The Lesson.

- I teach
- The earth and soil
- To them that toil
- The hill and fen
- To common men
- That live just here;
- The plants that grow.
- The winds that blow.
- The streams that run.
- In rain and sun
- Throughout the year.
- And then I lead
- Through wood and mead.
- Through mold and sod.
- Out unto God.
- With love and cheer
- I teach.

Bar to Nation's Progress.
Considering the country as a whole,
our roads are disgracefully and deplorably bad. They are a bar to the financial, social, educational and religious progress of the agricultural classes which they affect directly and a source of loss to every other class which they affect indirectly. The first great step toward the correct solution of the road problem is a recognition of the fact that road improvement is not wholly a local question. The rural population has a larger interest in good roads than any other class, and it will doubtless always be found willing to pay the larger part of the expense.
But the condition of the roads affects the prosperity of the whole community.
It is therefore a proper subject for state and national legislation. Congressman Brownlow in Collier's.
