The forest along the Shanersburg Valley is on fire and much damage is being done to the growing timber. We understand that it is following the path of the EaglesMere cyclone. On Saturday evening the blaze extended over the tree tops and was a pretty view from Laporte.

Chas. Mead of Laporte twp. has been ailing for sometime. Last Saturday he went down to Williamsport to be examined by Dr. Nutt, who called his complaint—catarrh of the stomach and said he could relieve him some at least. Charley's complexion is bad and he has suffered much.

Our subscription list is growing so fast, that we are obliged to order another quire of paper added to our bundle. We have been cutting our exchanges for the past two weeks. We hope to have sufficient to go around next issue. This will make two quires added in the past three weeks. Encouraging isn't it?

Chas. Landon of Laporte, was laid up a couple of days last week. He let a heavy hardwood plank fall on his foot. It knocked the sand out of Charley. He said he never fainted in his life and didn't know where this disease affected a person, but he had a darned queer feeling in his stomach shortly after the board tumbled.

Mr. Peter May, one of the proprietors of the Laporte Hotel, who hurt his eye recently, an account of which was given in the REPUBLICAN, has suffered much pain from the accident, but we are given to understand that Dr. Koser of Williamsport who is in attendance, has every reason to believe that he can effect a partial cure of his sight.

Messrs. John Purcell and Martin Gallagher, who are excavating the trench for the court house sewerage, fired several blasts in Maple Park last week. They did it with neatness and dispatch. No accident resulting from the shots. Mr. Purcell is an old hand at the business and thoroughly understands the required amount of the explosive to do the work.

Fr. Enright is arranging to chance off his horse. He contemplates selling four hundred tickets at one dollar each and we are told that he has about disposed of this number, when the drawing will take place. Some of the boys who have taken stock are getting anxious. Lay low fellows, Frank Gallagher says some one of the Laporte boys is going to draw it and it may be you. The horse in question is valuable, worth perhaps more money than any piece of horse flesh in the county. It has trotted a mile in 2:26. It will be a splendid gift to some person.

OUR CANDIDATE for CONGRESS.

MONROE H. KULP.

Monroe H. Kulp, the subject of our sketch and the candidate of the Republican party for congress from the seventeenth congressional district, is one of the best known young men in Central Pennsylvania and one eminently qualified to fill the high position to which he aspires.

While not a native of Northumberland county he has been a resident of Shamokin for the past thirty years during which time he has become perfectly acquainted with the varied interests of the coal regions and thoroughly conversant with their requirements.

Mr. Kulp is the oldest son of the late Darlington R. Kulp, and was born in Barto, Berks county, Oct. 23, 1857. When about seven years of age his parents moved to Shamokin where for the next ten years he was engaged about the mines, working in nearly every branch of the coal industry, attending at irregular intervals the public schools of the borough where he received a common school education.

At the age of seventeen he entered the store of his father and remained there until the firm of Kulp & McWilliams was formed in 1878 when he entered their employ and began to learn the lumber business in which he has since become so successful.

Having a desire to obtain a more liberal education he attended the State Normal school, at Lebanon, O. in 1879, where for two years he pursued such studies as would fit him for an active business life, and in 1881 he completed his school life at Eastman college, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Here he made a decidedly creditable record, graduating from the business course of that famous institution in the shortest time of any student for more than a year. His special fitness for the work of an accountant was here shown, and his work throughout the course was worthy of special mention.

On his return from Poughkeepsie he assumed charge of the books of the firm of Kulp, McWilliams & Co., and for the next four years he filled that position in a most satisfactory manner soon becoming posted in every detail of their extensive business so that he had every branch at his finger's end.

In 1886 the firm was dissolved, Darlington R. Kulp assuming the entire lumber business formerly carried on by the firm and our candidate assisted in its management until the illness of his father in 1892 when he assumed entire charge of all the affairs of the estate, consisting of timber operations in nine counties in this state and West Virginia, covering an acreage of twenty thousand and acres of land, employing in season over three hundred men and one hundred and fifty head of stock, and doing a business aggregating several hundred thousand dollars annually.

