MAKING A GRANGE PROSPER

State Master S. H. Derby of Delaware suggests how it should be done. Grange meetings to arouse and keep interest must observe certain rules. No grange can live on its reputation. Observing the order of business doing nothing else is a sure way of killing all enthusiasm and finally destroying the grange. A program well considered for the particular needs of a grange should be published before the meeting, and no meeting should be held without having a program.

Each member of a grange should contribute something for the good of the order no matter how poor the object or how poorly prepared. Each to grow must do something and do the best he or she knows how. The master is responsible for the well being of each member, and on him is the command to see that each has his assigned.

There is need of trained young men in business, in legislative halls, everywhere—men who know the need of the hour, men who can think and purpose, men who work by system make every move count for something. Such training the grange should give to those who study its constitution and rules and who enter into helpful grange work. I appeal to the masters of subordinate granges, you so lay out the work that each profit by it.—E. S. H. Derby.

National Secretary's Report

National Grange Secretary C. Freeman reports the following statement of new granges organized from Oct. 1, 1903: New granges, 1,000; reorganized, 1,000; total, 2,000. Granges organized from Oct. 1, 1901, to March 31, 1903, 147; reorganized from same period, 153.

Granges reorganized from Oct. 1, 1902, to March 31, 1903: Colorado, 2; Illinois, 1; Kansas, 3; Kentucky, 3; Maine, 2; Massachusetts, 3; Maryland, 1; Michigan, 9; Minnesota, 1; New Jersey, 8; West Virginia, 1; total, 42. Total reorganized same period one year ago, 45.

The Future of Agriculture

As I view the future of agriculture in America the organization of farmers is a necessity for their success. Investigation, the taking, reading, and writing for the agricultural press is a matter of necessity and duty if we cannot ignore or escape the American farmer's position in the industrial world of our matchless countryman Aaron Jones, Master National Grange.

Grange Auspices

The Connecticut Dairymen's association, by invitation of Lyme, held an institute at Hamburg a large attendance. Vice President gave an address on "The Future of Cattle Feeding in New England," retary Noble on "Dairying," Prof. L. A. Clinton, "How to Increase Production of the Dairy," Cattle Commissioner Averill, "Foot and Mouth Disease."

A noble trinity—the church, school and the grange. All are working for the uplift of humanity.

A grange was recently organized in Strafford, N. H., with sixty-two members, twenty-six of whom named Foss.

Stick close to foundation principles. The grange needs workers.

Cleveland's Strength.
The New York World is actively booming Cleveland for the Democratic nomination for president next year and says that "the whole question resolves itself into this: What other Democrat is as strong as Cleveland?" It considers that there is none. And yet it wishes "he could wipe from his record the bond syndicate chapter and the shocking page of the Venezuelan message." But among the masses his "shocking Venezuelan message" would probably be his greatest strength, while everywhere his bond syndicate deal is regarded with loathing and disgust. The World says that Mr. Cleveland is WEAK, IRREGULAR, PAINFUL HEARTS.

Sometimes the heart grows irregular—the seat of pain and pressure. People are apt to think it due to some organic or structural disease of that organ, when the cause is comparatively simple—a weakened motor power—a trouble wholly due to the nervous system, perhaps aggravated by a nervous dyspepsia. Put the nervous system right—give it strength and tone—supply through its medium the heart with power and the stomach with digestive juices and the trouble fades like snow in a summer sun. It is for this wonderful power Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are world famous.

Martin Weasner of 1017 Franklin St., Williamsport, Pa., says: "During the past five or six years I have been subject to nervousness and palpitation of the heart and shortness of breath. I did not rest well at night and any unusual exertion would upset me. I was advised to use Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills, I got some and they proved to be just what I wanted. The medicine quieted and regulated the action of the heart—made the nerves strong and steady—the breathing easy and gave me a general feeling of energy and vigor. As a result I have no hesitancy in recommending it to others." 50 cents a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W.
