that a law requiring all heavy wagons to have a three or four inch tire would be a long step in the direction of improved roads. In England we are told that no draught wagon is allowed with less than a six inch tire. This acts like a roller on the roads and they are kept hard and smooth in consequence of it. The saving on horses and wagons is immense. The increased loads that can be carried and the saving of val. uable time make transportation much cheaper. No road is there allowed to be made unless laid out by competent civil engineers and approved by a commissioner of public works. In fact almost as much care is taken in the making of wagon roads as there is in the making of railroads. Good roads indicate an advance state of civilization. In Mexico or Spain we expect poor roads. In the United States we expect something better. Our people should wake up on the question of road making. Unly progressive men should be elected road commissioners. We pay taxes enough to have good roads. Let the question be properly studied and let every tax payer insist upon roads that reflect the progress and intelligence of our age and our country.

The Democratic papers are making pressing efforts to boom business. This would be commendable if they would compel the party in power to come out and say that there would be no meddling with the tariff. With this assurance it would not be thirty days before our mills and factories would begin to start up and thousands of our workmen be employed. We are just as anxious to see business revive as are our democratic friends, but until such assurance is given, or a change is made in the lower house of Congress, our map—

In these fast days dishonesty is apt to be confounded with business tact. Thus many youths start in life with the idea that success depends upon chicanery. They imagine that if a man is always able to "get the best of a bargain," no matter by what deceit and meanness he carries his point, that his prosperity is assured. Nothing can be farther segminance to those who are or shall be in the jail of the said county. from the truth. Enduring prosperity cannot be founded upon cunning and dishonesty. The tricky and deceitful man is sure to fall a victim, sooner or later, to the influences which are forever working against him

Repeal.

Repeal at last. The fight is over. It has been a ong one and a severe one, but it is over. Honest money has won and the flight of the gold eagle will be stopped.

If the Democrats would only let the tariff alone now all would be well. They will hear something about the tariff from Ohio, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and some other States on Tuesday next.

When people gaze with delight upon the movements of trained animals, few know anything about the The roads in various sections of Sullivan county are in almost impassible condition owing to their being cut to pieces by the heavy loads of bark and lumber that daily pass over them. Poor roads are a detriment to any county, state, or nation. Our people have never given the proper people have never given the proper amount of attention to public thorough fares. At various times our places him or, heated sheets of iron, state legislature has attempted to enact measures for the improvements of country roads but so far nothing of country roads but so far nothing ately to escape the heat, it involunhas been accomplished. We believe tarily keeps time to the music. The lessons is repeated until the bear has learned to move its legs regularly to the sound of the fiddle without the cruel prompting of scorching toes.

HILLSGROVE ITEMS.

The tannery is now running on full time, so business is brisk.

The telephone line between this place and Proctor, is a great convenience.

Rev. Hyde the new pastor of the M. E. church preached his first sermon here on Sunday.

The fire whistle blew Saturday evening, it proved to be a fire in the Keefe Hotel caused by the explosion of an oil-stove. The flames were soon extinguished.

Ulysses Bird, came over from Proctor, where he has been surveying for the Elk Tanning Company for the last six weeks. He is now with Messrs. Wm. Hull and Robert McEwen estimating Hoyt Bros. bark.
