A Beautiful Resort Menaced by an Ugly Disappearing in Various Localities

To the city resident who lives shut in between brick and stone walls for sents ideal conditions. The needs should be the prime factor in municipal and individual action. Withto conceive of empty hotels and va- any more. cant streets as has come to pass in tains and other summer resorts. It will not do to depend on natural conditions only, nor do the summer visitors prefer to come from one town simply to another.

A distinguished writer has said that "water is to the landscape what the eyes are to the face" and in the move to obliterate the Lilley Pond is a pretty good illustration of that fact. While it is all right to get rid of its objectionable features its entire destruction is an unpardonable sin. iting. It is fortunate that circumstances have halted the vandalism for this one season, at least, while it leaves an extremely ugly front door for the time being.

More than fifteen years ago in response to oft repeated queries as to why it was impossible to sustain any large numbers of fish in the Lake, the writer secured the services of a fish expert who spent considerable time here investigating conditions as they existed then. The conclusion was that the waters of the Lake proper were absolutely so pure that they furnished no sustenance for fish life. If placed in the water they would simply feed on each other. In addition to this the rocky shores of the Lake, while one of its striking elements of beauty, supplied no attractive spawning place. At that time the outlet of the Lake was arranged as it is now and the space below it was, just as it is now, a marsh. Our expert advised the construction of a dam that would flood this space and promised us that the fish would thrive. After events proved the correctness of his theory and the thousands of fish that have been taken since have been incontrovertible arguments for the continuance of the conditions he advised. Albeit the best use has not been made of the resulting advantages as the fish were simply harvested by our residents instead of being preserved for the gratification of the people whose coming makes Eagles Mere.

If any demonstration were needed to prove the correctness of this hypothesis the fish themselves have furnished it in the most striking fashion. Accustomed to going down there to spawn they have remem-bred how they went and have act-areas of cultivated lands, interspersed with paim groves. The casis of Dakhla little outlet and over the obstacles only to be caught in the ditch below. Transplanting Big Trees

Transplanting big Trees. The transplanting of big trees on the world's fair site at St. Louis is an in teresting work. A deep trench is cu around the tree four or five feet from its base and the earth dug away beneath Then a huge truck is backed up to the tree and securely fastened. The entir tree, forty or fifty feet high, is the tipped over on to the truck and anothe pair of wheels attached in front. Then with sufficient teams to pull the heavy load, the tree is drawn to the plac where wanted and restored to an up right position. Much care is required in the work, and the trees will receiv constant attention until again rooted.

Water In the Libyan Desert.

There are places in the great Libyat desert that have an abundant supply o water, obtained from an underground bed of sandstone. The water comes to the surface through wells from 450 to Capital.

Pennsylvania's Oldest Citizen Buried. Susquehanna, Pa., Feb. 10 .- The funeral of Dr. Henry Corson, of Forest City, Pa., aged 108 years, took place yesterday, with interment at Thomp-son. He was born at Camden, N. J., March 15, 1794, and was at the time of his death undoubtedly the oldest person in Pennsylvania. He practiced medicine in Susquehanna county, Pa., for 75 years. He began the study of medicine in Philadelphia in 1812.
