A favorite expression of some of our heavy weight doctors—Pretty hot, isn't it? Five minutes later—Pretty hot, isn't it? Guess this is a breeder of a sun stroke. The Doc. had an eye to business.

For the present and until the construction train completes the tie laying to Ring's the train service at Laporte, consists of a train leaving here at 7:50 a. m., and returning arriving at 7:10 p. m. This gives us the morning and evening trains on the R. R., to and from Philadelphia.

The horse was hitched to a railroad cart and the cart was filled with rubbish of most all description, which was scattered over our streets profusely. No serious damage resulted from the little excitement, however.

BY ORDER OF COMMITTEE.

Unless you write or have printed on your envelopes the number of days you wish your letter held, the postmaster will hold it thirty days instead of ten. This is important to business men who do not want their letters detained over five or ten days. To avoid trouble the number of days the letter is to be held should be conspicuously printed.

Will L. Laird, proprietor of the Raymond Hotel, of the 'Mere, made the REPUBLICAN office a call on Friday and requested his name placed on our subscription book. Mr. Laird was accompanied by several of his guests who spoke very nicely of our town. Mr. Laird will visit the World's Fair the early part of September and will go via the W. & N. B. and Erie railroads. We wish Mr. L. a pleasant outing.

Pres. H. C. McCormick, with Messrs. Taylor and Satterfield, owners of the new road, General Manager Welch, E. R. Payne, Chief Engineer Marston, A. M. Nesbitt and others, came over the road on Tuesday, arriving at Laporte at 11:30 a. m. Here they were joined by Judge Ingham and E. P. Ingham and the party ran over the road to Satterfield and to Bernice. The purpose of the trip was to inspect the road. The special returning passed through Laporte at 5 p. m.

Chas. S. Seelye, proprietor of the Forksville Hotel, has made many noticeable changes on the old stand and one would hardly recognize the building as the Forksville House of a year ago. He has built a three story addition to the structure which increases the size of his dining room nearly one-half, adds ten bedrooms to the former list and also gives him a private parlor. The new bedrooms as well as the old ones are very nicely furnished. The interior of the old part of the building is being papered and painted and when completed will compare quite favorably with the new addition. A veranda has been erected along the east side of the building and is very pretty quarters to spend an hour or two in quietness and sightseeing.

On Saturday night, August 26, at 7:30 p. m., the first passenger train on the W. & N. B. R. R., came to Laporte. A large delegation of men, women and children, were gathered along the bank of Lake Mokoma, waiting for the long wished for sight, and when the train came gliding in it was greeted by loud huzzas of welcome. Bob Simmons was the engineer and held the throttle, and conductor Knipe had the train in charge. The train was run in on the switch and a few minutes later another train ran into the station. This was the President's special, and had on board President H. C. McCormick, Mrs. McCormick, Miss Nellie McCormick, Master John McCormick, Benj. G. Welch, Miss Miss Minnie Welch and Judge Ingham.

Mr. McCormick and his party remained at Laporte until Sunday evening at 5 p. m., when they returned to Williamsport. During the day the Lake was visited and the party expressed themselves as well pleased with Laporte and the surroundings.

HE GOT THERE.

The Plucky Dutchman Succeeds in Reaching the World's Fair.

Chas. J. Guetling arrived at the Pennsylvania Building at the World's Fair grounds at 7 o'clock Wednesday night with a wheelbarrow, which he has trundled from Pottsville, Pa., a distance of 800 miles. Guetling left Pottsville at noon on July 8, and has pushed his barrow over mountains and, as he declares, some of the worst roads he ever saw in his life. On the barrow was a keg of beer made by a Pottsville firm. It is intact, that being one of the conditions under which the race is made.

The time set to accomplish the task was thirty-one days. Guetling made it in twenty-eight. The best time he made in any single day was forty-two miles, which he did coming through Ohio. He expended $40 for food and lodging. He was taken in charge by Secretary Gerhart and given a bath and a bed. Guetling says the worst roads he encountered were coming into Chicago. He says he would not make the trip again. His barrow and contents weighed 150 pounds.—Mt. Carmel News.

The second annual convention of the Epworth League of Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church will be held in Williamsport, Pa., Oct. 17, 18 and 19, 1893. This convention will be the largest gathering of Methodist young people that ever assembled in Pennsylvania.

A Chance to See the Old Bell.

The people of Towanda and all those along the line of the Lehigh Valley may have an opportunity to see the old Liberty Bell without going to the World's Fair. This famous old relic of Independence is now on exhibition at the Pennsylvania building in the White City, but when the Fair closes must be taken back to Independence Hall, Philadelphia. The Pennsylvania board of managers are looking over the routes, and Mr. R. A. Mercier of this place, Treasurer of the board, informs that there is a probability that the bell will be brought back over one of the Lake Shore roads, and down over the Lehigh to Philadelphia. If this route should be decided upon the bell will be on exhibition for a short time at least in the rear of the Court at Towanda. By all means let it come this way. There are a great many people who would be very glad to see this famous old bell that cannot afford to go to the Fair, and we believe if all the papers along the line of the Lehigh will take up the movement it will come this way. Brothers of the press give it a lift.—Towanda Republican.

Yes, and why not continue the monster right down over the W. & N. B. R. R., to Laporte and give it a breath of fresh and pure air and a ride over the newest railroad in the country and the oldest on paper. With the old Liberty Bell and the W. & N. B. in close quarters, excitement would be great. Let her come this way.

Trouble in the Democratic Camp.

