Weak

Heart From Attack of LaGrippe.

Palpitation, Smother= ing, Short Breath.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Me.

The terrible after effects of LaGrippe are most dangerous when they attack the heart, the engine of life. Weak hearts are as common as weak stomachs and when an attack is made upon the weak heart, that organ soon becomes a diseased heart and the patient will unless promptly treated, suffer long and eventually die of heart disease, the dread of millions. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure strengthens and regulates the heart's action, enriches the blood and improves the circulation.

"Some years ago I had an attack of the grip, and it left hae with a very weak heart. Palpitation, shortness of breath and smothering spells that made me sit up in bed to breathe, robbing me of sleep, made me most miserable. I would become fatigued and exhausted from the least exertion and was in such a critical condition that I could not attend to my business. My physician seemed unable to control my case, and instead of getting better I was gradually growing weaker every day. Then I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and after I had used two bottles I was greatly improved. I continued with the remedy until I had taken in all six bottles, when I was able to attend to business without inconvenience. I was completely and permanently cured of heart two least the properties of the convenience in the remedy until I had taken in all six bottles, when I was able to attend to business without inconvenience. I was completely and permanently cured of heart two least the properties of the convenience in the convenience is a convenience of the convenience

COUNTY DEPUTY'S WORK.

Its Importance Should Be Appreciated and Provision Made For It.

At the bottom of all success in increasing grange membership lies the work of the deputy. Lecturers and newspapers may attract the attention and in a way prepare for organization of granges, but it is the organizer—i. e. the deputy—who must do the actual work of organizing. There is a gen-eral feeling all over the United States that the work of organization should be pushed, within just limits, of course, until not a single town or neighbor-hood outside the cities but shall have heard of the grange work and its advantage to the farmer. While we have in the United States approximately 800,000 members, there is no good rea-son why that number should not be in-creased to 1,000,000 by the active agency of thoroughly interested deputies, county and state officials.

We must not allow the work of extension to drift, and we owe it both to ourselves and our posterity that the effort be made, and the more aggressive and progressive it is the nearer we shall approach the fullest measure of duty and opportunity. Ample funds should be appropriated from the state granges to carry on this work. This is already being done in some of the more progressive grange states, but there are other states where the work is lagging and where new life should

An Educational Agency.

It is not so much what one knows as what he can use that makes him strong and practical. The peculiar value of grange education lies in the fact that the member can use his knowledge in the discussions and de-liberations of the grange hall, and, on going out, he can practically apply it on the farm and in the business of life generally. Farmers who fail to get their children into the grange are neg-lecting one of the best educational agencies that these children will ever have within their reach -J. T. Ailman

Superfluous.

The National Association of Importers has been organized in New York "to ald in securing equitable tariff legislation consonant with a proper consideration of the interest of the importers of the country." When the Democratic party is so devoted to the tariff interests of the importers as to favor the abolition of the tariff it is difficult to see why the importers should organize separately for that purpose. But all importers are not interested in this organization.—Philadelphia Press.

Firm Footing.

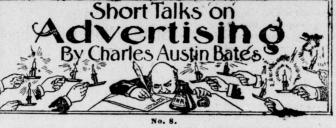

If Republicans can't find firm footing on that platform they will be hard to suit. Anybody who doesn't like it will do well to compare it with the Democratic platform.—New Haven Journal.

What is Scott's Emulsion?

It is a strengthening food and tonic, remarkable in its flesh-form-ing properties. It contains Cod-Liver Oil emulsified or partially digested, combined with the wellknown and highly prized Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda, so that their potency is materially increased.

It will arrest loss of flesh and ers. the amount of about $7,000,000. It restore to a normal condition the infant, the child and the adult. It will enrich the blood of the anemic; will stop the cough, heal the irritation of the throat and lungs, and cure incipient consumption. make this statement because the experience of twenty-five years has proven it in tens of thousands of cases. One man succeeds and another man fails and people wonder how it happens. It seems sometimes to people who don't think deeply that the weaker, duller man goes ahead, and that his more brilliant brother sticks in the rut at the bottom of the hill.

Slight differences in men seem to make all the wide difference between success and failure.
In games of chance (?) the "bank" has only a slight percentage, but the bank always wins. Back of every result is a reason. Back of business success are earnestness, energy, persistence, concentration. Between these and achievement is advertible.

No man ever yet made a success of business without advertising of some sort. Maybe he didn't call it advertising, but it was advertising just the same.

Advertising primarily consists in letting a lot of people know you are in existence and what excuse you may have for it.

The nucleus of advertising is a sign over the door.

If nobody had ever put up a sign, one baking powder company would not now be paying out $800,000 a year placing signs in the newspapers of America.

When a man goes into business he has some cards printed, and when he meets an acquaintance thereafter he pokes out a card and says: "When you are down my way, drop in." That's advertising. The trouble is that you can't repeat the operation often enough—person y

What you can do is to put the card and the remark, more or less elaborately expressed, into such a paper as the one you are reading now and have it handed to a great number of people all in one day.

The difference in men that makes one do this and another refuse is small. That is, it looks small at the start. It's like most all little things. When you stop to analyze it and figure it out to its ulti-mate result, you find that it grows into proportions of great magnitude.

An advertisement in the newspaper is a little thing, but it goes into thousands of homes and tells thousands of people just what you most wish them

If the ad. is an honest ad. it will always pay.
