, "but it struck me as original, and it is certainly very simple and efficacious. I went into the kitchen the other day and saw that my cook, who is French, had something simmering on the fire. As she was pouring it out I saw a white rag at the bottom of the saucepan. 'What is that, Pauline,' I said. 'Oh, did madame never see that way of mending a hole?' she explained. 'But see, it is very simple,' and she pulled out the little piece of linen and showed me quite a large hole in the agate pan. 'I put the corner of a bit of linen through so,' she went on 'and then I put it until the fullness is jammed very tight; then with a knife I cut it off on each side, and it holds perfectly.' 'But I should think it would burn,' I said. 'It never does,' said Pauline, 'but I don't know why—perhaps because it remains wet—voilà!'"—New York Tribune.

POLISHING FURNITURE.

Varnish is not a desirable finish for any kind of furniture on account of the ease with which it is scratched. A polish equal to the best varnish is made in this way. If necessary to fill the grain of the wood use boiled linseed oil warm and add to it enough corn starch to make a thin paste. This is well rubbed into the wood with a flannel rubber, giving time for each coat to be absorbed. Then melt in a suitable vessel, in a tin cup or can will do, two ounces of white or clean yellow wax. Add to it while liquid four ounces of pure spirits of turpentine, and stir until cool. This is applied to the wood and is thoroughly well rubbed with a soft flannel rubber until a brilliant surface is made. When the polish becomes dull, repeat, and in time a very fine surface and durable varnish that will not be scratched easily is produced. Antique oak thus treated takes a very high polish, and gradually becomes darker. The dark color of very old oak is made by applying sulphuric acid to the wood, by which the surface is oxidized and acquires the appearance of wood that is two or three centuries old. The darkened surface is then smoothed with fine sand paper and polished in the way above mentioned. The present fad for old furniture is only a revival of one that was popular about fifty years ago. Most of it is made as here described.—New York Times.

RECIPES.

Puffs for Tea—Three eggs, one cup of sugar, two-thirds of a cup of butter, one pint of sweet milk, three pints of flour, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Bake in muffin-rings and serve warm.

Crust for Tarts—Rub one teacupful of lard into three teacupfuls of flour and a pinch of salt. Beat the white of one egg slightly, add five teaspoonfuls of water to it, and mix it into the flour. Do not mix more than necessary, and it will be a flaky crust.

Orange Pie—Add one tablespoonful of butter to one teacupful of sugar and stir to a smooth cream. Grate the peel of one orange, extract the juice of two. Beat four eggs thoroughly, add the juice and rind, the creamed butter and sugar and one pint of cream whipped to a stiff froth. Bake with one crust in a slow oven.

Plain Omelets—Beat four eggs very light. Have ready a pan of hot butter, pour the beaten eggs into it, and fry it till it is a fine brown on the under side, then lap one half over the other, and serve it hot. Just before you lap it, sprinkle a little salt and pepper over the top. Chopped parsley or onion may be mixed mixed with the egg before it is fried.

Fried Corn Muffins—One cup of fine white meal, one-half teaspoon salt, two tablespoonfuls sugar, one pint boiling milk, two eggs, one-eighth yeast cake, flour to stiffen. Mix the meal, salt and sugar. Add gradually the boiling milk; when cool add the yeast, dissolved in a little water, the eggs well beaten, and flour to make a stiff drop batter. Rise over night. Drop from a tablespoon into deep, hot fat.

Apple Cherry—Peel and with a scoop remove the cores of as many apples as needed for your company. Put them in a baking dish with a little lemon peel and a syrup poured over them of sugar and water. Cover with a baking sheet or plate and cook slowly so as not to break them. Place on a dish filling the centre of each with boiled rice and place a candied cherry or preserved one on the top. Put boiled rice about them and pour over all the syrup in which the apples cooked.

A Ventriologist's Throat.

Professor R. H. Mohr, the ventriologist, went through a strange experience the other day. In one of the laboratories of the Harvard Medical School he submitted to an examination of his throat and chest by a number of physiological experts, to determine what special formations gave him his peculiar powers. The experts are uncommunicative concerning the results of the examination, and the professor, who is not a physiologist at all, did not learn much about himself.

"They put mirrors down my throat," he said. "They led me by narrow passages into a dark chamber, and what they did there I don't know. After it was all over they told me that my larynx was flatter than that of other men and shaped something like a woman's, and also that one of the stops in my throat was drawn downward instead of upward by the connecting muscles.

"I can't make much out of that explanation, but I can make a living out of my peculiar throat just the same."

Then the professor threw his voice under the table and laughed hoarsely.—Boston Herald.

It is estimated that at least $50,000,000 of the United States Government's paper money has been lost or destroyed.

Questions Often Asked.

Q. Wherein does it differ from these kalsomines on the market?

A. It is made from a cement that goes through a process of setting on the wall and grows harder with age.

Q. What are kalsomines made from?

A. From whitening, the alkalis of other inert powders for a base, and are entirely dependent upon glue to hold them on the wall.

A. Alabastine has been most carefully tested, and is recommended by leading sanitarians throughout the country, on account of its sanitary nature.

Q. What has the same investigation shown regarding wall paper?

Q. How can I learn to do this work and decorate my house?

WOUND UP

—the man or woman who's "wound up." Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery sets the wheels going. It starts the torpid liver into healthful action, purifies and enriches the blood, cleanses, repairs, and strengthens the system, and restores health and vigor. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it sets at work all the processes of digestion and nutrition, and builds up flesh and strength.

For all scrofulous humors and blood-taints, and even Consumption (or Lung-scrofula), if taken in time, it's a positive remedy.

Unlike the sarsaparillas, which claim to be good for the blood in March, April, and May, "Golden Medical Discovery" works equally well at all seasons.

Unlike other blood-purifiers, too, it's guaranteed to benefit or cure, in every case, or your money is returned.

On these terms, it's the cheapest. You pay only for the good you get. But it's the best—or it couldn't be sold so.
