The Republican, in its last issue, speak of the illegal use of money in last fall's campaign, and urges Democrats not to vote their party ticket this fall. Now, let us probe this matter a little. Some of the Republican leaders are authority for the report that the editor of the Republican received $500 with which to carry the late Republican primary elections in the inter-ests of certain parties. * * * * If the editor of the Republican wishes to accuse any person or party of using money for illegitimate election purposes, he should first deny the report circulated by some of his Republican colleagues, if it is not true. or if he used the money for legitimate purposes, let him state for what it was -Dushore Gazette.

This is the first time to our knowl edge that we have been accused openly of receiving "$500 with which to carry the late Republican primary elections." 'Tis true the Dushore papers have hinted it, in a sarcastic manner, as it were, but they have never come out openly and said "we were the fellow," hence the shoe didn't fit us and we would have been a little premature to have buckled it around our foot. The charge is false and as a matter of course we deny it.
