The Anniversary of the Death of Lincoln.

Thirty years ago Monday in the early morning of April 15, 1865, Abraham Lincoln died. The North had been preparing to unite in a general illumination in celebration of the successful termination of the war for the Union.

The news spread slowly because death had occurred at 7 o'clock in the morning, hours after the regular edition of the morning newspapers had gone to press, and because news was far less widely disseminated by telegraph than it is to-day.

The entire list is probably incomplete, as in most places the assessor does not go from house to house for his facts but makes his assessment from his old record and for this reason he does not get all the births and deaths.

Want no Change.

The rural members of the house are organizing to resist the proposed cut of $2,000,000 in the school appropriation for the next two years.

The farmers hold the balance of power in the house and if they unite on this question they can prevent any scaling down of the school funds.

Dr. Schaeffer, superintendent of public instruction, thinks it would be unwise to reduce the school appropriation. He has been asked by Governor Hastings for his opinion on this question.

If the reduction becomes necessary it will be the first time in fifty years, with a single exception, that the legislature has been compelled to diminish the amount of appropriation to the public schools by former legislatures.

Acquitted of Murder. TUSHANNOCK, April 16, (Special) The jury this morning, at the convening of court, brought in a verdict of "not guilty" in the case of Fred B. Wall, on trial for the killing of Washington Waterman.

Birth and Death Record. The birth and death record as returned by the assessors of the several boroughs and townships of Sullivan county for the December assessment 1894, are as follows:

Says Booth is Alive.

NEWARK, O., April 14.—Christopher C. Ritter, an intelligent German-American citizen who arrived in Newark nine months ago and has since been doing landscape gardening, tells the following story to-day concerning the assassination of Lincoln: "To-day I am at liberty to disclose facts hitherto hinted at by newspaper writers, but strenuously denied by historians."
