THE STATE TREASURERSHIP

Republican Nominee As Viewed By An Editor From His Home County.

In commenting upon the contest for state treasurer, the editor of the Hollidaysburg Register says:

"Hon. J. Lee Plummer, the Republican candidate for state treasurer, has the ability to fill that office with credit. This fact cannot be successfully contradicted; besides, he is known by the people with whom he has lived all his life to be perfectly honest and reliable and a man of the strictest integrity. While not a Prohibitionist, he is a man of the strictest temperance habits. These are facts which cannot be controverted. He was regularly nominated in a Republican state convention, composed of delegates who were chosen by the Republicans of the various counties of the state.

"There was every opportunity for any man in the state to contest the nomination with him. He was nominated fairly as the candidate of his party. Now, what Republican can have a valid excuse to vote against him? Is it better that the Republicans assist a Democrat into one of the best offices of the state, or vote for their candidate, who is in every way worthy? The opposition is trying hard to raise a respectable fight against him, but the only possible show they will have will be through the votes of Republicans. Why should we aid them in their work?"

A Word to State Republicans.

"The Republican party is not responsible for the misuse that has been made of it in Philadelphia," says the editor of the Juniata Herald. "The truth is that it deserves credit for correcting the wrongs that have been committed by some of its faithless members. The corruption that has existed in Philadelphia is wholly of a local character and the party in the state has no connection with or relation to it. Why should the party elsewhere suffer on account of it? Why should state candidates be defeated because of what has occurred in a single city? If the sins of a few were to be visited upon the party when could it ever be successful? The Republican ticket is composed of honest men, was fairly nominated and is entitled to the support of every member of the party. Be sure to vote for it."

Magnificent Majority is Predicted. WHEN TO BEGIN REVISION.

Time Will Be Ripe When the Free Soup Houses Open.

A correspondent of the American Economist, writing from Jacksonville, Fla., gives the following answer to the question, "When shall we revise the tariff?"

"I think it will be time to revise the tariff when they begin to start free soup houses in the large cities.

It is an excellent suggestion. There were no free soup houses in 1892, after two years of the McKinley tariff. But somehow the people took a notion that they would like to have some. So they elected Grover Cleveland and a Democratic congress. Well, they got the soup houses all right, and plenty of them, even before they began to revise the tariff.

When the revision came in 1894 there were more soup houses. They were in full blast in 1896. Then the people decided once more that the tariff needed revising, and it did, whereupon they elected William McKinley and a Republican protection congress. Soup houses disappeared forthwith. There has been none for eight years. Possibly they may reappear under the Dingley tariff, but probably not. But in any case it would be well to wait until they do come again before we revise the tariff. The Florida idea is a good one.

Each of the rural routes in operation means a monthly deficit of $25, that being the average loss to the government on the operation of a single route. This causes a total annual deficit of about $7,000,000 on account of rural service.

There are pending 4,043 petitions for additional routes. Since the service was established there have been filed 44,194 petitions for rural routes, of which 10,153 have been rejected on adverse reports.

On March 1 there were 29,998 rural free delivery routes in operation.
