Vine Terry of Ricketts was a Laporte visitor the early part of the week.

Miss Eliza Shaut is home from a few days visit with friends in Towanda.

Miss Emma Spencer is visiting with friends and relatives in Williamsport this week.

Mrs. Wm. Finkle and children, Miss Pearl and Master Floyd, of New Orange, N. J., are visiting Laporte friends.

The Laporte stove factory completed its work of jointing the stock of staves in the factory yard on Tuesday.

Hon. M. J. Phillips was a county seat visitor Wednesday. The appetite he displayed at the M. E. lawn supper attested to his present good health.

Mrs. Mapes and daughter, and John Whitbeck add wife visited Mrs. E. C. Potter at Hughesville over Sunday.

Mrs. Margaret Mapes received a severe blow on her forehead by being struck with a piece of wood which she was cutting Wednesday.

Sir Thomas Lipton has furnished the American people with a fine example of a good loser.

The weather prophet who predicted "prolonged drouths" for this summer has been drowned out.

The European squadron, which has been ordered to Beirut, consists of three vessels, the Brooklyn, San Francisco and Machias, with combined crews of 1,051 officers and men.

To advertise once is better than to never advertise at all, because one time, if it is done properly, takes the kinks out and paves the way for the second time.

An exchange advises its lady readers to have their weather eyes open and a club ready for a peddler of table linen that is not linen neither is it worth what is asked for it.

Late arrivals at the Mountain House are Mrs. J. B. Duple, Mrs. Mabel Sheeley, Master Quimby Sheeley of Williamsport; Mr. L. Newton Smith and wife of Philadelphia.

The Rosencrans Mfg. Co. began operating their turned wood plant at this place on Wednesday. The power is furnished by a 6 horse gasoline engine of the Fairbank pattern which is working handsomely and greatly pleases its owners.

Extensive preparations are being made by the Local United Mine Workers of America for a celebration at Mildred on Labor Day. Prominent Labor leaders will be present to discuss the labor and capital problem of the day.

H. L. Cole and wife in answer to a telegram received at Elmira, returned to Laporte over Sunday to visit Mrs. Cole's uncle, Abner Chandler, a stock raiser of Belloit, Iowa, who spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Rosencrans.

A thousand deer are to be liberated from a private park in Monroe county, in a few days. The animals have multiplied so rapidly that they will starve unless given their liberty. Eleven years ago nineteen deer were placed in the park, which covers thousands of acres. The animals have multiplied so rapidly that they now number over 2,000.

It is said that the sandy condition of the road alone prevented the wheels from cutting the boy's body in twain.

Farmers report that the potatoes are rotting in many sections of the county. The blight which is causing the rotting of the tubers first attacks the stalks which begin to wither and die at the top and in a few days the potatoes begin decay. Some farmers think the cold nights have caused blight while others believe it is caused by the wet weather.

Chicago now boasts of a women's detective bureau. The new enterprise will doubtless develop a lot of talent that is going to waste in sewing circles.

The Chicago man who is offering his first wife's costly tombstone for sale at reduced rates as it stands on the family lot, is said to be unduly under the influence of his second wife.

The Rev. Chas. A. Brewster, of Florida, who is at present visiting Eagles Mere, will administer the Holy Communion and preach at the morning service in the Episcopal Church next Sunday. All are welcome to this service.

A sad accident occurred at Jamison City on Wednesday, August 19, by which the seven year old son of Samuel Secules, until recently a resident of Muncy Valley, received fatal injuries. The boy was riding on an empty bark wagon with his father and several other workmen, and when the rapidly moving wagon gave a sudden lurch the boy was thrown to the ground under the wagon, the hind wheels passing over his body, breaking the ribs and otherwise injuring him, from the effects of which he died the following Monday.

The stage route from Laporte to Forksville, via Eagles Mere, established over fifty years ago, will be discontinued on October 5th and a new route established between the two points by the Loyal Sock road, making the distance five miles less, a much easier road for travel and serving a greater number of people with rural free delivery along the line. The department has posted notices for bids for the carrying of the mail on the new route. The schedule time will be to leave Laporte post office at 8:45 a. m. arriving at railroad station at 9:00 where another pouch will be received from the mail clerk on the train, starting for Forksville at 9:30 arriving there at noon. Returning leave Forksville at 1 p. m. arriving at Laporte at 3:30. Bids will be received until Sept. 15. Bond required $900.

The bookbinders' union has filed its charges against William Miller, their expelled member who was reinstated by order of the President. The burthen of the charge is that Miller was illegally married some twenty-five years ago and, although he has lived happily with his wife ever since, it is claimed that he cannot therefore, properly bind books. As Hamlet sayeth, "Treat a man according to his deserts and who would escape hanging," and as Kipling says, "We are all of us liars, are half of us thieves and the rest are as rank as can be."

Beginning on Tuesday, September 1, the retail coal dealers advanced the price of all sizes of coal, except pea coal, ten cents a ton, according to the schedule arranged by the coal companies last spring. It is not unlikely that there will be a raise in pea coal before winter sets in. The consumer for the past two years has been compelled to pay several advances in price of coal, amounting altogether to more than a dollar on a ton.

Hydrophobia has broken out in the herd of cattle of a farmer of Montour county, and last week it was necessary for him to kill his fifth cow. Four were killed the previous week, all showing every symptom of the rabies. The disease is supposed to have been caused by a mad dog which ran amuck through that section some weeks ago and which was killed later. It was feared then that some of the cattle had been bitten, and the death of the aforesaid cattle proves that their fears were only too true.

The State Department at Harrisburg has for some time been engaged in the preparation of a ballot in accordance with the new law passed by the last legislature. The matter was placed in the hands of Chief Clerk Thorn, and after a thorough study of the law he has prepared a ballot which it is thought conforms to every provision. The new ballot contains all the party names in the first column, instead of at the top of separate columns as formerly. The offices to be filled follow in columns, the name of every candidate for each office to be voted for being under the head of that office. A candidate's name is on the ballot but once, but the name of every party which nominated him is set opposite that one name. The circle is eliminated, but a square answers the same purpose, and there are no separate columns for each party. It has the effect of shortening the ballot, and the same candidate of more than one party can occupy but one place on it.
