

Weak

Heart From Attack of LaGrippe.

Palpitation, Smothering, Short Breath.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Me.

The terrible after effects of LaGrippe are most dangerous when they attack the heart, the engine of life. Weak hearts are as common as weak stomachs and when an attack is made upon the weak heart, that organ soon becomes a diseased heart and the patient will unless promptly treated, suffer long and eventually die of heart disease, the dread of millions. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure strengthens and regulates the heart's action, enriches the blood and improves the circulation.

"Some years ago I had an attack of the grip, and it left me with a very weak heart. Palpitation, shortness of breath and smothering spells that made me sit up in bed to breathe, robbing me of sleep, made me most miserable. I would become fatigued and exhausted from the least exertion and was in such a critical condition that I could not attend to my business. My physician seemed unable to control my case, and instead of getting better I was gradually growing weaker every day. Then I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and after I had used two bottles I was greatly improved. I continued with the remedy until I had taken in all six bottles, when I was able to attend to business without inconvenience. I was completely and permanently cured of heart trouble by Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers from that terrible affliction."—H. H. EHLE, Gloversville, N. Y.

THE GRANGE RITUAL.

Its Beautiful Teaching Unappreciated by Most Patrons.

The American Grange Bulletin touches upon a very important matter in the following article. It says: As members of the grange we frequently boast of the teachings of our ritual. What is the best thing in it? Don't answer without thinking. Perhaps you hadn't thought. Possibly you know very little about the ritual—and you are an officer, a teacher in the grange! And if you, with your opportunities and responsibilities, must hesitate and confess to yourself that you know very little about the matter, how do you suppose your new members would be able to answer the question?

Here is a suggestion, not for this week or next, but for a suitable time this month or next, or some other month. Plan a ritual programme. Ask a dozen members to select the best sentence from the ritual and be prepared to repeat it and give reasons for thinking it the best. Ask three others to read the ritual for the purpose of being able to judge which of the dozen answers is best. The decision may be based on the selection alone, on the selection and the explanation, or on the explanation alone.

The important thing is to get your members interested in searching for the choice things in the grange ritual. Mere memorizing without regard to thought will amount to little, but the good things are worth committing, even if the lessons they should teach are not appreciated at the time. The getting by heart with the idea of understanding the meaning as well as the order of the words will do good, besides being an interesting exercise and a valuable discipline.

In 1850 the value of manufactured products in the United States was, in round terms, $1,000,000,000. In 1900 it was over $13,000,000,000. The noteworthy feature of this tremendous growth is that it occurred in defiance of the prediction of the Cobdenites, who declared that our efforts to create a great manufacturing industry in defiance of what they were pleased to call natural laws must inevitably result in failure.—San Francisco Chronicle.

PROUD OF HIS RECORD

Pennsylvania Republicans Must All Admire Judge John J. Henderson.

AS A SOLDIER AND A JURIST

Like His Colleague For the Superior Court, He Fought Bravely For the Flag and Won Renown On the Bench.

[Special Correspondence.]

Harrisburg, Sept. 15. — Republicans of Pennsylvania are exceptionally fortunate in the strength of their candidates for the superior court in the present campaign. Each has not only made his mark in the legal profession and won the confidence and admiration of the people by his course on the bench, but he has earned the everlasting gratitude of the nation by valorous and distinguished services in defense of his country's honor and his country's flag.

Judge John Joseph Henderson, of Crawford county, like his colleague on the Republican ticket, Judge Thomas A. Morrison, of McKean, who lost an arm on the field of battle, was a brave Union soldier. He enlisted as a private in Company H, of the 150th regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers, in August, 1862. His company was detailed for guard duty in Washington at the White House, but after a few weeks' service Private Henderson longed to go to the front and to take his place on the firing line with the other brave boys in action. His request was finally granted, and he was detailed an ordnance sergeant of the 8d division, 1st corps, army of the Potomac. He served in this capacity until the close of the war, and had many thrilling and narrow escapes in battle. He was frequently commended by his superior officers for bravery while under fire.

Judge Henderson was born in Allegheny county, Pa., September 23, 1843. He is of Scotch-Irish descent on his father's side and of Quaker ancestry on his mother's side.

His father, William C. Henderson, was a clergyman of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who moved to Meadville in 1856 to educate his children. Judge Henderson attended the Meadville Academy and Allegheny College, from which he was graduated in 1862.

AS LAWYER AND JUDGE.

On his return from the army he read law and was admitted to the bar in 1867. He was elected district attorney of Crawford county in 1872, and was elected judge in 1887. On his retirement from the bench in 1897 he resumed the practice of his profession and pursued it until he was appointed to a seat on the superior court by Governor Pennypacker in March last.

Judge Henderson's practice has been large and varied. His ability as an advocate early brought him a large clientele, while his ready grasp and application of legal principles induced large financial interests to seek his advice and direction.

On his retirement from the bench the fame of his judicial record brought him important cases not only from surrounding counties, but from adjoining states, in addition to his naturally large practice at home.

Judge Henderson's equipment for the bench is not limited to his legal learning; for he is a close student of literature, and he charms all hearers not only in his public addresses, but also in private conversation by the elegance of his diction and the grace of his manners. He has been granted by his alma mater the degree of master of arts and doctor of laws.

In the full maturity of his powers, it is believed by his friends that he will materially add to the public confidence in the ability and integrity of the Superior Court.

Yes, Turn 'Em Down!

The New York Farmer rises to remark that "the grangers should turn down the smiling, gushing, bowing, snickering, handshaking, shoulder slapping, rib punching, fence building, log rolling, round cornered, wire pulling, nomination asking and vote begging professional politicians who haunt the grange plenaries in summer."

Unfounded Prejudices.

Those who are familiar with grange work realize that the greatest obstacle to be overcome by the order is the indifference, if not opposition, of those who, could they be induced to lay aside unfounded prejudices, would become valuable members of the order.

Short Talks On Advertising By Charles Austin Bates.

No. 25.

I talked the other day with a man who had failed in the drug business. He said that he didn't believe that advertising a drug store paid, and that it was so different from other businesses that advertising could not possibly help it.

He said that his store had been an exceptionally good one; that the location was very fair, and that the stock was above reproach, but there were two other drug stores nearby which had been there for some time before he came.

The people round about were acquainted with them, and to some they were just a little bit more conveniently situated than the new store.

My friend, the druggist, didn't try advertising. That is the way he knows that it does not pay. He said: "People do not realize that there is a difference in drugs—that the paregoric they get in one drug store is better than that which they get in another."

Advertising would have saved that man's business. By advertising he would have introduced himself to the people, and they would have become acquainted with him and his store in that way. By advertising he could tell them that there were different grades of paregoric, and that he kept the best grade; but he didn't try it, and so he knows positively that advertising doesn't pay.

Maybe he would have had to advertise three or six months, or possibly for a year, before he would have found that he was gaining actual profit on his advertising expenditure. Advertising a new business is, to a certain extent, like advertising in the dull season. It is the after-effect that must be looked at and not the immediate returns. Even if a new man were to meet his prospective customers personally, it would be some time before he would make actual buyers of them.

It is this way with a traveling salesman.

The first few trips in a new territory do not consume very many pages of his order book. In the mean time he is getting acquainted—advertising. He is letting people know who he is and what he is doing, and what he wants. If he is pleasant and courteous and persistent, he will win trade, but it will take time.

Do not expect an ad to do more than a man.