What does the news from Washington portend? Achilles Cochran sulking in his tent; Democratic leaders at war; threats of political assassination; charges of the basest treachery against those who have fed most heartily at Cleveland's official table; frantic appeals to Republicans to save the nation—What mean these?

It means that the people made a mistake last fall when they placed the Democratic party in power. And it further means that they have found it out. There is not one good measure for the relief of present ills that does not depend for more than one-half its votes on the Republican members. The Republicans will not fail in doing their duty, but it is a severe comment on the people and a satire on Democracy that the Republican party must do the heavy work at this time.

It is with the power of Congress to help this country out of its financial difficulties, and that right speedily. The Republicans stand ready to furnish more than half the necessary votes. What will the Democrats do? Apparently they will talk until doomsday.

What wretched comforters! We appeal to the Democrats to drop partisanship and get down to business. The Republicans have done so and are ready to vote at any moment. Cannot the Democratic voters afford to do the same?—Inquirer.

STEELTON, PA., Aug. 28, 1893.

There is no denying the fact that the result of the stringency in the money market is fast even here in this live busy borough where millions of dollars have been paid in wages to workmen employees of every description at the immense steel plant during the past twenty-five years.

The depression in business caused by the stringency in the money market was keenly felt at the steel works the past week, but the managers of the immense affair, are making efforts to keep their tired and faithful employees at work during the coming winter. The close times however, has compelled the management of the plant to make a general reduction of wages, on and after Sept. 16. Such is the result of democratic rule.

Hoke Smith the unsuspended rebel, is still puncturing the wounds of the old union soldier with his knife of suspension. Had he been suspended thirty years ago by strong hempen cord, it would have been a blessing to this country. But who is to blame for this? Why, the democratic party—they placed him in the position he occupies. So when these suspensions of pensions hit a democrat soldier he should not kick for he voted for it; that's where the laugh comes in, for the friends of Grover and Hoke.

The road is becoming handsomely paved by the democrats for a republican victory in 1896, and for many years thereafter. This change has wrought such a disaster to the country that it will be remembered by the people. D.

THE BAKER BALLOT LAW.

Samples of the Revised form Received by the Commissioners.

AN IMPROVEMENT OVER THE OLD.

The County Commissioners have received sample copies of the form of ballots henceforth to be used in this state in conformity with the act of Legislature of June 10, 1893. The ballot is printed in four columns, one of which is as follows:

Table with 4 columns: Republican, County Commissioners, G. W. BIGGERS, J. J. WEBSTER, CORONER, F. W. BROCKWAY, COUNTY AUDITORS, E. S. LITTLE, M. E. WILCOX.

And so on through the entire list of candidates who may be running at the time.

INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTERS. At the head of the ticket the following instructions are printed:

A cross (x) marked in the square at the right of the name of each candidate, inside the line inclosing the column, indicates a vote for each candidate thus marked.

If a cross (x) be marked within the circle, it will be equivalent to a mark opposite every name, in the column. Those who do not desire to vote a straight ticket must not mark a cross within the circle at the head of the column.

There are four columns, one beside the other, in the ticket. The first one is headed "Republican," the second "Democratic," the third "Prohibition," all similar to the one reproduced above, and the fourth column is for the accommodation of voters who desire to vote for men in regular nomination. It contains the names of the offices to be filled, in the same order as in the other columns, with blanks where, in the others, names of candidates are printed, and at the top is the information that "The voter may insert in the column below the name of any person whose name is not printed on the ballot for whom he desires to vote," and the further notice that "This column is for the use of voters desiring to vote for candidates other than those whose names appear printed on this ballot."

The circle at the top of the column is exactly as big around as a dime, and a mark in it votes the entire column. It will be seen that the old system of groups has been done away with. All the Republican candidate, no matter for what offices, are printed one under the other, and a mark in the circle carries the lot. If a voter wants to cut he does not need to pick out the group he must cut, but he must put a mark to the right of every name he wants to vote for, no matter where that name appears, and let the circle severally alone.

This ballot is manifestly an improvement on the style used last year, and bids fair to not mislead even the careless or illiterate voter.

"We want work. We can't stand starvation. Do something for us." This was the cry back in 1857. It was likewise the cry in New York on Wednesday of last week. Oh, we are back to the good old Democratic days, when soup houses were established in every town and city, and skilled mechanics were glad to get any kind of work at any wages. The scene in New York on Wednesday was an object lesson that could only spring from Democratic success. It was pitiful in the extreme that men should cry for work and bread in the largest city in the country at this close of the nineteenth century. More shame to the men and the party through whose falsity this misery fell upon Americans.

A short time ago an order came to the Millville Pa., post office dropping the name of a pensioner from the roll who had been dead nearly two years. In this instance the Great Reaper got in his work before Hoke Smith. It must irritate this modern reformer who defiantly ignores all former rulings of the pension department to learn that he may be beaten at his game of striking down pensioners.

The Hughesville fair will take place on the 26, 27, 28 and 29 of September.

C. C. Marr and Charles Rux have been suspended from the pension rolls. Thus the noble (?) work of this reform administration goes forward. It is a kind of Libby or Andersonville prison process re-established to starve the soldier to death and thus get rid of him.—Bloomsburg Republican.

Newspaper publishers are sometimes charged with being persistent dinners. Those who make the charge do not give due consideration to the fact that circumstances compels the publisher to look after the payment of thousands of small accounts, making a large aggregate, while a merchant or trader has comparatively few such to look after. If you don't ask a man for your just dues, how are you going to get it? Wait for him to dun himself. Well, we are bald now waiting on those kind of people.
