CONGRESSMEN CHOSEN

Republicans Will Control the House By Narrow Margin.

DEMOCRATS MADE BIG GAINS

To Obtain a Majority They Had to Secure 78 Votes in the North and West, and Latest Reports Leaves Them 16 Short, With 26 Districts to Be Heard From.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Although the returns from the doubtful congressional districts were slow in arriving, the indications are that the Republicans will control the next house of representatives by a narrow margin. In the present house, with a membership of 357, the Republicans have 41 majority. Under the new apportionment the 58th house will consist of 386 members, a majority of which is 194. The 13 southern states, not counting West Virginia, but including Missouri, have 125 representatives. The Democrats have carried 116 of the districts and the Republicans probably five, two in Tennessee, one in Kentucky and two in Missouri, with two in North Carolina, one in Virginia and one in Alabama doubtful, according to the latest returns.

To obtain a majority in the next house it was necessary, therefore, for the Democrats to secure 78 votes in the north and west. In this territory they have at present 52 representatives. The latest returns indicate that this strength has been held, with the exception of one seat each from Idaho, Montana and Nevada, as to which the returns are inconclusive. Adding 49 to 116 gives the Democrats 165.

The returns show the Democrats have made a gain of three in Pennsylvania, one in Nebraska, one in Delaware, one in Wisconsin, two in Maryland, one in Colorado and probably four in New York, swelling to total to 178. This leaves them 16 short of a majority, with the result in five doubtful southern districts to be heard from and 21 doubtful districts in the north and west to be heard from.

The latest returns add one Democrat in New Jersey, one in Minnesota, one in Illinois, one in Alabama and two in North Carolina to the Democratic representation, a total of six. But two of the gains credited to the Democrats in Pennsylvania should properly be set down as Fusion Republicans, making the Democrats actually elected by the returns thus far received 184, with the doubtful districts in Minnesota having gone Democratic, the one in Kansas Republican, Kansas having gone solidly Republican, and the one in Iowa Republican. Three of the four doubtful southern districts went Democratic.

THE UNITED STATES SENATE

It Will Be Republican By About Sixteen Majority.

Washington, Nov. 5.—The next United States senate will be Republican by at least 16 majority, against the present majority of 20. The present senate contains 54 Republicans and 34 Democrats, in a total of 90 seats, there being two vacancies from Delaware, where the Republican legislature failed to elect. The terms of 30 senators expire with the present congress. There is also a vacancy from Michigan, caused by the death of Senator McMillan. Of these 31 seats to be filled, not including the two from Delaware, but including the McMillan vacancy, 19 are now Republican and 12 are Democratic. Wellington, of Maryland being classified as a Republican and Harris, of Kansas; McLaurin, of South Carolina, and Teller, of Colorado, as Democrats. Four Democrats and three Republicans, therefore, already are elected, leaving 16 Republican and eight Democratic seats to be filled.

The legislature in Oregon is Republican. Including Delaware, therefore, 25 senators will be elected by the legislature chosen yesterday. Of these the Republicans carried 13 and the Democrats seven. This insures 52 Republicans and 34 Democrats in the next senate. The result of the contests, owing to the meagre returns, is still in doubt in Nevada, Idaho, Utah and Colorado, with the chances favoring the election of Democratic legislatures in Colorado, Idaho and Nevada, and a Republican legislature in Utah. If these probabilities should be realized the senate will stand 53 Republicans and 37 Democrats, a loss of four majority for the Republicans, compared with the present political division.

Against this abnormal situation Senator McLaurin appeals. He does not ask the white men of South Carolina to join the Republican party. He recognizes that the social prejudice against the very name is too strong. But he does ask them not to exclude from their consideration the most important and vital economic issues of the day merely because the Republican party first took up these issues and made them national.

That Senator McLaurin will succeed in thus reorganizing the Democratic party of his state is doubtful. He has the right idea, but appears to lack the force to realize it with himself as leader. Yet his is an idea that in time must prevail, and though he may experience personal defeat, his work will live on and be fruitful in the end.—Chicago Inter Ocean.
