The dogs of the town are becoming very impolite. Three or four curs that evidently have no home or masters, and they seem to take great delight in standing by our coal pile and letting dismal howls roll out on the night air. Should they continue their impoliteness we will endeavor to find means to teach them that we alone have occasion to howl over the remains of our last winters coal pile.

The Harrisburg Telegraph says in a recent issue:

Members of the Board of Public Buildings and Grounds are of opinion that all the bridges that the State is asked to rebuild by reason of the destruction of the original structure by floods and ice, will not be built. In Susquehanna county recently the commissioners asked the Dauphin County Courts to appoint viewers for a bridge over the Susquehanna river between Great Bend and Halstead. The viewers were appointed and waited several weeks for the county commissioners to fix a time when they should be on the spot and view the site for the new bridge.
The commissioners, however, abandoned their intention to have the state erect a bridge, and have decided to patch up an old bridge which has been doing business for almost half a century. An effort will be made by the next Legislature to amend the act compelling the State to bear the entire cost of reconstructing bridges swept away by high water and to put half the cost of erection on the county.

Every town has among its people:
A liar.
A sponger.
A smart Alec.
A weather prophet.
A girl who giggles.
A neighborhood feud.
A woman who tattles.
A man who knows-it-all.
One Jacksonian Democrat.
More loafers than is needed.
A boy who cuts up in church.
A few meddlesome old women.
A "thing" that stares at women.
A widower who is too gay for his age.

Some men who make remarks about women.
A few men who knows how to run the affairs of the country.
A grown young man who laughs every time he says something.
A girl who goes to the postoffice every time the mail comes in.
A man who grins when you talk and laughs aloud when he says anything.

Co-operative Effort.
Oliver Wilson, master of Illinois state grange, well says that co-operative buying and selling should be an important factor. If this practice were generally followed by all grangers the system would soon develop and would not only be remunerative to the individual, but a source of revenue to the state grange. Without hardship to any one, the revenues thus derived would be enough to pay the expenses of delegates to the state meeting.

Believes In Co-operation.
Moorestown (N. J.) grange believes in co-operation and practices it. It recently received a consignment of 6,000 bushels of seed potatoes and also purchased 1,000 tons of fertilizing material direct from the importers. The grange has 275 members.

In New Hampshire there are twenty-five women who are masters of subordinate granges, 175 as secretaries, 208 as lecturers and in eleven granges all the officers are women.

Every grange should exert a moral influence for good in the community in which it is located.

Life Insurance

A FEW OF THE MANY REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD HAVE A POLICY

WITH THE NEW YORK LIFE

BECAUSE—Incontestable from the date of issue. Because—absolutely without restrictions. Because—non forfeitable from date of issue. Because—cash loans are provided after second year, on demand at 5 per cent interest without fee or other charge.
Because—if death does not occur an accumulative policy is a highly profitable investment for the policy-holder who lives.

Policies now maturing to living policy-holders prove this. In fact NEW YORK LIFE policies do not leak.
