HOT SHOT FOR THE OPPOSITION

Union Party Scored and Reasons Given Why Republicans Should Stand By the Party's Colors This Fall.

Two Republican editors, one from the northwestern section of the state and the other from the east, have just expressed themselves forcibly on the present political situation.

"The voters throughout the state who have kept themselves posted upon political affairs of Pennsylvania," says The North East Breeze of Erie county, "cannot be hoodwinked or misled by this high sounding and misleading title of 'The Union Party'.

"Wanamaker has associated with himself political soreheads that have been cast off from the rank and file of both the Republican and Democratic parties. Defeated in every effort to procure office, they instigated a movement to besmirch and throw discredit upon each of the old parties, and their leaders, by using the columns of their yellow journals, owned and controlled by their leader, John Wanamaker."

HISTORY OF THE CONSPIRACY. The history of this conspiracy dates back to the memorable campaign when John Wanamaker announced himself as a candidate for the United States senatorship. Up to this time it was supposed that Wanamaker was a Republican; but being outgeneraled and out-voted by Boies Penrose, he took his defeat in a manner that soon developed the fact that at heart he was a factionist, and had never been a Republican in reality.

"From that time up to the present he and his followers of the worst political element in the state have carried on a political war of the rule or ruin policy, and with a record that will present itself to them through all time as a disgrace to honest politics and the fair name of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania."

REPUBLICANS WILL TRIUMPH.

"We are confident in the belief that all of the candidates of the Republican party, regularly and unanimously nominated by the recent state convention," declares the Lebanon Courier, "will be elected in November by splendid majorities, despite all the efforts of recreant Republicans to bring about their defeat."

"During the course of the campaign the Courier will earnestly and loyally extend its editorial support to the full Republican ticket. The Courier defines its position thus unmistakably because its owes to its Republicanism, to its large circle of readers and to itself a manly and straightforward expression of its policy. We have nothing but contempt for the trimmers, the sneaking, smock-faced, milk-livered Bob Acres of journalism, who fear to speak their drivelling thoughts because, forsooth, their opinions might in some quarters meet disapprobation. The Courier has always believed, and believes now, that the only course open to a self-respecting, patriotic American citizen and to an honest, reputable American newspaper, is to bear an open and courageous part in all questions of public interests--an obligation, and one of the very first obligations of American citizenship."

FOR STALWART REPUBLICANISM.

"In the course of the next few months we will give frequent utterance to our views of the political struggle which will engage the attention of the people of this state, and will not hesitate to speak its judgment without mincing any words in the expression of its firm convictions. There are those--probably not in great numbers, locally--who will be in open antagonism to the position we have thus plainly assumed--and they will surely be exercising only their unquestionable right. This paper will abuse no one because of any possible party affiliation. If we speak of the motives of the men responsible for the new prop-
