Rights of the Individual.
 The cornerstone of the American republic is individual liberty. It was the climax of the struggle for the greatest freedom for the individual consistent with good government which ushered in the federal government, not alone the first with a written constitution, but the government that went to the greatest extreme in not only securing the rights of the individual, but in guaranteeing their maintenance. It is, therefore, not surprising that the federal supreme court, having determined by a majority vote that it had the right to pass upon the legislation of a state regulating the hours of labor, should have declared any act fixing the hours of labor for individuals unconstitutional as an infringement upon one of the greatest rights of the individual—the right to free contract. Had the minority seen fit to pass upon this phase instead of the province of the court to adjudicate the issue there could be no question that the decision would have been unanimous. As long as the government stands, the rights of the individual cannot be abridged.—Cincinnati Times Star.

A Man of Many Sides.
 When we reflect on the things that Taft has done and how easily he has done them since he left the quiet of the bench for the riot of public life, it is apparent that he is as many sided as the president, with a balance that is incorruptible in addition. He has done what he had to do with such conspicuous ease that it has attracted no comment and won no particular applause. Taft is never complimented. The people expect from him so much that the giving of little is mere routine. It is not considered a great achievement when the professor of higher mathematics does a problem in long division without effort. We don't know where Taft will end, but there seems to be a growing impression that some time the people will find a place that will make the punishment of the work fit the crime of his omnivorous talent.—Detroit Free Press.

The Bryan Programme.
 The Bryan programme contemplates the overthrow of Democratic institutions, the substitution for them of a government of officeholders or of the man or men who control them by giving them all they ask for.—Chicago Tribune.

Each of the rural routes in operation means a monthly deficit of $25, that being the average loss to the government on the operation of a single route. This causes a total annual deficit of about $7,000,000 on account of rural service. There are pending 4,043 petitions for additional routes. Since the service was established there have been filed 44,194 petitions for rural routes, of which 10,153 have been rejected on adverse reports.

On March 1 there were 29,968 rural free delivery routes in operation.

A Personal Letter from Mr. Shaw

When looking for a new factory superintendent two years ago, I visited the three great vehicle centers of the Central West; talked to and investigated the records of thirty men, many of them having charge of some of the largest factories in the country. I found my man. I know that we have one of the very best vehicle factory superintendents in America. He has had twenty years' experience in buggy building. All that time he has been accustomed to making high grade work. That is our class. I attend personally to the buying of materials; am thoroughly conversant with every kind, size, the weight grade, strength, finish, price and general construction of every piece of woodwork, hardware, steel, leather, cloth, paint and varnish that goes into our work; have visited and examined the material, and have torn apart the finished work of six or eight of the largest factories; want to say that I am confident we are building a better buggy than these factories ship to the dealer at one-third more than the price we ask you. A fact. Think it over.

Our pay roll, when compared with that of other factories, shows that we are paying more in wages. This means we have a higher class of mechanics. The result is better quality of work.

We had over 60,000 orders in this department last year. Very busy now, but we have a lot of good, experienced men to help. People are realizing that this is the place to buy vehicles.

I know of factories who build practically but one buggy, but have possibly twenty different prices. To explain: Here in their $35.00 buggy; their $40.00 buggy has the same wheels, body, axles, gear, shafts, top, etc., as their $35.00 job, with possibly 50 cents more in little immaterial things; and so forth all the way along the line. We grade our work. We make the same small percentage of profit on a $50.00 job that we do on a $35.00. On high-priced work we are not only giving better quality of material and better finish, but more improvements and little equipments which you do not find on the cheaper rig.

Recently a certain manufacturing concern which builds work for a catalogue house, ordered, through another party, one of our low-priced buggies and had it shipped to their factory for examination. They wanted to know why people were buying Ward's vehicles. Upon receipt of the job it had so many features of the higher priced buggies, such as fine finish, and was so stylish and well proportioned in every way that they concluded we had made a mistake and sent them our highest priced buggy. Imagine what they said! There was no mistake at all. The facts are (and I will stake my reputation upon it) that we are giving our customers stronger and more durable vehicles, better made in every way, easier riding, more stylishly trimmed, better finished and altogether with more lasting qualities for the money than any other buggy concern in the world.

Our vehicle business in 1904 increased 20 per cent; other houses fell behind 30 per cent. We never put a $50 description on a $40 job.

We have purchased material for manufacturing twice as many vehicles in 1905 as in 1904. We paid spot cash for it. We expect great things. Have really put prices upon the finished work that are extraordinarily low when considering the quality. Send us your order and we guarantee to return you good material and good labor in the shape of a good rig.
