

WHAT OUR NATIONAL LAW MAKERS ARE CONSIDERING.

Some of the More Important Work of the National Congress—Bills that the Committees Report Favorably Upon—Washington Topics.

The House has unseated Gaston A. Robbins, a Democrat from the Fourth Alabama District, and seated in his stead William F. Aldrich, a Republican, who has been three times a contestant from the same district, on the ground of fraud.

Senator Bacon has introduced an amendment to the Puerto Rican bill extending the customs laws of the United States to Puerto Rico, and adding a provision for free trade between the ports of the island and the United States.

The House Committee on Foreign Affairs has reported the bill for the reorganization of the Consular service on a civil service basis.

A full attendance of Senators and an unusually large number of auditors in the galleries greeted Senator Lodge March 7 when he spoke on the Philippine question. The speech was lengthy, and soon after its conclusion the Senate adjourned out of respect to the memory of Representative Harmer.

The conference report on the Financial bill has been agreed to in the Senate by a vote of 44 to 26.

Senator Nelson has introduced an amendment to the Porto Rico bill extending the customs laws of the United States over the island of Porto Rico.

Senator Hoar has given notice of an amendment he will offer to the Diplomatic Appropriation bill providing for the payment of $250,000 to Liliuokalani lately Queen of the Hawaiian Islands.

In the House March 5 there was a sharp parliamentary struggle between Mr. Bailey, of Texas, and Speaker Henderson over a bill to incorporate the "Frederick Douglass Memorial and Historical Association," some features of which the Texas member objected to.

Ex-President Cleveland has left Princeton for New York on a pleasure trip to Florida. The National Convention of the Social Democratic party mentions Eugene V. Debs as the Presidential nominee.

Creditors of the firm of Pulsifer, Cook & Co., paper dealers, have met at Boston. A committee reported that the firm should pay 25 per cent. The report showed assets $143,985; liabilities, $259,567; contingent liabilities, $24,010.

The Postoffice Department has announced that on March 15 fifty-seven additional cities will begin the system of registration of letters by carriers.

Paul Blouet (Max O'Rell) at Memphis, Tennessee, has been attacked by catarrh of the stomach. He will bring his tour to a close and go to Paris for treatment.

The cruisers Detroit and Marblehead have been sent to Central America on the account of the occurrence of a disturbed state of affairs.

The British cruiser Hermes, reported off Cat Island, Bahamas, with her shaft broken, has arrived at Nassau. Her boiler was also damaged.

The United States transport Grant has arrived at San Francisco from Manila with 201 sick soldiers, twenty-seven discharged men and twenty-seven cabin passengers. Six deaths occurred during the voyage.

Police Magistrate Mott has held Olga Nethersole, Hamilton Revelle, Marcus Mayer and Theodore Moss for trial, on the charge of presenting an immoral play, "Sapho," at Wallack's Theatre, New York. Bail was fixed at $500 each.

The Comptroller of the Currency has declared a dividend of 20 per cent. in favor of the creditors of the Globe National Bank, of Boston, Mass.

Another death from bubonic plague has occurred at Sydney, New South Wales.

William J. Vermilye, who had been treasurer of the Goodyear Rubber Company for a number of years, and for the last ten years manager of their plant in Middletown, Connecticut, is dead from pneumonia, aged 58.

Dr. John Friederich, 57 years of age, founder, publisher, and editor of the American Swiss Gazette, of New York is dead.

Broadman Shaw, father of Governor Shaw, of Iowa, died at his home at Morrisville, Vermont, aged 84 years.

Major James B. Washington, one of the oldest officials of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and said to be the nearest collateral relative of George Washington, died March 6 in Pittsburgh.

Representative Alfred C. Harmer, a member of Congress since 1871 with the exception of a single term, is dead in his 75th year.

Eilda Wilbur, who has been asleep more than two years, is dead in San Francisco, Cal.

Highest Wages in Thirty Years.

The settlement of the Amalgamated Association wage scale for March and April has been made and resulted in an increase from $5.75 to $6 a ton for puddling in Pennsylvania. This gives an advance of 4 per cent. to finishers, making an increase of 12 per cent. since July 1, or 37 per cent. over last year's scale. This is the highest rate paid for puddling since 1870, and affects several thousand men in Eastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania.

