The President's Message.

President Cleveland's message made public on Monday will completely disappoint the country. Not in what it says, but in what it does not say, for a more tame, empty, inane message could not well be framed. Congress has rarely met with town Saturday. graver or more momentous questions demanding high statesmanship, comprehensive grasp and sure decision. The country expected a virile and illuminating discussion of the transcendant subjects which whether ap- dwelling house and store. proved or not, would at least command respect by its vigor and strength. Without any warrant he first puts the deficit at less than half what it is certain to be, and then dismisses it with the simple expectation that the new tariff and internal revenue measures will provide sufficient revenue. What shall be done to meet the deficit now he doesn't suggest at all. He wants the power to issue issue he doesn't indicate.

The only point where there is any approach to serious discussion is the tariff question.
