

The N. Y. Weekly Tribune and Sullivan Republican for $1.25 One Year $1.25.

This is fall weather. Beechnuts are plenty. Ferksville Fair this week. Sunday was a perfect day.

The World's Fair will close Oct. 31.

Dog tax will be away up this year.

Its going to be a jinslicker—the Laporte depot.

Jack Frost is visible nearly every morning these days.

Judge Phillips was calling on friends in town, Sunday.

A large number of our people are on their way to the Fair.

It crumbled up like a sand bank—the old court house building.

Chas. Ballard shot a rabbit on Tuesday, the first of the season.

Hon. Russel Karns is hard at it—cleaning off his Lake Mokoma lots.

A. C. Jenkins of Celestia, was doing business in Williamsport, one day last week.

Mr. I. R. Fleming of Picture Rocks, was doing business in Laporte, Tuesday.

Kindness is the sun of life, the charm to captivate and the sword with which to conquer.

A woman may not be able to throw a stone over a church, but she can throw a man over.

Atty. Dunham and Dr. Hill were bear hunting one day last week. They didn't get any, however.

Railroad weighing scales are being placed at the Laporte tannery. Chas. Landon is superintending the work.

The Y. W. C. T. U., will meet at the home of Fannie Meylert Friday, Oct. 6, at 7:30 p. m. All are invited.

The Lackawanna county agricultural society has failed for $6,000 and their grounds will be sold by the sheriff.

Atty. E. M. Dunham fell from the top branches of a pear tree one day last week and bruised his face quite badly.

A number of our people interested attended the meeting of the Lake Mokoma stockholders, in Williamsport, on Tuesday.

A number of our people attended the Hughesville fair on Friday last. They do not report it as being next to the Chicago exhibit.

Our exchanges state that there are four hundred thousand people in New York city asking for relief in the way of provision.

The Democratic party upholds free trade in behalf of working people just as it upheld slavery in the name of American liberty.

Mrs. T. J. Keeler and Mrs. Eugene Ward left for Pottsville, this Thursday. Mrs. Ward will make Pottsville her home in the future.

Jacob Lorah, the popular merchant of Central, was made happy by the arrival of a new girl baby at his home on Friday Sept. 22.

In Philadelphia the ministers and the congregations are quarreling and the question asked after services—who held the pulpit?

The county commissioners have ordered two steel cage cells for prisoners. They will be placed in the residence of Sheriff Mahaffey.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Mead and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Mead and Mrs. Roberts, all of Laporte township, left for the World's Fair on Tuesday.

Rev. Hallock Armstrong of Nelson, Tloga county and formerly of Laporte, was shaking hands with old friends at the Towanda fair, last week.

Our schools are progressing nicely under the teachership of Mr. Davis and Miss Huffman. The pupils speak very highly of the schools this winter.

Don't forget to say a good word for the Republican county ticket whenever the occasion offers. Our candidates deserve your good will and hearty support.

The voters will have a chance on the 17th of November to show the Democratic party what they think of it. See that your county tax is paid before October 7th.

County Commissioner S. K. McBride, has rented the Keeler house on West Main street and will hereafter be a resident of Laporte.

Geo. C. Wright of Forksville has accepted the head clerkship in Boak Bros' general store of Hughesville. The Boak Bros. will find George the right man for the place.

We understand that several parties are about to establish coal yards at Laporte. With all in operation that are talked of, we ought to purchase our coal pretty cheap this winter.

We gave the court proceedings last week, our contemporaries give them this week, or two weeks late. For news when fresh, have your name placed on the REPUBLICAN subscription book.

The ignoring of so many bills by the Grand Jury this session is only an evidence that Justices of the Peace are too liberal in their commitments. This should be an index to those officers.

Secy. Newell of the Sullivan county agricultural society, forgot to present us with a comp. to the county Fair. We will overlook it this time, but you won't let it occur again, will you Bro. Newell?

The delicacy as to mentioning the age of women is no piece of modern sensitiveness. In the old Testament, though great numbers of women are mentioned, there is but one—Sarah, Abraham's wife—whose age is recorded.

At a campmeeting recently held in the upper portion of York county a card was tacked on a post near the entrance gate: "No cursing or swearing will be allowed within ten feet of the stand, by order of the committee."

A prudent man always looks through his pocket at least half a dozen times before handing his coat to his wife to have a button sewed on, and even then he is filled with a nameless dread till the job is completed.

The fight is on in Ohio. The battle has opened in earnest between the champions of American ideas, American progress and American independence and the advocates of the starvation wages platform that menaces every toiler in the land with poverty and degradation.

The N. Y. Life and Mutual Insurance Co's have given notice to those who have made of them bond and mortgage loans that the rate of interest will hereafter be six per cent. That looks like putting an extra squeeze on a man when he is caught in a tight place.

