REPUBLICAN NEWS ITEM, Laporte Pa.,

"WHAT ARE TRUSTS?"

If, as claimed by Democraticanewspapers, trusts could not exist affective to the Protective Tariff low does it happen that in England, which is under Free Trade. there are more trusts than in the United States of The plain, unvarnished, troth is that there is no connection between a Protective Tariff and the trusts.—Reokuk Gate City."

The "Gate City" makes the positive statement that "there are more trusts in England than in the United States."
There are several hundred trusts in the United States. Can the "Gate City" name half a dozen trusts in England?—Sloux City "Tribune."

Here is an opportunity for the brethren of the press to get together and answer the inquiry propounded by the "Hawk-Eye" several times recently without satisfactory reply from any quarter: "What are trusts?" There is a loose-jointed use of the word
'trusts," but it does not seem to be used in the same or uniform sense by the public. Here is a case in point between the "Gate City" and the Sioux City "Tribune." There is great concentration of capital in England, such as in this country often would be called in popular parlance, a "monopoly," "combine." "trust," "vast aggregation of capital." This tendency is as great in a so-called Free-Trade country like Great Britain as a Tariff Protected country like France, Germany or the United States. This substantiates the claim that trusts are not solely the offspring of Tariffs, if even in any degree related.

The sooner the public rids itself of the idea that the so-called trusts are the product of partisan politics, the sooner a remedy for any evils incident to trusts may be hoped for.—Burlington "Hawk-Eye."

A DISAPPEARING FALLACY.

The various industrial combinations which are coatinually being formed will have to be on the lookout if they are to keep track of all the new manufactories which are being built in the South as a result of the tremendous industrial prosperity which has swept over the entire country. A "trust" which complacently reflects upon the pleasing fact, to-day, that it has a controlling interest in any particular industry will be likely to wake up to-morrow to find itself hopelessly in the minority, because of the many new and independent industries which have sprung up under the encouraging influence of our present industrial policy. Men of money are evidently taking more stock in Henry Watterson's advice to "build new mill's" than they take in his fallacious arguments in favor of the policy of Free-Trade, which would soon make new mills as well as old ones just so much waste property.

Naturally a goodly number of the

as well as old ones just so much waste property.

Naturally a goodly number of the new mills are being built in the hitherto undeveloped South. It will not be many years before the South will be a manufacturing as well as an agricultural section. Then good-by to Free-Trade as the policy of the South. The passing of that fallacy as a Southern policy has already been foreshadowed in numerous expressions of opinion which have appeared in Southern papers. The day is fast approaching when the Southern States will be as enthusiastic in their support of a Protective Tariff as is Pennsylvania or Massachusetts.

EX-SENATOR PEFFER AND OTHERS.

The announcement made by ex-Senator Peffer of Kansas that hereafter he will again associate himself with the Republican party is full of significance. Mr. Peffer is one of the most conspicuous of a large number of voters who left the Republican party because they thought that prosperlty could be brought back to the country by some other means than through a Protective Tariff. Ex-Senator Peffer's return to the Republican party marks his recognition of the fact that, as a creator of prosperity, a Protective Tariff is a pre-eminent success; that the Western seekers for prosperity are satisfied with the results which the Dingley law has brought to pass, and that the place for those who want the country to continue in the path of prosperity, is with the party which will continue our present policy. Ex-Senator Peffer is but one of many, conspictions because of the high political position which he has held. With him will be found thousands upon thousands of his former constituents, who like him, have decided that Protection is goos eneugh for them. The The announcement made by ex-Senwho like him, have declared that fre-tection is goos enough for them. The policy of Protection has always had the support of a large majority of the people of the country, and it never had a larger number of supporters than it has to-day.

The good times now bathing the United States in semight began soon after the election of McKinley in 1896, which in itself contained the prophecy of the passage of a Protective Tariff measure like the Dingley law. Under the operation of that law the people are flourishing, while the national treasury is in more healthful condition than it was at any time during the administration of President Cleveland, from March 4, 1898 to March 4, 1897.

The Benefits Realized.

This certifies that M. A. Scure-man, of Dushore, agent of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Co., Mutual Life Insurance Co., has promptly delivered to me the company's check in full settlement of the $2500 life insurance policy held by H. T. Downs, my late husband, at the time of his death on the 2d install.

I now realize the benefits of life insurance as I have never realized them before, and must say that I consider the Penn Mutual a safe, equitable and prompt company. Mrs. Mary A. Downs.

The reader will please think for a moment what would be the financial condition of his estate and family in the event of his unexpected death, the event of his unexpected death, and whether it would not be wise to at least make inquiry into the merits of a policy in this old and substantial, company. Attend to this matter at once or you may delay until it is too late.

Alcohol in Sticks.

A new invention of great importance has just been patented by a German chemist, Julius Norden of Aldenhoven, Germany. He has succeeded in hardening alcohol until it becomes a solid mass. This will insure a very much greater popularity for the employment of alcohol. It now comes in small cylindrical pieces, packed in patent tin boxes, that can be used for cooking, lighting, heating and the various uses of everyday life.

The solidified alcohol burns without a wick, can be blown out after use, and then hardens again within a minute. The danger of explosion is absolutely The danger of explosion is absolutely done away with, and the neat little tin package, with its stick of alcohol, is always ready for use in the kitchen or bed room, on the toilet table or under the milk pot, on the road or in the field, as a night lamp or going upstairs at night.
