What might have resulted in a serious case of blood poison was narrowly averted Saturday when Prof. F. W. Meyler opened a small pimple over his left eye with a needle that had been used on some poison colored fabrics. Shortly after the opening was made it began to swell alarmingly bad. The physician found it necessary to cauterize it and use various medical applications to prevent it from spreading.

Lightning had a jolly time in the storm of Monday afternoon, and took the strangest liberties with August Buschhausen's residence. It was only a miracle that none of the household was injured. The lightning struck the gable end of the kitchen tearing off a few shingles and a portion of the rafters. Then the electricity took a peculiar course, a portion going through to the cellar and another part passing through a hallway to the kitchen and into the pantry, leaving its mark on a shelf in front of a window, and setting fire to some curtains in one corner of the room. The family were all in the kitchen at the time it occurred, but none felt the shock.

Without doubt the handsomest hotel in the county will be that of F. W. Gallagher's, at this place, which is rapidly reaching completion. The bar has already been opened in the basement which will later be used as a pool room and barber shop, the bar will then be located in the rear of the first floor. The most remarkable feature in the construction of this well planned hotel is the rapidity of its erection. Contractor Chas. Lawrence, two weeks ago was finishing the foundation for this large three and one-half story hotel, which is now open for a bar business.

Dr. Chas. F. Wackenhuth has sold his property and professional interests to Dr. H. G. Willson of Warrensville, Pa., who began his labor here on Monday. Dr. Wackenhuth leaves a large and lucrative practice in this section, owing to his impaired health caused by continuous driving and hard work. We extend the congratulatory hand to Dr. Willson on having stepped into the shoes of Dr. Wackenhuth and believe he will not rattle around in them, but fill them to the complete satisfaction of this community. Dr. Wackenhuth, after a few months treatment and rest, will locate himself for city practice confining it principally to surgery. Being well qualified for this promotion, the best wishes of his many friends go with him.

Lots of Enjoyment the Features of an Evening Social.

On Friday evening the lovely home of Judge and Mrs. Thos. J. Ingham was all aglow—the occasion being a delightful sociable given by Mrs. Ingham for the benefit of Rev. E. R. Powell as announced in our previous issue. It was the social event of the season as almost the entire population of the town was present. It was a most enjoyable evening for all. Good cheer reigned supreme and all were liberal in buying ice cream, cake, coffee, sandwiches, etc. The flower girls also did a lively business. The porch and lawn were brilliantly illuminated with Japanese lanterns and the several tables spread on the lawn were continually filled with patrons. Judge Dunham's graphophone was the first to open the entertainment. Pianist Herman Yeager filled the mirthful air with thrilling notes and Miss May Connelly very charmingly executed the violinist skill while several beautiful solos were sung. The well planned and executed efforts of the hostess netted about $50 for the Elder.

Great difference often exists in the sight of each eye, which if neglected invariably leads to total blindness. Eyes tested and examined free. All work guaranteed.