The scale was based on the selling price of bar iron for the preceding two months.

MISCELLANEOUS NEWS.

Events of the Week Told in a Few Words.

Members of the Democratic National Committee expect that the Kansas City Convention will finish its work in three days.

Manila advices show that seven Americans were killed recently in fighting with the Filipinos in Panay.

A funeral service for ex-Minister Phelps was held in Battle Chapel at Yale Sunday, ex-President Dwight delivering the address.

The Prussian railways have ordered 165 locomotives and 1,100 freight and baggage cars, but the pig iron syndicate at Berlin announces that it can meet only seven-twelfths of the orders for 1901.

Queen Victoria's progress from Windsor to Buckingham Palace was made the occasion for a remarkable outburst of enthusiasm and loyalty on the part of the people of London.

There are rumors in Berlin that the Reichstag is to be dissolved, and that the Government will yield to the Agrarians on the Meat bill, as the Emperor has become convinced that their votes will be needed for the Naval bill.

It is stated by intimate friends of General Harrison that he is chagrined that his name should be so freely used in the newspapers of the country in connection with public questions now under consideration, and especially that he should be made to appear as an opponent of the Administration.

A Chinaman at San Francisco died of what is thought may be bubonic plague, and the whole of Chinatown is now under quarantine.

It has been decided that Queen Victoria will visit Ireland next month, staying at the Vice Regal Lodge in Dublin.

General Corbin has turned over to Mrs. Lawton, widow of Major-General Lawton, the fund subscribed by the people of the country. It amounted to $98,432.07.

The Pennsylvania State Shoe Manufacturers' Association has adopted resolutions protesting against the duty on hides and leather.

Ex-President Cleveland has left Princeton for New York on a pleasure trip to Florida.

The National Convention of the Social Democratic party mentions Eugene V. Debs as the Presidential nominee.

Creditors of the firm of Pulsifer, Cook & Co., paper dealers, have met at Boston. A committee reported that the firm should pay 25 per cent. The report showed assets $143,985; liabilities, $259,567; contingent liabilities, $24,010.

The Postoffice Department has announced that on March 15 fifty-seven additional cities will begin the system of registration of letters by carriers.

Paul Blouet (Max O'Rell) at Memphis, Tennessee, has been attacked by catarrh of the stomach. He will bring his tour to a close and go to Paris for treatment.

The cruisers Detroit and Marblehead have been sent to Central America on the account of the occurrence of a disturbed state of affairs.

The British cruiser Hermes, reported off Cat Island, Bahamas, with her shaft broken, has arrived at Nassau. Her boiler was also damaged.

The United States transport Grant has arrived at San Francisco from Manila with 201 sick soldiers, twenty-seven discharged men and twenty-seven cabin passengers. Six deaths occurred during the voyage.

Police Magistrate Mott has held Olga Nethersole, Hamilton Revelle, Marcus Mayer and Theodore Moss for trial, on the charge of presenting an immoral play, "Sapho," at Wallack's Theatre, New York. Bail was fixed at $500 each.

The Comptroller of the Currency has declared a dividend of 20 per cent. in favor of the creditors of the Globe National Bank, of Boston, Mass.

Another death from bubonic plague has occurred at Sydney, New South Wales.

William J. Vermilye, who had been treasurer of the Goodyear Rubber Company for a number of years, and for the last ten years manager of their plant in Middletown, Connecticut, is dead from pneumonia, aged 58.

Dr. John Friederich, 57 years of age, founder, publisher, and editor of the American Swiss Gazette, of New York is dead.

Broadman Shaw, father of Governor Shaw, of Iowa, died at his home at Morrisville, Vermont, aged 84 years.

Major James B. Washington, one of the oldest officials of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and said to be the nearest collateral relative of George Washington, died March 6 in Pittsburgh.

Representative Alfred C. Harmer, a member of Congress since 1871 with the exception of a single term, is dead in his 75th year.

Eilda Wilbur, who has been asleep more than two years, is dead in San Francisco, Cal.

Highest Wages in Thirty Years.

