HARRISON AND REID

The Republican Standard Bearers.

The President Nominating on the First Ballot.

Editor Whitelaw Reid, of the New York Tribune, Gets Second Place.

MINNEAPOLIS Minn., June 10.—It is Harrison and Reid. The nomination of Harrison was made on the first ballot. John C. New, General Michener and the others did exactly what they promised to do, landed him a winner at the outset. They held their forces well in hand, and relied entirely upon the ballot.

The scenes attending the balloting which continued for some two hours, were among the most exciting ever witnessed in a National Convention of either party. It was a hand-to-hand fight between the solid Harrison columns, which remained unbroken throughout a most trying week, and the anti-Harrison politicians. The hall of the Convention was packed with a sweltering mass of people, every foot of space occupied and every individual wrought to the highest tension. It was a scene one looks upon but once in a lifetime, and the conclusion was a relief to all.

Senator Wolcott the millionaire of Colorado nominated James G. Blaine and the name of the Major Blaine was greeted with cheers that continued for six seconds.

Richard W. Thomson ex-Secretary of the Navy placed Harrison's name before the convention. At the conclusion of his speech the demonstration was remarkable and the cheering was prolonged for two minutes.

Ex-Senator Warner Miller of New York, seconded Blaine's nomination in a neat and well received address.

He said, "that he and his friends had no words of detraction for the President Harrison and that the nominee of the convention would receive the support of all republicans.

Clanney M. Depew of New York, seconded the nomination of Harrison, and his speech was elegant and one of the marked features of the convention.

McKinley was not nominated in the convention, but his name was used as a dark horse.

After the nomination of President a motion to take a recess till 8 p.

m. Thursday was agreed to and the heated and excited assemblage dispersed.

NIGHT SESSION.

The evening session of the Convention was a little more than a ratification meeting. The nominee for the Vice-Presidency was selected in meeting of the New York delegation held an hour before the Convention was called to order. By tacit consent the nomination of Vice-President candidate was left to the New York delegation.

The delegation at its meeting was not long in arriving at the conclusion to present the name of ex-minister Whitelaw Reid. The only other name presented was that of

Vice-President Morton and in the end the agreement upon Mr. Reid was unanimous.

David Martin of Philadelphia was chosen National Committeeman of Pennsylvania. Mr. Martin was Quay's choice.

ELKLAND ITEMS

W. F. Grange is busy building a new barn.

Mellville Mullan is preparing to build a barn in the near future.

Jonathan Rogers is putting a slate roof on his residence.

J. L. Snyder is building an addition to his barn.

Mrs. U. Bird has returned from a two months' visit with friends in Brooklyn, N. Y.

The township commissioners have decided to build an election house in which to hold the elections and the meeting of the commissioners, school board and auditors.

The loss to farmers in our township from having sheep killed by dogs was during the last year, one hundred and thirty-one dollars. The treasurer, was only able to pay seventy-five per cent. Lets have some some of our worthless dogs drowned.

THORNEDALE ITEMS.

Supt. Chas. Wrede was looking after the interest of the tannery company at this place Saturday.

John Fries of the LaPorte tannery, is superintending the work in the dry loft at this place.

Mrs. Kohensparger of LaPorte was, calling on her daughter, Mrs. Heim of this place, Sunday.

Bark is being shipped to Thorne-dale at the rate of 8 and 10 car loads per week. This gives employment to several men.

On Thursday of last week six drunken men of Newel or thereabouts came to Thornedale and requested lodging for the night. On being refused they began abusing

CONDUCTED BY MEMBERS OF THE W. C. T. A.

SOCIETY OF LAPORTE, PA.

Taking some portion of the remarks of Luenda B. Chandler, vice president of Illinois W. C. T. A. in White Ribbons. We find that she speaks to the point in saying: "What we all want is that every one shall stop drinking, stop using alcohol as a beverage. We have to-day what was not to be had fifty years ago when the total movement enlisted children as well as adults, in the 'cold water army.' We have scienti-fied knowledge wherewith to inform youth, and better still, the demonstrated experience that all kind and manner of disease, or injury to the body, can be overcome without the use of alcohol. What we need to make sure for all time that the demand for the saloon, will be extinguished—annihilated that the trained thought and trained habit of controlling appetite to rational ends, that will give the coming man and woman the prohibitory power in themselves, that no influence can turn aside or tempt.

This work ought to be, and might be, much more extended in connection with schools and Sunday schools than it now is. The most effective and encouraging work that could be done for total abstinence is among the boys and youth whose habits of thought, and mind, and appetite are yet unformed, and with whom no impulse of greed or stern necessity of subsistence, tempt to enter upon the sale of intoxicants."
