The fair is in session this week.

This is fine weather for building railroads.

Candidates will be plenty at the fair this week.

See that the decayed matter is removed from the cellar.

The REPUBLICAN is the only live paper published in the county.

The cheapest place in town to buy all kinds of goods—is at T. J. Keeler's.

E. P. Cheney of North Orwell, Bradford county, is visiting friends at LaPorte.

The Bradford county fair held at Towanda last week, was a success in every respect.

Just think of it, a suit of clothes for $4.00. You will find them at T. J. Keeler's store.

The LaPorte band has reorganized and will meet for practice, Tuesday evenings of each week.

FOR SALE.—A fresh milk cow at a reasonable price. For information apply to Mrs M. C. Lauer.

Mrs. Wm. Mullen of Montgomery, was calling on friends at LaPorte, Thursday and Friday of last week.

County politics will be warm from now until the 8th of Nov. The fair will be the introduction of this hot wave.

J. V. Rettenbury the old reliable jeweler of Dushore, has a new adv. in the REPUBLICAN this week. Observe it.

Chief engineer John Marston, Jr., of the W. & N. B., purchased a fine horse of J. C. Botsford of Nordmont last week.

The circulation of the REPUBLICAN is steadily increasing and soon we will have our expected 1500 circulation.

If you want to see a store chucked up full of the latest styles of notions, dry goods, hats and caps, &c., call at T. J. Keeler's.

A Judge defined "Esquire" as a term which "includes anybody who has nothing to do, and is outside the workhouse."

Corbett says he will fight Jackson. That's right. If he can beat people black and blue he ought to get away with one color alone.

The steam drill on the railroad was put to work last week and is quite a novelty to our people. Lots of visitors go down to see it work.

The old soldier boys say that Thomas S. Simmons is the proper candidate to elect Sheriff this fall and they mean to do all in their power for his success.

Mrs. Dr. Hill accompanied by her two children, of LaPorte, are visiting friends at Hughesville. During Mrs. Hill's absence the Doc. registers at the LaPorte Hotel.

T. J. Keeler has just returned from Philadelphia with the best and cheapest line of general merchandise ever brought to LaPorte. Call and get prices before going elsewhere.

Henry Upman of LaPorte will build a residence on his lot on West Main street, this fall. Henry Karge has the contract of erecting the building. A good job can be expected.

The Dushore people say, they get more home news in the REPUBLICAN than they do in the Dushore papers. The fact of the matter is, the Dushore editors are away behind the times.

James McEern a little son of Mr. and Mrs. John McEern of LaPorte, fell off a sofa and broke its arm. Sunday, Dr. Hill attended the child and it is doing as well as could be expected.

They say that editor Alvord of the Athens News is the only kicker on the Republican nominees in Bradford county. What a stir Alvord will make. The odor that will arise will be staunch fusionist.

The Peter D. Miller residence on South Muncy street and occupied by Atty. H. T. Downs, has recently been painted and presents a very creditable appearance. J. W. Au-miller of the Merc did the work.

T. J. Keeler has put the price of his ready made suits of clothes down to rock bottom prices. We propose to undersell all dealers in ready made clothing in this vicinity and if you don't believe it, give us a call and get our prices.

James Miller general superintendent of the Muncy Valley tannery, was in town doing business, Monday.

Mrs. J. H. Spencer and little daughter, Miss Mable, returned from a three week's visit at Kanoza Lake, N. Y. on Wednesday of last week.

Mr. E. M. and Miss Anna Sebring of Stroudsburg, are visiting their brother N. C. Sebring of LaPorte. Ed. has secured a position and will remain here.

We heard a Democrat estimate Tom Simmons' majority last week at 150 and said he would put up a wager that he would have 100. This is encouraging.

Ella Tripp the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Tripp of LaPorte, is ill with scarlatina. Her case was considered quite dangerous Sunday, but at present she is recovering.

