Mr. and Mrs. James Brown of Reading spent Sunday with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B.
Ritter.

Mr. Erastus Yeagle, who has been at the Williamsport Hospital for treatment, has returned home much improved.

John Hassin Jr. left Thursday for Reading, where he will be examined for a position on the Reading railroad as fireman.

Mr. Fred Miller returned from New York where he spent the winter, and opened his summer home on Muncy street, on Saturday.

W. A. Rosencrants has purchased the Armstrong residence on West Main street, which was formerly the home of Jesse Little, and took possession last week. Mr.
Rosencrants will erect a stove and turned wood factory at this place.
The location has not yet been decided upon, but it is thought that the plant will be situated near the railroad station. The timber to be manufactured will come from Mr. M. E. Reeder's land along Mill Creek. The factory will be in operation by the latter part of July.

Geo. Karge of Ringdale, experienced a narrow escape from breaking one of his horse's legs last week while driving over the corduroy road near the boarding house at Lake Mokoma. The animal's foot was caught between the widely separated timbers causing it to stumble and fall. Before the foot could be released it was necessary to procure an axe and cut away a portion of the wood close to the horse's foot.

The body of Mrs. Emily Andrews, widow of the late John Andrews, was found in the Loyal Sock creek, near Reeder's camp, on Sunday morning. She escaped from the home of her son, Willis Snyder, with whom she had been living, and committed suicide by drowning.

Mrs. Andrews had been in poor health for the last three years, and prolonged suffering which failed to yield to continued treatment, caused her to grow desperately melancholy.
For the past year she has threatened to take her life, and a constant watch was kept over her to prevent her from doing so. On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Snyder drove to Forks ville to visit friends where they remained all night. The home was left in the care of Mrs. Andrews and four well grown children of Mr.
Snyder's family. The young people entertained some of their friends at a party that evening which kept them up until a late hour. Before retiring, the children locked the doors securely and cared for the keys as was customary so that Mrs.
Andrews could not escape from the house during the night. The building being a low one, Mrs. Andrews made her escape by jumping from the attic window. When the breakfast had been prepared on Sunday morning it was discovered that Mrs.
Andrews was not about the house.
An investigation soon discovered foot prints leading to the banks of the creek but a few rods away. She traveled down the stream for some distance to a deep hole where her tracks were traceable to the waters edge. Her lifeless body had floated several rods to a shallow place in the creek where it lodged, and lay in full view of the horrified searchers.
An apron tied about her head served as a hood. Aside from this she wore no out-of-door clothing, showing that she had evidently hurried from the house to the creek.

Coroner McHenry of Dushore was summoned. He empaneled the following jury: Jeremiah Haus, J. E.
Little, A. L. Norterup, Mahlon Williams, Harry Williams and P.
S. Wardell. A verdict of suicide was rendered.

The remains were taken to Nord-mont, her former home, where funeral services were held on Tuesday.

A reception was tendered to Rev. Irvin Fisher and wife at their home last Friday evening. The Ladies' Aid Society of the Baptist church had the matter in charge and entertained most royally. The new pastor and wife are comfortably settled in their new home.

While driving down the plank road to Willis Snyder's camp, on Sunday last, Mr. and Mrs. Ed.
Schrader had their attention attracted by the screams of a child short distance below Emerson Hig-ley's home. Mr. Schrader hurried to the place where the child was heard and found little Raymond Higley at the waters edge screaming with fright at the misfortune of his younger brother, Boyd, who had accidently fallen into the creek where quite deep. Mr. Schrader saw the child come to the surface, and hurried to its rescue just in time to save the child from drowning.

SONESTOWN.

Magargle and Mrs. C. A. Starr attended the funeral of Mrs. E. Andrews, at Nordmont on Tuesday.

Mrs. J. Stackhouse was in Glen Mawr, on Tuesday.

A reception will be held in the M.
E. Church for the new pastor, H. K.
Ash, on Friday evening, this week.

Miss Emma Biddle of Dushore, spent Sunday with Miss Myrtle Edgar.

Schools are closing now. Anna Speary at Glidewells, and M. D.
Sweeney at Sugar Grove closed their schools last week, while the schools of town have about three days yet.

Miss Rita Armstrong spent Sunday at Strawbridge.

Mrs. H. Parker returned last week from Danville, where she attended the funeral of her sister.

Miss Agnes Upman will place on sale a beautiful assortment of millinery goods in the parlor of A. H.
Buschhausen's residence, on Monday April 20. An entirely new line of charming hats in varying styles and most attractive trimmings will be sold at remarkably low prices. Come
