

To Work for Harrison.

New York, Nov. 22.—The Sun in a political article yesterday on the presidential situation, referred to the visit of Hon. Charles Emory Smith to this city as follows: "The visit of Mr. Smith primarily was to attend the Chamber of Commerce dinner. He remained over a day yesterday, and he and Gen. Harrison were joined by Hon. Chris. Magee of Pittsburg. Mr. Smith represents the Philadelphia end of the anti-Quay combine, and Mr. Magee is the shoulder hitter for the anti-Quay folks in his town. Senator Quay and his friends have drubbed Mr. Smith, Mr. Magee and their friends, but the end is not yet. Senator Quay is opposed to the renomination of Gen. Harrison, and none knows this better than Mr. Smith and Mr. Magee. Mr. Smith and Mr. Magee are for Harrison and they will attempt to do in Pennsylvania what Gen. Harrison's friends are trying to do in New York state; that is, divide the delegation in the interest of Harrison. There is no mistake about this statement, as it is made on the representation of some of the best men interested in Harrison's renomination."

How the Farmers Fare.

The statistics of the treasury department shows that in the last year of the McKinley tariff the exports of American agricultural products amounted to $971,125,299. The imports of foreign agricultural product, competing directly with the labors of American farmers, during that period were $51,414,944.

In the first year of the Wilson tariff, which Democratic newspapers confidently asserted would enable the farmers of the United States to conquer the "markets of the world," our sales of farm products abroad fell off to $301,578,988. For these twelve months our agricultural imports increased to $107,343,522. This means that the loss to American farmers in a year of Democratic "tariff reform" is more than $15,000,000 in this item alone. What they have lost by the fall in the value of sheep and wool, because wool has been free, it is difficult to say. But it is certain that the amount runs far into the millions.

It is no wonder that the Republican majorities on November 5, were particularly emphatic in the rural districts of New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Ohio.

Counterfeit $5 bills, so well executed as to be dangerous, have made their appearance in Williamsport. They purport to be silver certificates. One of them was presented for deposit at the Merchants' National Bank on Monday and was detected by the cashier. Merchants are keeping a sharp lookout for them.

Has the Pony Got It.

There is a well defined belief that the Pennsylvania railroad has corrupted the Lehigh Valley, and that this fact will become patent at the annual election, says a Stockholder. On this head a contemporary, unusually well informed, says:

"We have excellent authority to say that the control of the Lehigh Valley is passing, or has already passed, into the hands of a combination of gentlemen in the interest of the Pennsylvania Railroad company. It would not be legal for the Penn. Railroad company to hold the stock of this company, but the friends of the company can hold the stock and utilize it in the interests of Pennsylvania. This we understand to be a fact. The passing of the control of this important coal property into the coal combination leaves in doubt only one other property as to whether control of it has been secured, and that property is Reading. Bulk of the stock is known to be held in New York, but the holders of it give no clue as to the real owners. The recent stock movement has given strong impression that the control is passing or has passed into strong hands, and that certain large minority interests are getting out of it."

Opinion of the Message.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Among Senators and Representatives there was a wide difference of opinion in regard to the President's message which was presented to Congress on Tuesday noon. The opinions were divided mainly on party lines. The Republicans consider the message a weak and colorless paper and especially criticize the parts referring to the financial situation and our foreign relations. The Democrats generally take a diametrically opposite view and consider the message an especially strong one. Nevertheless several Democratic Senators and Representatives do not agree with the President in his recommendations in relation to the financial situation.

Eva Lepley then gave a recitation entitled "The Country Girl" and Nora Moran, one, entitled the "Wedding Fee." Next was a select reading entitled "His rent paid for life," by Miss Ceelia Donovan, followed by the regular debate, on the question, "Resolved that foreign emigration should be prohibited to the United States." The affirmative was opened by J. B. Magargle followed by M. D. Sweeney, Frank Shoemaker, H. Johnson, T. Kernan, and James Moran, sr. The negative side was opened by B. F. Kabin, followed by P. Monroe Taylor, J. Will Moran, T. H. Gallagher, A. P. Starr and Dr. J. L. Derr. The judges Hon. M. J. Phillips, Wm Secules, and G. W. Bigger rendered their decision in favor of the negative. A collection was then taken which amounted to 76 cents. The question for debate for next Friday night is "Resolved that the pen is mightier than the sword," it will be a general debate. The society then adjourned to meet at 7:00 o'clock, next Friday evening.