The settlement of the Amalgamated Association wage scale for March and April has been made and resulted in an increase from $5.75 to $6 a ton for puddling in Pennsylvania. This gives an advance of 4 per cent. to finishers, making an increase of 12 per cent. since July 1, or 37 per cent. over last year's scale. This is the highest rate paid for puddling since 1870, and affects several thousand men in Eastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania.

The scale was based on the selling price of bar iron for the preceding two months.

WILL MAKE AN ATTEMPT.

Women and Scientists Bound for the Klondike on Automobile.

Eight hundred miles, more or less, across the icy wastes of Alaska into the heart of the Klondike by automobile. This is the task that three scientific Frenchmen have set out to accomplish.

These daring travelers are E. Janne de Lamare, an officer in the French Academy of Arts and Letters; E. Crom, a journalist, and M. R. Merville, champion motor-cyclist of the world and member of the National Conservatory of Arts. MM. de Lamare and Crom have been to the Klondike before.

A woman, already known to Klondike fame and fortune—Mrs. Roswell P. Hitchcock, author and explorer—says that she will accompany the automobile expedition.

The gold hunters brought with them an automobile of five horse-power, which is run by gasoline, and a motor-tricycle of three horse-power, run by petroleum.

In describing his plans, M. de Lamare said he intended to substitute runners for the rear wheels of his automobile and place a rim with saw teeth to the front wheel. The power applied to the front wheel will enable the teeth to maintain a purchase on the ice while the runners slide swiftly along, imparting momentum to the automobile sleigh. In the wake of the automobile will be dragged a sleigh, on which are to be borne the camping outfit of the travelers, fifty gallons of gasoline, duplicates of the automobile parts and a tandem bicycle, to be used for exercise or warming up.

It is intended to travel from Dyea by rail and pass to Bennett Lake, where the automobile journey proper will begin. From Bennett Lake the route will lie to Atlin City, a distance of 112 miles. This stage M. Lamare hopes to accomplish in one day. From Atlin to Dawson the distance is 650 miles.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

It is intended to travel from Dyea by rail and pass to Bennett Lake, where the automobile journey proper will begin. From Bennett Lake the route will lie to Atlin City, a distance of 112 miles. This stage M. Lamare hopes to accomplish in one day. From Atlin to Dawson the distance is 650 miles.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

On the return trip from Dawson in the fall, M. de Lamare will transform his automobile into another type of conveyance. He will place the driving machinery of his automobile within a canoe, substitute paddles for wheels and sail by gasoline power to St. Michael's.

REEDER SELECTS NEW QUARTERS.

More Desirable Building For the Republican State Committee

They Are Lining Up With the Party Organization in Preparation for the Republican National Convention.

(Special Correspondence.) Philadelphia, March 13.—General Frank Reeder, chairman of the Republican state committee, came to town a few days ago for the purpose of selecting new headquarters for the Republican state committee. The lease on the present quarters, on Walnut street below Thirteenth, will expire shortly, and as it is the intention of the owners of the property to tear the structure down and rebuild for an apartment house General Reeder determined to lose no time in securing other desirable quarters. After an inspection of several sites he finally made a satisfactory arrangement with the owner of the premises formerly occupied by the Utopian club, a well known social organization of this city. This property is a four story brick structure originally intended for a residence, and it was so used for a number of years. General Reeder is having the building refitted so that several branches of the state committee work may be properly accommodated. When the alterations in the building are completed it will be one of the best equipped and most desirable political headquarters in the country.

REEDER'S INNOVATION. It is noteworthy that to General Reeder must be given credit for the idea of having permanent headquarters for the state committee, instead of following the practice of former years and locating in a hotel for a few weeks prior to each election. After each campaign the state chairman some years ago would bundle up the documents of the party and cart them off to a storage warehouse or to his own offices until they were needed in the following canvass. General Reeder declared when he first assumed the state chairmanship eight years ago that the great Republican organization of Pennsylvania should have a permanent home where its party councils could be held if desired and where its valuable list of active Republicans, state, county and vigilant committees, campaign documents and other data could be carefully arranged and safely stored and be available for immediate use at any time. General Reeder selected the present headquarters of the state committee, which have been occupied since 1892, and it is worthy of comment that since these headquarters were secured the Republican party in Pennsylvania has not had a single candidate on the state ticket defeated and the majorities for the Republican party in the state have been steadily increasing until they frequently represent more than the total Democratic vote.

