Nothing Now Marks a Difference Between Republicans and Democrats Excepting Their Views on the Subject of Free Trade.

In an interesting communication to the American Economist Mr. R. S. Hinman asks the question, "What is Republicanism?" Mr. Hinman is a Connecticut farmer of fourscore years or thereabouts, ripe in experience and, as his letter shows, a deep thinker and an able writer. He is not identified with manufacturing. He is merely a tiller of the soil. He evidently clings to the antiquated notion that Republicanism and protection are Siamese twins, bound together by an arterial connection, the severing of which would be pretty certain to cause serious consequences to both twins. Many persons have in the past held this view of the vital relationship between Republicanism and protectionism. Many still entertain this belief, but it certainly seems to be true that many have argued themselves into the conviction that it would be perfectly safe and altogether wholesome for Republicanism to cut itself loose from its twin. Mr. Hinman is not of this way of thinking. He sees no particular difference between Democrats and Republicans except as to free trade and protection; that no Republican can claim to be a better citizen than his Democratic neighbor on any save the sole ground that he is a better protectionist; in short, that nothing but protection separates the two parties at this time.

Short Talks On Advertising By Charles Austin Bates.

No. 25.

I talked the other day with a man who had failed in the drug business. He said that he didn't believe that advertising a drug store paid, and that it was so different from other businesses that advertising could not possibly help it.

He said that his store had been an exceptionally good one; that the location was very fair, and that the stock was above reproach, but there were two other drug stores nearby which had been there for some time before he came. The people round about were acquainted with them, and to some they were just a little bit more conveniently situated than the new store.

My friend, the druggist, didn't try advertising. That is the way he knows that it does not pay. He said: "People do not realize that there is a difference in drugs—that the paragon they get in one drug store is better than that which they get in another."

Advertising would have saved that man's business. By advertising he would have introduced himself to the people, and they would have become acquainted with him and his store in that way. By advertising he could tell them that there were different grades of paragon, and that he kept the best grade; but he didn't try it, and so he knows positively that advertising doesn't pay.

Maybe he would have had to advertise three or six months, or possibly for a year, before he would have found that he was gaining actual profit on his advertising expenditure. Advertising a new business is, to a certain extent, like advertising in the dull season. It is the after-effect that must be looked at and not the immediate returns. Even if a new man were to meet his prospective customers personally, it would be some time before he would make actual buyers of them.

It is this way with a traveling salesman.

The first few trips in a new territory do not consume very many pages of his order book. In the mean time he is getting acquainted—advertising. He is letting people know who he is and what he is doing, and what he wants. If he is pleasant and courteous and persistent, he will win trade, but it will take time.

Do not expect an ad to do more than a man.

Outlook For Republican Success Peculiarly Bright.

The New York Commercial remarks that "business hopefulness is in the air. Everybody is breathing it. It is something real and tangible. The basic conditions in industry and trade are such that the people seem determined not to let politics disturb or embarrass them in the slightest degree. For once at least the bête noire of a campaign year is in hiding. Nobody is scary. The common sense of the American people is reasserting itself in a new way."

One reason for this hopefulness is that the outlook for Republican success is peculiarly bright, and Republican success means that in the next four years there will be no tariff tinkering to upset the business of the country and that the policies so successful in the last eight years will continue to bring prosperity and good business.

Nerve Slavery.

It is present-day conditions—heaping burdens of work upon the nervous system that tell the story—premature breaking up of health.

It tells why so many men and women, who so far as age in years is concerned, should be in the prime of health, find themselves letting go of the strength, the power, the vitality they once possessed. It is because that great motor power of the body nerve force, is impaired. Every organ depends upon its controlling power just as much as the engine depends upon the steam to put it into action. An engine won't go without steam. Neither will the heart, the brain, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach act right without their proper nerve force supply. Let any organ be lacking in this essential and troubles begin—some of them are:

- Throbbing, palpitating heart.
- Sleepless nights.
- Sudden startings.
- Morning languor.
- Brain lag.
- Inability to work or think.
- Exhaustion on exertion.
- Flagging appetite.
- Digestion slow.
- Food heavy.
- Easily excited, nervous, irritable.
- Strength fails.
- Loss of flesh and muscular power.
- Settled melancholia.
- Utter despondency.

Don't expect the newspaper to do it all. Look out for the show window and the cases and counters.

When you advertise something of special interest in the papers, fill the window with it and have it prominently displayed in the store. Have some neat tickets painted and hung up above or near the goods.

Be sure all the clerks know what is going on. If I were running a store, I would make it the first rule that every clerk should read every advertisement every day. I would have them understand just what I was trying to do with each advertisement—just what the goods were and where they came from and how they happened to be so cheap, or so good, or both.

The newspaper is sometimes blamed for the ill success of an advertisement, when the real fault is right in the store. Don't ever expect spasmodic advertising to pay. Don't ever let an issue of a paper you are using appear without your advertisement. The day you leave the ad out will probably be the very day on which somebody will look for it, and, not finding it, go to a competitor. The last of a series is the one that sells the goods. A man may see your ad thirty days in July and not buy till the thirty-first ad welds conviction into his mind.

It's the last stroke that makes a horseshoe—all the others were merely preparatory. The shoe was not a shoe till the last blow fell. If that had not been given it would only be a semblance of a shoe—merely a bent piece of iron. A sale is secured by the last word that is spoken—by the last ad that is read. If it remained unspoken, or unread, the sale would often fail entirely.

Advertising is the insurance of business, but you must keep up the premiums or the policy will lapse.

Severe Nervous Trouble and Dyspepsia. No Sleep for Weeks Because of Pain. Dr. Miles' Nervine Gave Back My Health.

Dyspepsia nearly always arises from a derangement of the nerves. When the stomach is not well the entire system suffers. Constipation, bad breath, sour stomach, frequent headaches, biliousness, etc., will lead to terrible consequences if not treated in time. Dr. Miles' Nervine is a specific for nervous dyspepsia and all nervous diseases. "My health was miserable for years, due to severe nervous trouble and dyspepsia. I had not been able to sleep for weeks at a time without being awakened with pains in my chest and stomach. My limbs felt tired, I was unable to do my house work without feeling completely worn out. The doctors failed to relieve me, and after taking an endless amount of the medicines I began taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and Nerve and Liver Pills. I obtained relief from the first bottle of Nervine, was able to sleep better than I had in years. My stomach began to gain strength and I felt better in many ways. I have taken twelve bottles of Nervine and Nerve and Liver Pills in the past three years but have not taken any of late as I have not felt the need of it. I go about my work an entirely different woman and have recommended them to ever so many people. I am a great believer in Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills. I have them on hand all the time.