Thos. Simmons the people's candidate for Sheriff was in town Monday. Tom was enroute for Forksville where he manipulates the entrance gate to the fair ground, in which position he has served for the Sullivan county Agricultural Society for several years. Tom says his friends are numerous all over the county.

At a meeting of the Lake Mokoma Stockholders held in Williamsport, on Tuesday evening, the following officers were elected, viz:

For president, T. J. Fredericks vice president, E. M. Dunham; clerk, T. J. Ingham; treasurer, John Lawsh. Directors: F. E. Gleim, J. Henry Cochran, J. T. Fredericks, C. K. Geddes, T. J. Ingham, E. M. Dunham, James McFarlane.

A photo of the steam drill, engine and the men at work on the railroad would be a pleasant remembrance of LaPorte of 1892, and it is our opinion that a photographer could make a good day's earnings at this work; as we believe a picture of this kind would sell readily at a reasonable price, to each family of our town.

Judging from the silly items in the Review recently, one would think Newell foolish or flattened by a sunstroke. He urges the people of Dushore to "quarantine that village." He puts down the "rules" by which our court should be governed and lots of other little petty squibs that most any body else would be ashamed to have go before the public. It is our opinion that the new doctor recently located at Dushore could do Newell lots of good. We give this information free of charge and through kindness for our brother editor and trust that he will appreciate a thought from this direction and be healed.

A Moon Sign Farmer. There is a farmer in Lehigh county whose work is entirely mapped out with reference to the moon. Fence posts are planted when the moon "points up" so they are kept from sinking out of sight. The roofs of his buildings were put on when the moon "pointed down" so as to prevent the nails from pulling out of the shingles. Wheat is sown in the "dark of the moon" to hide the seed from the birds and worms. He invariably butchers his hogs when the moon is full, otherwise he claims that the meat would shrivel up in the pan. The quantity of rainfall, according to this moon-awed farmer, can be accurately judged for a month when the new moon appears. If the horns points down that means wet and when the crescent lies on its back, dry weather will prevail.

Mr. Lull and Mr. Mahaffey, who were forced upon the Democratic party as their nominees for Member and Sheriff by a couple of so called bosses, were both imported into our county and we have collected but 85 cents county tax from them, each year, since they landed upon Sullivan county soil, some few years ago. Hence, this is all the duty we have derived from them to keep up the expenses of our county. Mr. Lull and Mr. Mahaffey are now seeking a reward for this generous assessment, by asking the people of our county to elect them—Member and Sheriff, two of our best and most lucrative offices. Will our people tolerate this? Don't you think it would be good experience to imported stock to let them know that they must stand aside and give our old residents the first opportunity of drawing this salary? Mr. Huckell and Mr. Simmons, are both old residents of Sullivan county. They were reared with us and have paid Sullivan county tax for the past thirty or more years. The total county tax paid by Huckell and Simmons is $10.67. Voter, a thought of this matter is all we ask and we are positive that you will declare by your ballot on the 8th of Nov. in favor of the People's candidates.

LAWs MADE BY MONOPOLY MEMBERS.

Horses and cattle very often get on the track of railroads, and are oftentimes killed. In such an event no damages can be had of the railroad company, but under a law enacted by a majority of Members of the Legislature, who are sent to Harrisburg by railroad corporations, the farmer or owner of the horse or cow is made liable for any damage that might result to the railroad company on account of the animal being on the track. This same railroad Legislation has enacted another law relieving the great railroad corporation from fencing in their tracks. Should the farmer and the laboring man of Sullivan county desire to continue and strengthen this law, vote for the Railroad candidate for Member—M. J. Lull. Should you conclude to better the condition of affairs, vote for D. T. Huckell. Mr. H. is a man in whom you can depend will do what he thinks best for the people and all the money in the city of Harrisburg could not change his vote. The monopoly men would not dare to approach Mr. Huckell for the purpose of buying his vote. While on the other hand should Mr. Lull be successful they would not be under any obligations of calling upon him as he goes there an employee of the Reading railroad and will serve in their interest. Mr. L. would be unjust to his employees to do other than this and when our people are lead to believe different, they are entertaining that which is wide of the mark. It is this railroad clique of Members who have brought about this obnoxious laws against the farmer and laborers and it does not seem possible that the intelligent citizens of our county will continue this sort of laws by sending a man to Harrisburg known to be in league with this gigantic combine.