General Reeder's idea in taking a whole house for the state committee is that the active Republicans of the state, no matter from what county, whether near to or far away from Philadelphia, can always, when there is a campaign under way, feel perfectly welcome at state headquarters and have conveniences for consultations with the state chairman or any of his assistants, with assurances of perfect privacy such as could never be guaranteed at a hotel, where the public at large have access. The new quarters are located at 1417 Locust street, about half a block west of the Academy of Music, which is at the corner of Broad and Locust streets. It is convenient to the Pennsylvania, Reading and B. and O. railroads, and during the Republican national convention gathering here in June next the Republican national committee will hold forth but half a block away, at the Hotel Walton. STALWART YOUNG REPUBLICANS.

The arrangements for the Republican national convention are progressing favorably. Mayor Ashbridge has secured nearly three-fourths of the guarantee fund of $100,000 which was promised to National Chairman Hanna, and the work of refitting the Export Exposition building will be begun in a few days. The plans of the Republican clubs of this city for the entertainment of the visitors are being perfected, and the indications are that Philadelphia will surpass the efforts of any convention city in this particular. J. Hampton Moore, president of the State League of Republican Clubs, is at the head of the local organization, and he is co-operating with Mayor Ashbridge in all the arrangements. There will be many clubs from the interior of Pennsylvania take part in the demonstrations during the national convention week, and a number of them will have ununiformed delegations.

The occasion will be made one that will be memorable in the annals of stalwart Republican politics. With the presence of Chairman Hanna, Senator Platt, of New York, former National Chairman Carter, Senator Elkins, Senator Forsaker and others of the stalwart Republican leaders there will be an inspiration to the party loving Republicans of the Keystone state. The insurgents, caucus bolters and party wreckers will be entirely out of place at this gathering. The young Republicans of Pennsylvania will avail themselves of this exceptional opportunity to attend a Republican national convention, and they are expected to flock here in great numbers. They are already getting in line throughout the state to be in touch with their party organization. The guerrillas of the Flinn-Martin combine, who have no respect for party organization and who recognize the rules of the party only when it is to their personal interest to do so, are finding out that the young Republicans of this state do not propose to follow their selfish leadership, but that they are going along with the regulars and will be found working with them at the primary elections, and when the national convention meets they will come here in the ranks of the stalwart Republicans of Pennsylvania to march and cheer with stalwart Republicans from every state in the Union.

The occasion will be made one that will be memorable in the annals of stalwart Republican politics. With the presence of Chairman Hanna, Senator Platt, of New York, former National Chairman Carter, Senator Elkins, Senator Forsaker and others of the stalwart Republican leaders there will be an inspiration to the party loving Republicans of the Keystone state. The insurgents, caucus bolters and party wreckers will be entirely out of place at this gathering. The young Republicans of Pennsylvania will avail themselves of this exceptional opportunity to attend a Republican national convention, and they are expected to flock here in great numbers. They are already getting in line throughout the state to be in touch with their party organization. The guerrillas of the Flinn-Martin combine, who have no respect for party organization and who recognize the rules of the party only when it is to their personal interest to do so, are finding out that the young Republicans of this state do not propose to follow their selfish leadership, but that they are going along with the regulars and will be found working with them at the primary elections, and when the national convention meets they will come here in the ranks of the stalwart Republicans of Pennsylvania to march and cheer with stalwart Republicans from every state in the Union.

The occasion will be made one that will be memorable in the annals of stalwart Republican politics. With the presence of Chairman Hanna, Senator Platt, of New York, former National Chairman Carter, Senator Elkins, Senator Forsaker and others of the stalwart Republican leaders there will be an inspiration to the party loving Republicans of the Keystone state. The insurgents, caucus bolters and party wreckers will be entirely out of place at this gathering. The young Republicans of Pennsylvania will avail themselves of this exceptional opportunity to attend a Republican national convention, and they are expected to flock here in great numbers. They are already getting in line throughout the state to be in touch with their party organization. The guerrillas of the Flinn-Martin combine, who have no respect for party organization and who recognize the rules of the party only when it is to their personal interest to do so, are finding out that the young Republicans of this state do not propose to follow their selfish leadership, but that they are going along with the regulars and will be found working with them at the primary elections, and when the national convention meets they will come here in the ranks of the stalwart Republicans of Pennsylvania to march and cheer with stalwart Republicans from every state in the Union.