He has thus advanced from the lowest step on the ladder, that of the laborer, to the highest round that of the manager, and while his progress was rapid, it was the result of strict attention to business and the exercise of excellent judgment, a kindly disposition toward all whom he came in contact with, and an untiring perseverance. He stands to-day among the employers and employed alike, one of the most popular and best thought men in the business.

Mr. Kulp has always been an enthusiastic Republican and, although never before seeking his own advancement, he is known as an active earnest and liberal worker and one who left nothing undone which would benefit his party. His name had frequently been mentioned in connection with local and county offices but he always declined political preferment until 1890 at the request of many friends he was a candidate for the legislature, with an almost absolute certainty of success. Other complications arising in the convention, he withdrew from the field for the sake of harmony, and some of the strongest support he received before the recent nomination was voluntarily given him for this action.

The great financial depression and business stagnation which pervades every section of this great land, much of which is due to the almost criminal delay of congress in taking definite action on the vital questions of the day, has caused the people to think over the situation as they have probably never done before. The crying demand of the times is for a congress composed of men whose interests are identical with those of their constituents instead of being largely made up of professional men who know next to nothing of their wants, speculators who serve the country for a consideration and whose personal advancement weighs more than the prosperity of the American nation, and politicians whose position in the party must be sustained at all hazards.

The logical solution of the question is the election of Monroe H. Kulp, a man whose business ability has been tested under the most trying circumstances and found sufficient; a man whose friendship and loyalty is well known among those from whom he now solicits support and a man with whom the interests of the citizens of our district and those of the state can be safely entrusted and we believe that the voters will honor a worthy man and further their best interests by giving him their suffrage and their earnest support.

Some More "Dam" Foolishness by the Democratic Party.

We have a practical illustration of the ridiculous features of the new tariff bill right here at home. On Tuesday Deputy Internal Revenue Collector McCollum, of Montrose, came to Tunkhannock for the purpose of hunting out the playing cards in the hands of the dealers in order to collect two cents revenue on each and every pack, and he must go through his district for this purpose. Just think of it! There may possibly be 500 packs of cards for sale in this county, (but we think 200 packs would be a very large figure,) which would pay the government $10, and the government will have to pay the collector at least five times that amount for making the collections. This is one of the economical features of a Democratic tariff. The people generally would not complain if the government placed a tariff of $1.00 on every pack of playing cards offered for sale, but when the law reads that such revenue shall be collected at once on each and every pack of such cards in the dealers' hands, at the time the law goes into effect, it is simply ridiculous, and goes a long way toward proving to the people that the Democratic party is entirely too weak in the upper story to have charge of the affairs of this great nation.—Tunkhannock Republican.

The editor and wife attended the band concert given by the famous Innes band of New York city, at Williamsport on Friday last. It was grand. The noted performance, "War and Peace" concluded the evening's entertainment, a chorus of 200 vocalists were engaged in the background of the band stand, among the list was Mrs. Isabelle Stanley of Laporte.

At the beginning of the play, warlike songs were in order, and after "Glory, Glory, Hallelujah" had rung out, the sound of drums and fifes were heard in the distance. They were marched to the band stand and were followed by the G. A. R's. Here the latter rested on their arms while the 200 quartette assisted by the band sang the "Soldiers' Farewell," after which the drums started up and the soldiers marched on to battle.

A few minutes later and in the darkness the battle takes place, two thousand shots were fired in rapid succession and all is excitement. The discharge of canon shook the earth, after the fight the boys came back to the stand playing and singing "Johnny Come Marching Home Again," "Tramp Tramp, etc. During the fight the Innes band played an andante, including all the old war songs. "America," sang by the chorus completed this part of the program. It was instructive and entertaining as we announced in our paper last week. Our band boys of the county should have been there by all means. They would never have regretted the trip.

Hotel Kennedy of Laporte, will give a closing ball on Wednesday evening Sept. 12, '94 to which everybody is cordially invited. General Manager, John E. Gallagher says he will endeavor to make this dance eclipse anything of the like ever given in the county. He has procured extra good music for the occasion and will give a repast that will be welcomed by all. Don't forget the date Sept. 12th, and be on hand and share in the good time.

General Hastings the Republican candidate for Governor, will speak at the Bradford county fair, on Sept. 27th.
