A Century of Progress.

One hundred years ago Monday, Sept. 18-1793, Gen. Washington laid the corner stone of the Capitol of the United States. The day marks a century of progress for the young American Republic. Washington the scene of this historic event was but a small country hamlet. The United States then was comprised of fifteen States, two having been prior to this date added to the thirteen original States, by admission into the Union, viz Vermont, March 4, 1791, and Virginia, June 1, 1792. The city of Washington has grown to be one of the most superb capital cities in the world with a population numbering more than a quarter of a million people. The capitol is a good massive structure worthy a nation of free people whose representatives are sheltered within its walls. From four millions the population of the United States has swollen to sixty-five millions of people, and the number of States from fifteen to forty-four. The new Republic had no army, no navy. Its treasury was bankrupt. It had neither commerce nor manufacturers. Its ships now float upon the high seas bearing the national flag and carrying the commerce of every nation on the face of the globe, its flag being everywhere respected as the emblem of American authority. This is a mere glance at the progress of a century for America, but it is sufficient to remind the youth of our land that they are now enjoying the blood bought blessings and benefits of the institutions set on the foot by the fathers of the Republic. It should inspire in them a deeper and more sublime love of country, and a patriotic and jealous guard over the rights and liberties of the American people, whenever threatened by foes within or foes without.

STEELETON, PA., Sept. 16, 1893.

The steel works this morning, presented a dismal appearance. The universal mill and three of the nine open hearth furnaces are all the departments running. It is almost a complete Democratic victory. There are 500 less names on the pay rolls now than a month ago—3858. A leading mercantile establishment here this morning, made large reductions in prices. In making the announcement they say "in consideration of the great number of persons unemployed at the present time and in order to benefit those of our customers who are out of work or earning only small wages, we will make a general reduction in the price on all goods, till such times as these is a general resumption." Prices may be reduced, but if we have no cash how are we to buy the goods? These Democratic victories we are having every day are a very poor endorsement for our debts; Democratic promises and tin roosters are valueless just now. There are now two electric railways running through this place. The SULLIVAN REPUBLICAN is a welcome visitor every Friday evening. May the REPUBLICAN live long and be the means of turning many Democrats into the Republican ranks. A. H. Hill, of Hughesville, was in town last week on business for the Burrows Furniture Company. Hon. Wm. Maclay, first U. S. Senator, from Pennsylvania, is buried in the old Paxton grave yard, about two miles from this place.

If Governor McKinley succeeds himself as the Governor of Ohio, and there appears to be little doubt in any quarter that he will, then the probabilities are that he will be a very formidable candidate for the Presidency before the next nominating convention of the Republican party.

The Columbia County Fair.

The 39th annual exhibition of this association will be held on their grounds in Bloomsburg from October 10 to 15 inclusive. Many improvements have been made this year to the buildings, which are now supplied with as capacious and comfortable stalls for horses and cattle as they are accustomed to occupy at home. A building has been fitted up in a convenient location for the storage of baggage, the association checking and taking charge of the same for a small fee. Prof. Tolbert's combination of running, hurdle and Roman chariot races will be the attraction. The purses aggregate $2,500 which are offered for eleven races, including 2:19 and free for all classes. The track has been kept in first-class condition during the season. Many of the other premiums have also been increased, and the classes rearranged to fully meet the demands of exhibitors. The cyclorama of the Battle of Gettysburg will be on exhibition. An additional outlet gate has been built on Fifth street for the accommodation of vehicles. The Secretary has already received many entries.

Strange But True.

Three years ago William Brown of Lost Creek, spent Sunday on the mountain between Mahanoy Plane and Shenandoah and in the evening walked down a path to the Reading track in time to have a leg cut off by Conductor Doherty's train. Yesterday Brown spent the day on the same mountain, walked down the path and when at the spot of his previous misfortune tripped and fell just as Doherty's train shot by, the wheels cutting his remaining leg off about the same place where the first leg was mangled.—Shamokin Herald.

All manner of men are presenting themselves before the Ways and Means Committee to argue the tariff question from their individual standpoint. The most singular feature, however, is the foreigners who come all the way from Austria and the Bermudas to ask our country to let their manufacturers and products into this country for their individual benefit. It shows a good deal of cheek for these people to ask our Government to benefit them at the expense of its own citizens.

ESTELLA ITEMS.

How soon will a P. O. S. of A. Camp be organized in Elkland? The Ponk-a-pog mill will soon be in operation, at the east of Eldredville.

John T. Caless of Gettysburg, an old veteran of the late war, is visiting friends in this county.

F. C. Bienlich has taken a large log job in Forks twp., near Chas. Younkis. He has got his shanty up and with W. E. Wheatley as foreman will make business travel lively.

Thomas King is making active preparations to build a house before winter, and has purchased a fine horse of F. A. Boyle. Frank is now driving his wild "Lady Logan."

The green corn roast at Maple Ridge Farm last week, was a grand affair, and the company were treated to a scene from the stage, representing the "Comfort of the Inquoritis tribe of Indians" a century or more ago.

Mrs. Mortimer Williams and daughter of Auburn, N. Y., have been visiting the past week at F. A. Boyle's. Mortimer and wife were formerly residents of this county and Mort was known as the "boy hunter" over thirty years ago and a little later on as a notable "nimrod." He purchased one of the first Winchester rifles that was brought into Sullivan county, for the sum of $52, and in one week hung up $10. worth of venison. He is also a true disciple of old Isaac Walton, having won the prize (a $15. fishing rod.) for catching the largest bass in Canoga Lake two years ago.

ELKLAND ITEMS.

The people of this place were greatly shocked to hear of the sudden death of Job L. King of Columbia X Roads on Monday last. The funeral took place on Wednesday from the residence of his son-in-law Albert Kay. Interment at the Parlow cemetery. Mr. King was for many years, one of the most prominent citizens of our township. In early life he taught school. He held many township offices and was, for several terms county surveyor. For the last few years he has been living at Columbia X Roads Bradford county. Mr. King has been in poor health for the last year but the immediate cause of his death was being injured by a runaway horse he was trying to catch.

John T. Caless of Gettysburg, is visiting his many friends here. It has been ten years since he left this township.

So far there have been no hitches in the free text book system in the public schools, and there is every indication of its permanent success. Of course, just the same as every man can run a newspaper better than the editor, so every teacher could improve this system, but it gives general satisfaction.