The occasion will be made one that will be memorable in the annals of stalwart Republican politics. With the presence of Chairman Hanna, Senator Platt, of New York, former National Chairman Carter, Senator Elkins, Senator Forsaker and others of the stalwart Republican leaders there will be an inspiration to the party loving Republicans of the Keystone state. The insurgents, caucus bolters and party wreckers will be entirely out of place at this gathering. The young Republicans of Pennsylvania will avail themselves of this exceptional opportunity to attend a Republican national convention, and they are expected to flock here in great numbers. They are already getting in line throughout the state to be in touch with their party organization. The guerrillas of the Flinn-Martin combine, who have no respect for party organization and who recognize the rules of the party only when it is to their personal interest to do so, are finding out that the young Republicans of this state do not propose to follow their selfish leadership, but that they are going along with the regulars and will be found working with them at the primary elections, and when the national convention meets they will come here in the ranks of the stalwart Republicans of Pennsylvania to march and cheer with stalwart Republicans from every state in the Union.

The occasion will be made one that will be memorable in the annals of stalwart Republican politics. With the presence of Chairman Hanna, Senator Platt, of New York, former National Chairman Carter, Senator Elkins, Senator Forsaker and others of the stalwart Republican leaders there will be an inspiration to the party loving Republicans of the Keystone state. The insurgents, caucus bolters and party wreckers will be entirely out of place at this gathering. The young Republicans of Pennsylvania will avail themselves of this exceptional opportunity to attend a Republican national convention, and they are expected to flock here in great numbers. They are already getting in line throughout the state to be in touch with their party organization. The guerrillas of the Flinn-Martin combine, who have no respect for party organization and who recognize the rules of the party only when it is to their personal interest to do so, are finding out that the young Republicans of this state do not propose to follow their selfish leadership, but that they are going along with the regulars and will be found working with them at the primary elections, and when the national convention meets they will come here in the ranks of the stalwart Republicans of Pennsylvania to march and cheer with stalwart Republicans from every state in the Union.

The occasion will be made one that will be memorable in the annals of stalwart Republican politics. With the presence of Chairman Hanna, Senator Platt, of New York, former National Chairman Carter, Senator Elkins, Senator Forsaker and others of the stalwart Republican leaders there will be an inspiration to the party loving Republicans of the Keystone state. The insurgents, caucus bolters and party wreckers will be entirely out of place at this gathering. The young Republicans of Pennsylvania will avail themselves of this exceptional opportunity to attend a Republican national convention, and they are expected to flock here in great numbers. They are already getting in line throughout the state to be in touch with their party organization. The guerrillas of the Flinn-Martin combine, who have no respect for party organization and who recognize the rules of the party only when it is to their personal interest to do so, are finding out that the young Republicans of this state do not propose to follow their selfish leadership, but that they are going along with the regulars and will be found working with them at the primary elections, and when the national convention meets they will come here in the ranks of the stalwart Republicans of Pennsylvania to march and cheer with stalwart Republicans from every state in the Union.

The occasion will be made one that will be memorable in the annals of stalwart Republican politics. With the presence of Chairman Hanna, Senator Platt, of New York, former National Chairman Carter, Senator Elkins, Senator Forsaker and others of the stalwart Republican leaders there will be an inspiration to the party loving Republicans of the Keystone state. The insurgents, caucus bolters and party wreckers will be entirely out of place at this gathering. The young Republicans of Pennsylvania will avail themselves of this exceptional opportunity to attend a Republican national convention, and they are expected to flock here in great numbers. They are already getting in line throughout the state to be in touch with their party organization. The guerrillas of the Flinn-Martin combine, who have no respect for party organization and who recognize the rules of the party only when it is to their personal interest to do so, are finding out that the young Republicans of this state do not propose to follow their selfish leadership, but that they are going along with the regulars and will be found working with them at the primary elections, and when the national convention meets they will come here in the ranks of the stalwart Republicans of Pennsylvania to march and cheer with stalwart Republicans from every state in the Union.

