Many Persons Missing.

CHICAGO, March 12.—By the explosion of the boiler in the Doremus laundry, 458 West Madison street, vesterday 8 people were instantly killed, 29 were injured and several are missing.

The cause of the explosion has not been determined with accuracy as yet, and it will probably require an official investigation to settle the matter. It is known that the boiler was old, a second hand affair, and there is no record in the office of the city boiler inspector of any inspection having been made within the last year. Pending the verdict of the coroner's jury A. L. Doremus, the proprietor of the laundry, is held in custody by the police, and it is the intention of the authorities to institute criminal proceedings against him should the facts brought out at the investigation warrant such proceedings.

The list of dead and wounded was diffi-The list of dead and wounded was diffi-cult to secure. Reports of the number of dead in the ruins run all the way from 5 to 20. It is known that 36 employees of the laundry had entered the place be-fore the explosion, because the automatic timekeeper found in the ruins and which was not damaged showed that number of registered arrivals. Two or three were entering at the moment of the explosion, making an approximate total of 40 ementering at the moment of the explosion, making an approximate total of 40 employees in and around the building. The list of injured includes, however, several people residing in the adjoining buildings, nearly all of which were badly damaged. The most conservative estimate by the police concedes that at least three, dead or alive, are still in the ruins, set the search for bodies in the ruins came to a sudden end last night and the work of rescue was entirely abandoned.

came to a sudden end last night and the work of rescue was entirely abandoned.

The cause of the cessation of the search was a dispute between the firemen and police as to who was responsible for the recovery of any bodies which might be concealed beneath the debris. The firemen said they had performed their whole duty, and, gathering up their hose, they retired from the scene. The police said it was not their work to dig for bodies, and nobody else volunteered to do the work.

The explosion was one of almost unparalleled severity. For nearly two blocks up and down Madison street buildings were shattered by its force. Practically every window in these two blocks was broken, and the list of persons cut by falling glass will reach to 50 or more. Persons who were in bed in the near vicinity say they were hurled from their beds. Men in barrooms were dashed to the floors and covered with showers of glass. Passengers in street cars were thrown violently from their seats.

Good News For Miners.
PITTSBURG, March 12.—Private ad PITTSBURG, March 12.—Private advices to Pittsburgers announce the posting of notices late last evening by the Berwind-White Coal Mining company at Windber, Oscola Mills, Horatio and other points in the central Pennsylvania mising field as follows: "The average advance of 20 per cent in wages given our employees April 1, 1902." This notice affects about 10,000 men, all told, and is of the utmost importance in central Pennsylvania mining operations. The action of the company continues in effect the highest rate of wages ever paid in the central Pennsylvania field.

Nation Jury Disagreed.
WICHITA, Kan., March 12.—The jurors in Mrs. Nation's case, after having been out since last Saturday afternoon, were called before Judge Dawe in the district court yesterday and asked if they had agreed upon a verdict. They said they had not. The vote stood seven for conviction and five for acquittal. The disagreement was caused by the fact that two women charged in the complaint as smashing the saloon windows with Mrs. Nation took no active part in the smashing, and one could not be acquitted unless all were. A new trial will be ordered.

Another Tax Bill Up—Governor Vetoes Four Bills.

ALBANY, March 12.—Senator Krum last night added another bill to the rapidly increasing list of tax measures. This time it is a bill to tax private bankers 1 per cent on their capital stock and surplus. The assembly, with a full attendance, considered a very heavy calendar with many important bills upon it. Mr. Bryan's bill fixing the punishment for murder at life imprisonment was advanced to third reading without debate. The three bills taxing insurance companies, banks and trust companies went over until today.

Governor Odell sent four veto messages to the legislature. The bills vetoed were: Senator Slater's, extending the powers of "the trustees of scenic and historic places and objects;" Senator Hill's, changing the name of the Niagara Fire Insurance company; Senator Doughty's, authorizing the town authorities of Nassau county to have their records recopied; Senator Doughty's, providing for reimbursement of the sheriff of Nassau county for expenses incurred by him.

Maryland Battot Law Opposed.

ANNAPOLIS, March 12.—Twenty-two members of the Reform league of Baltimore came down yesterday to protest before the joint committee on legislation against a favorable report on the new ballot bill, which if passed will result in the disfranchisement of about 50,000 illiterate voters, most of whom are negroes. They were granted a hearing in the senate chamber, and for nearly four hours their spokesmen argued against the provisions of the bill. Charles J. Bonaparte, the principal speaker on behalf of the league, denounced the proposed law as being wholly bad from beginning to end, some parts of it being posed law as being wholly bad from be-ginning to end, some parts of it being worse than others. Furthermore, he de-clared the entire scheme to be unconsti-tutional and cited numerous decisions to sustain this contention. Other speakers

Insurgent Boss Will Now Be Obliterated From Allegheny County Politics.

