Democratic Standing Committee Meeting;

The Sullivan County Democratic Standing Committee met at the Court House at LaPorte, on Satur day, pursuant to call of Chrirman of said committee-R. M. Stormont, who presided over the gathering. Twelve of the thirteen precincts of the county was represented. Shrewsbury being the absent one. The object of the meeting, so we are informed was to insert a new plank in their platform of electing delegates. A resolution was offered that the people vote for their choice of the candidates at the primaries, thus instructing the delegates at the general convention, which would, a claimed, do away with the blood and thunder at the primary election. This however, was not favorably though of by a majority and an amend ment was offered-"that the system of electing delegates remain as they now are," which was carried by vote of 9 to 4. The vote by pre cincts was as follows:

Against Amd't. For Amd't.

"From the present indications," ays the Bradford Era, "prospect is that hemlock will be much lower than last year. Some dealers are of the opinion that it will be at least a dollar lower. Last years bark was sold at $6 a cord, the highest figure ever reached in this section. The cause of the decline is attributed to falling off in consumption in the eastern market. Peabody Mass., is the largest eastern bark centre, and the consumption last year is said to have declined one-fourth which accounts for the stagnation this year.'

Philadelphia stands at the head of the list as a city of homes and no city in the world with anything near the same population can begin to make equal showing in the large number of dwelling houses and small number of inmates in cach one. New York, with half a million more population, has not half Phiadelphia's homes. In the latter city only fifteen percent of the dwellings are occupied by more than one family; in N. The following extracts from an address given by Prof. L. W. Parish of the Iowa State Normal School.

"Every Christian girl may and should require total abstinence as one of essentials to the winning of her love.

If this were the rule, what a reform should we witness in American so ciety, and what a heavenly brightness there would be in the sky of many a family where now the dull clouds of anxiety over hang, and even the No. Acres swift tornado fills with mortal ter-

Oh, the pity that every generation of young women has to learn for itself and often through bitter expers ience, the fact that a man who will not give up a bad habit before marriage for the sake of her he loves seldom does so afterwards to please his wife or even to save his children. Oh, that our American girls had alw ys the courage to show their uuconquerable aversion to this and other evil habits of young men, by declining an intimate friendship with those who refuse to be worthy of it! I believe that a W. C. T. U. of our girls with this as a fudamental principle would work more of a reform among our young men than is well realized

And you young men strong and brave, who glory in your strength and feel confident that you have the power to control the dangerous habit who detest the weakness of those who yeild their wills to the seductions of drink, oh, young men are you strong er and more gifted than those great for weak eyes, watery eyes myopia, and noble souls, the Goughs, the near s g ited and strabismus.

Wirts, the Woolleys, who in the pride Wirts, the Woolleys, who in the pride of thier youth went down before this insidious destroyer until their pride was in the dust and their manhood reduced to the level of the brute. It is true, in weary middle life they struggle back again to decency and fiinal usefulness, all black and blasted with scenes too dreadful to remember. Are you stronger than they to resist, if some unforseer W. Osler is putting a slate roof temptation or discouragement adds its unexpected influence to the social glass? Or if you fall, dare you hope like them, to rise again? Have you not known many a man of stronger will and brighter intellect than yours, who has failed? Oh. the anguish, the despair of that word for those who have wrecked their lives. Young man the danger you 285 are courting is like the deadly quick sand innocent to look at, but subtle, cruel and implacable. If you would know the meaning of this struggle, read the life of any man who, by the grace of God, has come out of it in his right mind.

Boys were never seen in drinking places as long as whiskey was the standard. But after lager beer was introduced, the boys would go to the 437 saloons where games were prepared for them such as bagatelle and pool and in a little while you found druken and in a little while you found druken boys.—Chief of Police of Baltimore. 156