WONDERS IN A WINDOW.

Minnesota Catholics Excited Over a Strange Apparition.

WINONA, Minn., Sept. 30.—The peculiar manifestations in a window of the village church, of Canton, Minn., which have been creating considerable excitement among the Catholics in that section, are to be scientifically examined by Bishop Cotter. Several weeks ago the inhabitants of Canton were startled by the announcement that a portrait had by Divine means been imprinted on a window of the Catholic Church there. At first the apparition appeared to consist of a woman with an infant in arms, and at times a dim halo was discernible about her head. The story then took the form that this was a portrait of the Virgin Mary and Christ child, and the crowds of visitors increased ten fold. Paralytic cripples and other afflicted persons came in droves, and after a glimpse of the pictures, threw away their crutches, exclaiming that they were cured.

The window, which is in the north gable of the church, was removed, and the Bishop brought it to Winona, where he will give it a thorough examination in company with other prominent Catholic clergymen. Nineteen pairs of crutches are nailed to the church walls, the result of alleged cures performed by the Virgin Mary, whom the pilgrims firmly believe is present and helps the sick who come to the church.

SCRANTON, Sept. 21.—Local Democratic leaders do not attempt to conceal their chagrin over the fizzle which grew out of their attempt to hold a big meeting of the Democratic clubs in this city Tuesday Sept. 20. It was expected that fully 1,500 visiting delegates would attend, and upon the strength of representations to this effect, all the local saloon and hotel men were induced to contribute liberally towards the expenses of the affair. The hotel and restaurant keepers laid in a large stock of eatables and everything was in readiness for a great boom for the party locally, upon the wave of which Hon. Lemuel Amerman expected to be carried through another successful campaign for Congress.

The disappointment of Mr. Amerman is keener than that of the Central Democratic Club, for he will have to bear the blunt of local dissatisfaction. Instead of the 1,500 visitors expected, only 320, all told were registered at the hotels, and even the presence of Hensel at the meeting last night failed to fill the Academy. There was comparatively no patrons for the hotel and liquor men. Provisions are wasting at all the restaurants, and the howl that has gone up is a sufficient indication of deeply lacerated feelings. Instead of help, the convention here has proved a boomerang.

The last feature of the convention occurred on the 21st. It was a picnic given in honor of the visitors at Koch's Park, which was about as lively attended as the convention. It would appear that the Democratic party no longer survive in the old Keystone State.

WHO SHALL VOTE?

Taken from Pennsylvania State Reports. Vol. LXXI. P. 307. Comprising Cases Adjudged in the Supreme Court of Penna.

"It is evident that the term 'inhabitant' or 'resident' in these clauses cannot mean one sojourning temporarily, or for some special purpose, but refers to one who has a permanent abode; the domicile of the senator, representative, governor or judge. 'Inhabitant' (says Webster), 'a dweller; one who dwells or resides permanently in a place.' The judges of this court sitting in Pittsburgh for weeks, at the time of general election, though in the prosecution of their business, yet away from home, have never dreamed they had a right to vote there. No one doubts that one domiciled in another state, but resident here for a special purpose of business or pleasure, is ineligible to election as a senator, representative, governor or judge. It is equally clear, that the electors of the state are those who have their homes within it, and not elsewhere. Their domicile is there, and their home is the place where they permanently reside, and to which they intend to return when away from it. It is also clear, that one domiciled in another state cannot be an elector here, though he be a resident here for some temporary purpose, or on some special business, and though his stay may be prolonged upward of a year. Therefore, when the Constitution declares that the elector must be a resident of the state for one year, it refers beyond question, to the state as his home or domicile, and not as the place of a temporary sojourn. This being the character of the state residence, it defines, as we have seen the district residence; for both are members of the same sentence and are qualified by the same words, 'having resided' without repetition. The elector must, therefore, vote at home, not only in the state but in the district where his home is.