Upon breaking open an egg laid by one of her hens a few mornings ago, Mrs. Clemuel McHenry found a second egg inside the first. It was about the size of a large red cherry, had a perfect hard shell, with yolk and white, the same as the regular hen-fruit except as to size.—Benton Argus.

Well, it seems everybody is going to the World's Fair except the editor. He could go too, if delinquent subscribers would only pay up, but we guess that never will be. We presume there were delinquent subscribers in the beginning of the world and there will no doubt be at the end of the world.

Little Fredia Crossley was quite badly hurt while playing on a lumber pile in the court house yard on Tuesday. The pile consisted of heavy scantlings and fell over on her. Assistance was called by and removed the timber. Her legs and side were badly bruised.

A prominent Roman, having been divorced from his wife, was highly blamed by his friends, who demanded "Was she not chaste? Was she not fair?" Holding out his shoe he asked them whether it was not new and well made, and "yet," added he, "none of you can tell where it pinches me." Hence the expression "where the shoe pinches."

Chas. Gardner of Hills Grove, who was arrested and consigned to the Williamsport jail last week for attempt at rape, an account of which was given in our columns of Sept. 29, was released from custody on Monday by giving the necessary amount of bail to appear at Dec. term, of court. Sheriff Mahaffey brought him to Laporte where the bonds were made out and signed.

Helio of Lincoln. A yellow and time-stained old copy-book that Abraham Lincoln used in practicing penmanship during his school days is in the possession of an Antislavery (Kan.) collector. On one of its pages is inscribed in the future President's hand-writing: "Abraham Lincoln, his hand, his pen—He will be good, but God knows when."

It is now legal to kill rabbits and pheasants. Get your gun in trim.

Mr. and Mrs. Farris who spent the summer at Laporte and guests of the Mountain House, left for Milton last week, where they will spend the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Farris have enjoyed the summer seasons at Laporte for the past several years. They admire the beauties of Laporte during the heated season of the year. They are always welcome visitors.

It is reported that not long since a prominent farmer residing near Cambra, went to the field and began plowing on a Sunday morning. One of his neighbors noticing him hard at work, went out and informed him that it was Sunday, whereupon he lost no time in un-latching his team and returning to the barn. He, no doubt, will pay closer attention to his almanac in the future.

Electricity for cooking purposes is among the exhibits at the World's Fair, and those who have examined into the method are loud in their praise of it. Meats are prepared in a few minutes on the electric stove and all that is necessary, where the electric stove is in use, is to turn a button and the cook has a stove heated quicker than by any other method—no ashes, no smoke, no gas and no dirt.

No journalist has yet been found with sufficient courage to print the remarks of a man who fell over a wheel-barrow, or ran down a rocking chair while scudding about in the dark after the paregoric bottle with which to dose the squalling baby. On such occasions he is generally too full for utterance, and his remarks savor too much of incoherency to permit their publication.

It is to be hoped that John Gotie the Celestia frenchman, will get law enough pretty soon. It has only been in the neighborhood of six months, or so, that he knew there was such a thing as law, but he has made double use of it since that time. In all of his cases brought however he has been required to pay all costs of prosecution except one where the costs were divided. This was on Saturday when he sued Baker for trespass.

Railroad cars can now be electrically lighted, says an exchange. The car axle is the source of power, and by use of friction cones, uniform speed of dynamo and consequently of light, is maintained. Besides the dynamo, there are storage batteries to be used when the speed of the car falls below seven miles an hour. The weight of dynamo and battery is 1,000 pounds. There are twenty-five eight-candle lamps in the car. Electricians and railroad men are greatly interested in this invention.

New Stations. The Williamsport & North Branch R. R., have placed in the hands of Mr. A. C. Little of Eagles Mere, the work of building the stations for Laporte, Satterfield, Ringdale and Nordmont. Mr. Little's experience at Eagles Mere will insure attractive buildings and he will push the work with all possible speed. The lumber is already on the ground for Laporte and Satterfield and the buildings will be completed before November 1st.

What about our man service? Our city papers did not arrive on Monday evening. They say the mail clerk on the W. & N. B. only makes one trip per day now. This is wrong. The clerk should make two trips or else a pouch for the northern end of the W. & N. B. should be made up at Halls. Our people will not put up with this.

We want our papers. We understand that Messrs. McCormick and Welch will intercede and insist upon a pouch being made up at Halls for Laporte.

The Democratic panic, which is now upon the country; and which has already produced more serious results than the one of 1873, seems to be the direct result of the Democratic victory last fall. Under the same laws now in existence, but under a Republican administration, this country seems to have touched the top notch of national prosperity. No sooner, however, was Democratic victory known than a depression set in which has culminated in the present deplorable condition of affairs. It was over production, over-trading, undue railroad building and speculation that brought on the great panic of 1873. None of these causes contributed to the panic of 1893. The fear of tariff and other legislation, free coinage and other political vagaries at once alarmed the people and precipitated this crisis. It has been from first to last a purely Democratic panic.

