DESPITE THE OPPOSITION OF JOHN WANAMAKER, COL. JAMES E. BARNETT WAS ELECTED STATE TREASURER BY 92,417 MAJORITY OVER ALL THE VOTES CAST FOR THE DEMOCRATIC AND PROHIBITION CANDIDATES.

In 1900, John Wanamaker, with Major McKinley, Republican candidate for President, and with every loyal Republican Pennsylvanian seeking to cement the party lines and roll up as large a majority as possible, traveled the state night and day preaching the doctrine of party treachery and advocating the election of Democrats and bolting Republicans running on Fusion tickets for the legislature, which the Republicans of the entire union were eager to have elect a Republican to the United States senate, with the control of the United States senate then in serious doubt.

As in the case of two years before, money was spent lavishly from the Wanamaker headquarters to defeat regularly nominated Republican candidates for the legislature. In 1898, the Wanamaker-Democratic-Fusion campaign had succeeded in deadlocking the legislature by a combination supported by the followers of John Wanamaker and James M. Guffey, the member of the Democratic National committee from Pennsylvania. It was the hope of Wanamaker and Guffey that enough Republican candidates for the legislature would be defeated to make it impossible to elect the choice of the Republican caucus for the United States senatorship.

DESPITE JOHN WANAMAKER'S OPPOSITION THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE, JAMES S. BEACOM, WAS ELECTED STATE TREASURER BY A PLURALITY OF 129,717.

In 1898 John Wanamaker was a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor for Pennsylvania, but when he saw defeat was inevitable, withdrew in favor of another minority candidate. When the Hon. William A. Stone, at that time received the nomination for governor, John Wanamaker stumped the state against the Republican organization and in the closing days of the canvass his followers turned in for the election of George A. Jenks, the Democratic candidate.

DESPITE JOHN WANAMAKER'S OPPOSITION HON. WILLIAM A. STONE, THE REPUBLICAN NOMINEE, WAS ELECTED GOVERNOR BY A PLURALITY OF 117,906.

FOUGHT A BRAVE SOLDIER.

In 1899, John Wanamaker opposed the election of Colonel James E. Barnett, the Republican nominee for state treasurer, a brave soldier, who had just returned from the Philippines in command of the famous "Fighting" Tenth Pennsylvania regiment.

Throughout this campaign John Wanamaker traveled in a special car from county to county doing everything in his power to aid in the election of William T. Creasy, the Democratic nominee for state treasurer, a Bourbon Democrat of the most rampant type, and at present chairman of the Democratic state committee.

REPUBLICANS ARE AGGRESSIVE.

The leaders of the Republican organization challenge John Wanamaker to come out into the open and give to the citizens of Philadelphia reasons why the Republican nominee for district attorney, John Weaver, should not be elected, and why his private counsel, Mr. Rothermel, should be retained in the office for another term, and to the people of the state why any Republican should now desert his party's standard-bearers.

The party leaders have every confidence in the loyalty and patriotism of the Republicans of Pennsylvania.

The recent sad taking off of our beloved President has cast a shadow of sorrow and gloom over the whole country.

In this Gibraltar of Republicanism the thoughts of every loyal Republican naturally go out toward the strengthening of the hands of the new President and the giving of assurance that Republican Pennsylvania vehemently condemns the dastardly work of these who helped to spread the damnable doctrine of anarchy or sought to stay the hands of those who would throttle disciples of violence and assassination.

It is the confident belief of the Republican leaders that when the election returns shall be received on the night of November 5, next, the grand old Quaker City and glorious Keystone state at large will be found to have recorded an unprecedented majority for each of the candidates upon the Republican ticket, and thus emphasize to the world the fact that the Republicans of Pennsylvania are still true to the party of Sumner, Lincoln, Grant, Blaine, Garfield and McKinley, and will give undivided support to the administration of President Roosevelt, upon whose shoulders the burdens of government have been placed.