In these days of swift traveling, one voting in the morning one hundred miles away from home, where he is temporarily sojourning, might vote again at home before night. He has not lost his domicile, where his family and chief business are, by his temporary sojourn on some special employment.

Undoubtedly (says Judge King), residence is a question of intention. In cases involving it, the inquiry is quo animo the party either moved to or from the state. And upon the solution of this question, depends the fact, whether the petitioner has gained or lost a residence. But before this question can arise an actual removal must have taken place. A mere intention to remove not consummated, can neither forfeit the party's old domicile nor enable him to acquire a new one. Removal out of the state, without an intention permanently to reside elsewhere will not lose residence, nor will a mere intention to remove permanently, not followed by actual removal, acquire it: Case of James Casey, an insolvent debtor, 1 Ashmead 126.

These extracts will enable us to understand clearly the term residence, as denoting that home or domicile which the third article of the Constitution applies to the freemen of the Commonwealth. It means that place where the elector makes his permanent or true home, his principal place of business, and his family residence, if he have one; where he intends to remain indefinitely, and without a present intention to depart; when he leaves it he intends to return to it, and after his return he deems himself at home.

tion of abandoning his former domicile, and taking another as his sole domicile.

These principles enable us now to dispose of the first of the two classes into which the stated case divides these students, viz: "Those who support themselves, or are assisted peculiarly by persons other than their parents, are emancipated from their father's families; have left the home of their parents and never intend to return and make it a permanent abode." Having, as the case states, come to Allentown for no other purpose than to receive a collegiate education, and intending to leave after graduating, they have not lost their home domicile, and could vote there on returning to it though they should not re-enter their father's house.

Emancipation from their father's family and independent support, and the leaving of the home belonging to their parents, have not forfeited their own domicile. Their father's house is not necessarily their home, but the place is where it is. Though not in the bosom of that family, the place of their residence is not lost to them until they have voluntarily changed it and found a new home. Upon the terms of the stated case, it cannot be said they have abandoned their original home, and actually obtained another. The second class needs no comments. They are those students "who are supported by their parents, visit their parents' home during vacation, and may or may not return there after graduating." It is clear as to both classes the college is not their home. They are not members of the community among whom they sojourn. They have no common interest; do not intend to live with or cast their lot among them. They have no proper motive to interfere in their local affairs. On no proper principle of a true residence should the student vote to-day and fasten on the community officers whom the majority do not desire, then graduate tomorrow and be gone.

The great underlying principle of a republic is, that men should be permitted to govern themselves, but not to constrain others. Yet this would be the result of such a shifting vote, which like the Parthian arrow, pierces as he who casts it flees. There are vague notions of liberty and personal rights, which often impress the mind, and lead it to incline against what may seem to be a restraint. A man is a man everywhere, and the right is apt to rise, a freeman should vote anywhere. But the only wise and rational liberty, founded on the golden rule of doing as one would be done by, and upon the maxim sic utere tuo ut alienum non laedas is that which is regulated by laws made for the common good.

The rights of all, the peace of society, and the good government of the state, require that the elector should vote at home, in his proper district where he is known, and among those with whom he has cast his lot, until yielding to circumstances, or to a desire of change, he has chosen voluntarily to abandon his former residence, and actually to gain a new one.

JUDGMENT AFFIRMED

The Italian who plays the harp and who has been in our midst for a week or two, entertained a small gathering in the LaPorte Hotel Saturday evening. Among the audience we noticed Michael Gattagher of Ringville who appreciated the music very much.

The Hughesville fair takes place this week Saturday will be the big day.
