J. V. RETTENBURY. WATCHMAKER AND JEWELER, DUSHORE, PA.

Referring to the alleged interview with Senator Quay, in which the lat ter is credited with the statement that Mr. Harrison would be the Republican nominee for President in 1896, and that the people would elect him, Attorney General Miller says: "There is nothing in that story, so far as President Harrison's wishes or the influence of his friends goes. The President's severest grief came to him in the White House, and it will be much against his inclination ever to leave Indianapolis after he gets back there next year. As to the Democratic ad ministration, it will have all the burdens and responsibilities of un disputed legislative and executive control. We are anxious that it will give the country sound and wise government and greater prosperity. But the Democracy has been standing for thirty years, like Absalom at the King's gate, with both hands reared to the skies and in sackcloth and ashes crying, 'O, that I suffer.' The Democratic party is king now, and it must answer to the country for its deeds and control."