REPUBLICAN REORGANIZATION REGUN

Passing Away of the Pittsburg Lead er Will Have a Far Reaching Effec Upon the Insurgent Organization and Will Mean Its Elimination From Practical Politics in Penn

(Special Correspondence.)

Harrisburg, March 12.—Naturally the effect of the death of Senator C. L. Magee upon the politics of Pennsylvania, and especially of Allegheny county, is being discussed by those who take an active interest in the Republican organization. The late Senator Magee was unquestionably the ablest and strongest of those Republicans who saw fit to join the insurgent movement in the contest over the United States senatorship which was waged in this state for over four years. Magee, until within a few days of the end of the great deadlock, remained within the Republican ranks and voted for the Republican caucus nominee. Then he insisted that a senator should be elected. While either unable or unwilling to get the followers of Flinn, of Allegheny, into line for the caucus nominee, he with his personal following at home and a few others in the state bolted the caucus and joined the insurgents. He continued his associations with the insurgents until the time of his death.

There are those who believe that had it not been for his physical condition. (he was in the hands of surgeons and physicians for the last two years) Magee would never have taken the course ophysicians for the last two years) Magee would never have taken the course he did. It is declared that he was influenced by Flinn and others, who were playing a game of selfish politics, and cared nothing for Magee's record for consistent Republicanism.

STONE'S TRIBUTE TO MAGEE.

STONE'S TRIBUTE TO MAGEE.

Since Magee has passed away full credit has been given him by his political opponents of the last few years for the noble traits in his character and his great work of charity.

Governor Stone, in commenting upon his death, among other things said:

"There is no man in Pennsylvania whose death could cause more grief and be a greater public loss than that of Senator Magee. He was an honest, fearless, able man, who built up his own record, and who leaves behind him a great host of personal friends, who, upon many occasions, have experienced evidences of his friendship, and who will cherish his memory with the most sincere gratitude. In a private way, without attracting the attention of the public, he did much for charity and much for the poor—more than many whose names are extolled for public beneficence. I have always admired him, have always respected him, and feel in his death a personal loss."

With the death of Magee the insur-With the death of Magee the insurgents lost their ablest leader.
Flinn should naturally be called upon to take his place, but he is utterly unfitted for leadership. He has the instincts of the slave driver, and cannot command the friendship of men who are associated with him in a political cause. He is domineering, dictatorial and inconsiderate of the feelings of others. He has made enemies in every move he has undertaken during the last few years, and he has done the cause with which he has been asthe last few years, and he has done the cause with which he has been as-sociated great injury in many ways.

REVOLUTION DUE IN ALLEGHENY The passing away of Magee will result in a political revolution in Allesult in a political revolution in Allegheny county. Flinn would like to take his place as the leader of the organization which Magee spent years to build up and strengthen, but he can never fill the role. He has enemies in every ward in Pittsburg, who are influential in their respective localities, and who are only waiting an opportunity to close their accounts with him. They will follow almost anybody but Flinn in the proposed reorganization of the party. They are not necessarily supporters of Col. Quay in state politics, but they would gladly join hands with him to prevent Flina from coming to the front.

THE END IS NEAR.

Philadelphia started in the work of obliterating the insurgents from the face of the political map of Pennsylvania, and David Martin has oractically been relegated to private life. His present following is too small to be considered a factor in state politics. Now that Flinn is to be turned down in his home stronghold, there will be nothing left but a few fragments of the insurgent organization in the state.

Representative Chew, of Philadelphia, has introduced a bill in the house which would bring out the "stay at home" citizens on election day. It provides that every qualified voter shall vote at all primary and general elections or be subject to a fine of $5 or ten days imprisonment. Sickness or absence from the county are the only excuses that will stand. It also makes "nominating day"—the day on which primary elections are held—a legal holliday. BALLOT REFORM COMING.

The subject of ballot reform will be considered by members of the legislature here this week. The several bills introduced in the senate and the house on this subject will be taken up and carefully considered. Col. Quay has requested the Democratic leaders to submit a bill, and he believes that if they are sincere in their professions for ballot reform there should be not difficulty in reaching an agreement upon a bill, which will meet every reasonable demand for ballot reform. Senator Quay says that he is in favor of putting every safeguard necessary around the voting system to insure a secret ballot, a correct count and a true return of the votes as cast. No one should ask for more.

There is, however, a small element of so-called radical independents who want the circle at the top of the officials ballot eliminated, but Republicans and Democrats alike who believe the method of voting a party ticket should be made as easy as possible, demand that some such opportunity to vote a straight ticket with one mark shall be given the voters.