The occasion will be made one that will be memorable in the annals of stalwart Republican politics. With the presence of Chairman Hanna, Senator Platt, of New York, former National Chairman Carter, Senator Elkins, Senator Forsaker and others of the stalwart Republican leaders there will be an inspiration to the party loving Republicans of the Keystone state. The insurgents, caucus bolters and party wreckers will be entirely out of place at this gathering. The young Republicans of Pennsylvania will avail themselves of this exceptional opportunity to attend a Republican national convention, and they are expected to flock here in great numbers. They are already getting in line throughout the state to be in touch with their party organization. The guerrillas of the Flinn-Martin combine, who have no respect for party organization and who recognize the rules of the party only when it is to their personal interest to do so, are finding out that the young Republicans of this state do not propose to follow their selfish leadership, but that they are going along with the regulars and will be found working with them at the primary elections, and when the national convention meets they will come here in the ranks of the stalwart Republicans of Pennsylvania to march and cheer with stalwart Republicans from every state in the Union.

The occasion will be made one that will be memorable in the annals of stalwart Republican politics. With the presence of Chairman Hanna, Senator Platt, of New York, former National Chairman Carter, Senator Elkins, Senator Forsaker and others of the stalwart Republican leaders there will be an inspiration to the party loving Republicans of the Keystone state. The insurgents, caucus bolters and party wreckers will be entirely out of place at this gathering. The young Republicans of Pennsylvania will avail themselves of this exceptional opportunity to attend a Republican national convention, and they are expected to flock here in great numbers. They are already getting in line throughout the state to be in touch with their party organization. The guerrillas of the Flinn-Martin combine, who have no respect for party organization and who recognize the rules of the party only when it is to their personal interest to do so, are finding out that the young Republicans of this state do not propose to follow their selfish leadership, but that they are going along with the regulars and will be found working with them at the primary elections, and when the national convention meets they will come here in the ranks of the stalwart Republicans of Pennsylvania to march and cheer with stalwart Republicans from every state in the Union.

The occasion will be made one that will be memorable in the annals of stalwart Republican politics. With the presence of Chairman Hanna, Senator Platt, of New York, former National Chairman Carter, Senator Elkins, Senator Forsaker and others of the stalwart Republican leaders there will be an inspiration to the party loving Republicans of the Keystone state. The insurgents, caucus bolters and party wreckers will be entirely out of place at this gathering. The young Republicans of Pennsylvania will avail themselves of this exceptional opportunity to attend a Republican national convention, and they are expected to flock here in great numbers. They are already getting in line throughout the state to be in touch with their party organization. The guerrillas of the Flinn-Martin combine, who have no respect for party organization and who recognize the rules of the party only when it is to their personal interest to do so, are finding out that the young Republicans of this state do not propose to follow their selfish leadership, but that they are going along with the regulars and will be found working with them at the primary elections, and when the national convention meets they will come here in the ranks of the stalwart Republicans of Pennsylvania to march and cheer with stalwart Republicans from every state in the Union.

The occasion will be made one that will be memorable in the annals of stalwart Republican politics. With the presence of Chairman Hanna, Senator Platt, of New York, former National Chairman Carter, Senator Elkins, Senator Forsaker and others of the stalwart Republican leaders there will be an inspiration to the party loving Republicans of the Keystone state. The insurgents, caucus bolters and party wreckers will be entirely out of place at this gathering. The young Republicans of Pennsylvania will avail themselves of this exceptional opportunity to attend a Republican national convention, and they are expected to flock here in great numbers. They are already getting in line throughout the state to be in touch with their party organization. The guerrillas of the Flinn-Martin combine, who have no respect for party organization and who recognize the rules of the party only when it is to their personal interest to do so, are finding out that the young Republicans of this state do not propose to follow their selfish leadership, but that they are going along with the regulars and will be found working with them at the primary elections, and when the national convention meets they will come here in the ranks of the stalwart Republicans of Pennsylvania to march and cheer with stalwart Republicans from every state in the Union.

