It was decided by the commissioners to have the county statement published in the NEWS ITEM and Gazette, a procedure that has always been practiced that people of both parties might have the privilege of seeing in their papers where the county funds went to and for what. The Herald job office was given the printing of the spring election tickets.

It is important that honest, capable and trustworthy men should be chosen as judges and inspectors of elections. The recent revelations regarding election frauds show that with the ballot box in the hands of dishonest and unscrupulous men, American citizenship is disfranchised. Voters in both parties should select their very best men for election officers.

One of our exchanges takes the floor to remark that next year we may expect to read something like the following in the daily papers: "About ten o'clock this morning a horseless wagon loaded with cowless milk collided with a brainless driver on a chainless wheel. The luckless wheelman was badly injured and being homeless, he was taken in a horseless cab to the home of the friendless, where his death was painless in an hour or so.

The manufacture of buttons from milk was mentioned at a recent farmers' institute. There is a factory of this kind at Cuba, N. Y. In preparing the button material is placed in a huge vat and mixed with rennet extract as in cheese making. It is kept at a temperature of 100 degrees until it is of the proper consistency. Then a fine white powder is added and the whole thoroughly cooked for an hour. After that the whey is separated from the curds after the manner of making cheese, but in this case the curds or solids are packed in barrels and shipped to a button manufactory in New York to be moulded into attractive forms.

County Commissioners, Wellington Graiffley, Reuben Brown and Adam Baumunk, were at their office the early part of the week to transact their first official business. Their mode and conduct of business would indicate that they are disposed to lift this office, by the manner in which they personally fill it, perform its duties with tact and ability and asserting the dignity of their position, thereby elevating it to its proper position, lifting it up before the people to the plane which this important office merits. Their purpose seems to be simply to meet all of the responsibilities with equal and uniform efficiency and to discharge these duties with acceptability to all concerned. It is to be hoped that they will continue to persevere through their entire administration.

As the election of town officers draws near, the voters and people ought to be earnest in asking the question: Who are the best men to fill the offices of the future?

This is a hard question to answer and we ought to be thinking seriously about it. In the first place, let every voter come out and cast his ballot like a man and not shrink from the responsibility of citizenship. Many men who are unfit to hold the office entrusted to their care, would not have been there if the voters had been interested enough in "town affairs" to have been at the polls and by their votes protest against corrupt officials being elected. Let us select and nominate no man for school director who has not required a good common school education and who will not visit the school by law, at least once a month, and try to the best of his ability to promote the education of the young. We want men to fill our town and county offices who will stand firm and unmoved for right, and who will not drift upon any cross wave but hold to the course. Let us select broad minded men, true, honest men, patriotic men, and elect them to fill the offices and look after our town and county affairs.

Took His Own Life.

Samuel Kester, a partner of the firm of Barth and Kester who owned and operated a large planing mill in Dushore, ended his own life by sending a bullet into his head, on Wednesday of last week. Many conflicting stories anent the motive for the tragedy have been circulated. The cause responsible for the awful deed, however, is almost conclusively proven to be that of temporary insanity. There is every reason to believe that the tragedy was precipitated by the temporary unbalancing of his mind judging from a number of instances, before he took his life, his manner and language was not altogether sound. No other motive could be assigned for the rash act as he was financially strong and domestically happy with his wife and one daughter.

On Wednesday afternoon the body of Mr. Kester was found lying in the basement of the mill, the apartment being rarely used except for storage purposes. A bullet hole in the center of his forehead proved that the man had deliberately taken his own life. The revolver was found alongside the body.

Mr. Kester was about 48 years of age. He was last seen about 9 o'clock in the forenoon, when he inspected some work and gave orders to several workmen. He failed to return home at the dinner hour, and his long continued absence aroused suspicion that all was not right. A search resulted in the finding of the body as above stated.

At first it was believed that Mr. Kester had been murdered. An investigation by Justice of the Peace J. H. Lawrence, who summoned a jury, resulted in a verdict that Mr. Kester took his own life.