A hotel keeper at Elmira recently presented bar bills against several employes of the D. L. & W. railroad, whereupon the said employes were promptly discharged. The hotel man discovered that he had put his foot in it, and made an effort to withdraw the bills, but the company informed him that it was too late, and that they had no use for that class of men.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad Successful in their Big Land Suit.

The land case of Long & Liggett vs. the Lehigh Valley railroad to determine the location of valuable coal lands along the line of the Beech Creek railroad and which occupied the attention of the Centre county court all of last week was given to the jury Friday. A verdict was rendered in favor of the Lehigh Valley. The history of this case goes back to the year 1885, when Clinton Lloyd, Esq., then of Williamsport, but now of Washington, brought suit against the Lehigh Valley Coal Co., to recover the possession of lands located in Snow Shoe township, Centre county, comprising four tracts of about 2,000 acres in all.—Etc.

On Tuesday last the work of tearing down the Court House was begun by a force of men under the supervision of the County Commissioners.

This building which was erected about the year 1851 or 2, and which had been used for court purposes until condemned by a competent architect, has been found to be in a very bad condition. The brick of which the building is composed is of a very inferior quality, being so soft that they can easily be crumbled under foot. The dangerous condition of said building, has, in a measure, been known for years, and steps were early taken to prevent its collapsing by having a number of iron rods placed through it. But this step was not successful, and after two successive grand juries having recommended the construction of a new building for court purposes together with the approval of the court, which was requisite, the commissioners promptly proceeded to carry into effect the above recommendation. Though but six days have been spent working at it the work has progressed very rapidly, having torn down the upper story and part of the second and removed the debris. What- ever is of any value is carefully saved, but it will not be possible for the county to realize very much from this material.

It is to be hoped that the successors of Messrs. McBride, Cheney and Scanlin, the present board of commissioners, will show the same degree of promptness in completing all work that may be unfinished upon their advent into office, and thereby merit the thanks of the citizens of this county as the above named gentlemen have done.

A CITIZEN. Laporte, Pa., Oct. 2, 1893.

LAPORTE, Oct. 3, 1893.

Years ago at the organization of Sullivan county, and the selection of this as the county seat, all sorts of stories were told of Laporte. It was on a hill so big and high that it was almost impossible to reach it, and so covered with rocks when one did get there that all improvements must be made on the surface of the rocks. But we see just as fine gardens and orchards here as elsewhere, and much finer fruit, than in many orchards we have seen in the more fertile portions of the adjoining counties. But when we come to speak of the scenery, we can imagine nothing more grand than the view one gets from the heights above the town.

We are under obligations to Judge Ingham for much, and valuable information pertaining to the past history of the town, and its present and future prospects, and from the facilities afforded by railroad communication, we do not doubt that his most sanguine expectations will be realized. At any rate we would be willing to cast our lot here had we our life to live over again; with so many ties surrounding that bound us to the past, and seeketh from the "old home," we could ask no sweeter spot than this in which to pass our declining years of life; the border-land between time, and the unseen and eternal.

In going away we shall carry none but pleasant memories of the time we have passed in this lovely village, and of its romantic scenery. Partially a stranger, we gratefully appreciate the friendly courtesy manifested by all with whom we have come in contact, in the way of business or otherwise, and take this opportunity to tender them our grateful thanks.

Deplorable if True.

The superintendent of public instruction received a communication Wednesday from a prominent citizen of Tunkhannock, says the Wilkesbarre Leader, informing him that in Root Hollow, a thriving lumber camp about five miles from that place, "there are no school board in the camp because there are not enough persons who can read or write to form one. There is no school there to attend and a community is being allowed to come up within a half hour's drive of Tunkhannock, the county seat of Wyoming county, without proper instruction as to the existence of a God or Savior and of the requirements of good citizenship, and, of course, good morals." Dr. Schaeffer says this is one of the most deplorable state of affairs he has ever heard of and he has instructed the superintendent of schools of Wyoming county to investigate the matter and report to him promptly.

The following is taken from the Sullivan County Democrat, dated Oct. 19th, 1855. It will no doubt be of interest to many of our readers:

EAGLES MERE ACADEMY.

An academy for classical and general education has been organized at Eagles Mere, Sullivan county, Penn'a. Principal John N. Luken's.

The locality is a beautiful and remarkably healthy region, at a distance from the influences and temptations of any town. The course of studies is arranged to prepare the students for entering college at any grade of advance; or to qualify them for teaching District schools; but those who wish may select studies, relating directly to agricultural and mechanical pursuits.

Terms of tuition, board &c., are moderate, and may be known by addressing the Principal, (Eagles Mere P. O.)