The occasion will be made one that will be memorable in the annals of stalwart Republican politics. With the presence of Chairman Hanna, Senator Platt, of New York, former National Chairman Carter, Senator Elkins, Senator Forsaker and others of the stalwart Republican leaders there will be an inspiration to the party loving Republicans of the Keystone state. The insurgents, caucus bolters and party wreckers will be entirely out of place at this gathering. The young Republicans of Pennsylvania will avail themselves of this exceptional opportunity to attend a Republican national convention, and they are expected to flock here in great numbers. They are already getting in line throughout the state to be in touch with their party organization. The guerrillas of the Flinn-Martin combine, who have no respect for party organization and who recognize the rules of the party only when it is to their personal interest to do so, are finding out that the young Republicans of this state do not propose to follow their selfish leadership, but that they are going along with the regulars and will be found working with them at the primary elections, and when the national convention meets they will come here in the ranks of the stalwart Republicans of Pennsylvania to march and cheer with stalwart Republicans from every state in the Union.

The occasion will be made one that will be memorable in the annals of stalwart Republican politics. With the presence of Chairman Hanna, Senator Platt, of New York, former National Chairman Carter, Senator Elkins, Senator Forsaker and others of the stalwart Republican leaders there will be an inspiration to the party loving Republicans of the Keystone state. The insurgents, caucus bolters and party wreckers will be entirely out of place at this gathering. The young Republicans of Pennsylvania will avail themselves of this exceptional opportunity to attend a Republican national convention, and they are expected to flock here in great numbers. They are already getting in line throughout the state to be in touch with their party organization. The guerrillas of the Flinn-Martin combine, who have no respect for party organization and who recognize the rules of the party only when it is to their personal interest to do so, are finding out that the young Republicans of this state do not propose to follow their selfish leadership, but that they are going along with the regulars and will be found working with them at the primary elections, and when the national convention meets they will come here in the ranks of the stalwart Republicans of Pennsylvania to march and cheer with stalwart Republicans from every state in the Union.

The occasion will be made one that will be memorable in the annals of stalwart Republican politics. With the presence of Chairman Hanna, Senator Platt, of New York, former National Chairman Carter, Senator Elkins, Senator Forsaker and others of the stalwart Republican leaders there will be an inspiration to the party loving Republicans of the Keystone state. The insurgents, caucus bolters and party wreckers will be entirely out of place at this gathering. The young Republicans of Pennsylvania will avail themselves of this exceptional opportunity to attend a Republican national convention, and they are expected to flock here in great numbers. They are already getting in line throughout the state to be in touch with their party organization. The guerrillas of the Flinn-Martin combine, who have no respect for party organization and who recognize the rules of the party only when it is to their personal interest to do so, are finding out that the young Republicans of this state do not propose to follow their selfish leadership, but that they are going along with the regulars and will be found working with them at the primary elections, and when the national convention meets they will come here in the ranks of the stalwart Republicans of Pennsylvania to march and cheer with stalwart Republicans from every state in the Union.

The occasion will be made one that will be memorable in the annals of stalwart Republican politics. With the presence of Chairman Hanna, Senator Platt, of New York, former National Chairman Carter, Senator Elkins, Senator Forsaker and others of the stalwart Republican leaders there will be an inspiration to the party loving Republicans of the Keystone state. The insurgents, caucus bolters and party wreckers will be entirely out of place at this gathering. The young Republicans of Pennsylvania will avail themselves of this exceptional opportunity to attend a Republican national convention, and they are expected to flock here in great numbers. They are already getting in line throughout the state to be in touch with their party organization. The guerrillas of the Flinn-Martin combine, who have no respect for party organization and who recognize the rules of the party only when it is to their personal interest to do so, are finding out that the young Republicans of this state do not propose to follow their selfish leadership, but that they are going along with the regulars and will be found working with them at the primary elections, and when the national convention meets they will come here in the ranks of the stalwart Republicans of Pennsylvania to march and cheer with stalwart Republicans from every state in the Union.