GOVERNOR HASTINGS INAUGURATED

With Impressive Ceremonies.

SPRECH OF THE GOVERNOR The State Capitol Alive With Clubs, Bands and Thousands

ot Visitors, impressive. Surrounded by the lawmaking and judicial branches of the state government, prominent men in all walks of life and citizens of all classes, he took the oath of office and delivered an address which is characteristic in its forceful, succinct and eloquent presentation of those matters which occured to the new governor to be proper to discuss at the out set of his administration.

GENERAL D. H. HASTINGS.

The inaugural ceremonies took place on the decorated platform at the west portico of the capitol at high noon and were very brief. After a patriotic selection by a band, Rev. William A. Houck, of Hazleton, former pastor of the Bellefonte Methodist church, of which Governor Hastings is a member, offered prayer. Chief Clerk Smiley, of the senate, then read the certificate of Goveror Hastings' election, and Chief Justice Sterrett, of the supreme court, administered the oath of office. This was followed by the governor's salute by battery C, and after more music Governor Hastings stepped to the front and delivered the inaugural address.

Lack of space prevents our giving the address in full. Among other things the governor said :

I venture the opinion and the hope that, with returning confidence as to the future, we are gradually entering upon a period of encouraging and healthful business restoration. With this thought in view, the tread of our legislation should be in sympathy with every effort looking to the advancement of all the industrial, material and commercial interests within the borders of the state.

While the question of the reaceful settlement of contentions between organized labor and capital is almost as old as organized society, yet the subject is more important and momentous now than ever before.

In the mean time their son had married and had two little sons that were the juy of their grandparents at that time, for they were bright little boys. The aged grandfather loved the eldest one very dearly but did not live to know much of the other one. Time passes on and her two girls leave for homes of their own. After this they removed to their present mountain home, at which some of their grand children around them, most of the time. Family Gathering.

SHUNK, SULLIVAN Co.-The fam ily gathering at M. Williams, on Christmas day (which was the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage) passed off very pleasantly. There were not as many present as were expected, on account of the severity of the weather, but those that were there seemed to enjoy themselves. The following sketch was written and
