Harrisburg, Sept. 5. The farmers of Pennsylvania are happy. There is prosperity on every hand. They are going to stand by the Republican party this fall.

A very significant manifestation of popular sentiment was given last week at the annual Grangers' picnic at Williams Grove, Cumberland county, when the rival candidates for state treasurer spoke on alternate days. The enthusiastic demonstration in honor of J. Lee Plummer, the Republican nominee, was in striking contrast with the "frost" which his opponent, W. H. Berry, Free Silver Democrat and some time Prohibitionist, encountered on

The farmers of Pennsylvania are evidently not favorably impressed with the personality or the checkered political career of Mr. Berry. As a radical Bryanite he figured in past campaigns as an ardent free trade and free silver champion. His vacilating course does not appeal to the solid and substantial citizens of the Keystone State.

On the other hand, Mr. Plummer, the Republican standard-bearer, is recognized as a strong and conserva-tive character, who has made his mark in life by his own energy and pluck, and who has been steadfast in his loy-alty to Republican principles. Farmers to Be Envied.

In his address to the farmers of the state, Mr. Plummer, among other things, said:

"The farmer is to be envied of all men in business. The world's markets men in business. In words are always ready to take his product. The professional man, the lawyer or the doctor, may spend years in the preparation for the practice of his profession, and when he opens his office the people may pass him by; a merchant may stock his shelves with the finest goods, and the people may go elsewhere to buy, but they must buy the farmer's products, for they must eat, and they must wear clothes, and everything we eat, and everything we wear, is furnished by the farmer or his brother, the stock-raiser.
"The farming industry of our coun try is the great industry of our country; no other one industry produces as much either in bulk or value.

"And now a word for Pennsylvania, this grand old state of ours. She is the greatest and grandest of all our states, and the brightest star on Old Glory today. Her industries are flourishing, and no citizen of the common-wealth, who is able to work, need of necessity be idle. Her farmers are prosperous and are blessed with abundant crops, which are readily taken up by her home markets.
"The Republican party of Pennsylvania, which for more than forty years has controlled legislation in the state, has always been solicitous for the welfare of her agricultural interests, and some of the wisest legislation on our statute books was passed in the interest of our farmers.

"Two departments of our state government are devoted to their interests, the department of agriculture and the highway department.

"In the department of agriculture the dairy and food division is of espe cial importance to the dairy interests of the state, for it is the duty of its agents to inspect our food and see to it that what is sold for butter is butter. and not something else colored as butter.

"The division of zoology has charge of the suppression of insect pests that prey on your crops, and is doing good work for the fruit industry of the state in fighting the San Jose scale. In this department is also the live stock sanitary board, whose duty it is to protect the health of the domestic animals of the state and to eradicate and suppress all dangerous and contagious diseases of domestic animals.

"The other department is the high-way department, created for the purpose of assisting in improving the wealth. This department was created in 1903, and I had the pleasure of sup-porting and voting for the bill. The porting and voting for the bill. The legislature of 1905 appropriated the sum of $6,356,232.47 to this department for improving the roads of the state. This leaves approach to the sum of the leaves approach to the sum of the leaves approach to the leav state. This large sum of money is to be available and spent in the improvement of our country roads within the next four years. This is only a part of what the state is doing for the Pennsylvania farmer.

"In addition to the work done by the department of agriculture and the highway department, you participate with the rest of us in the state appropriation to the public scheols. Pennsylvania appropriates more money to her public schools than any other state. She gives the princely sum of $5,500,000 each year to her public schools. This is an immense sum of money, and goes into every township, village and city of the com-monwealth and relieves the people of

There is no state in the union, and no country in the world, where the bur- off year than she ever did in any such den of government rests as lightly on year before." Pennsylvania.

"Did you ever consider that real estate in Pennsylvania is not taxed for the support of the state government? In other words, that no person Pennsylvania pays a tax on real estate? This is true."

Shall a Bryanite Have Custody of the Funds of the State?

PENNSYLVANIANS TO VOTE NO

"Fighting Jack" Robinson, the Breezy Delaware County Editor, Unmasks Free Silverite Berry.

[Special Correspondence.]
Philadelphia, Sept. 5.
Every day brings fresh evidence of the enthusiastic interest being taken in the Republican campaign in Pennsylvania.

The voters of the state are alive to the main issue involved and they are going to act accordingly.

Shall a Bryanite be given custody of the funds of Republican Pennsylvania? Colonel Wesley R. Andrews, chairman of the Republican state committee, finds the headquarters thronged daily with callers coming from all sections of the state, and they all bring the same report, that there is Republican victory in the air.

"Fighting Jack" Speaks Out.
Former Congressman Robinson, of Delaware county, "Fighting Jack," as he is familiarly known, presents the issue in this campaign very clearly and concisely in his Media Ledger, in which among other things he says: "The office of state treasurer is one of the most important to be filled in the commonwealth.

"State lines are drawn just as na-tional lines were drawn last year between Parker and Roosevelt, and the latter won out in a fight where neces-sarily partisanship had to be considered and party affiliation was a crucial test.
"So it is neither plausible nor rational from a Republican viewpoint to put forward the cry of 'independence,' and ask that party lines be obliterated when the conduct of the finances of the state is the question at issue.

"Mr. Berry's well known and often avowed advocacy of free silver, together with his ardent Prohibitionism, makes him a subject dangerous to elect over an able and clean man like Hon

J. Lee Plummer, of Blair county."A Republican who can be cajoled or bamboozled by a cry of non-partisan-ship or independence to cast aside his convictions in so vital a canvass must indeed be a weak and simple-minded Berry As a Bryanite.

"William H. Berry is an example of the politics pushed to the extreme limit by William Jennings Bryan, and he has never resented any of the heresies he so persistently put to the fore in the congressional and presidential cam-paigns of 1896 and 1909. Indeed, as late as last January Candidate Berry at a social gathering of the Burns Club in Chester—the last place one would have expected a political speech—elaborated his singular views of finances. If such things be done in the green, what will he not do in the dry and with full power and the credit of the common wealth at his back—if such a thing could occur in this staunch Republican stronghold of Pennsylvania—those who knew Berry would look for almost any reactionary and revolutionary manipulation of the credit and the funds, now so deservedly high, of this great state.

"It would, indeed, be a great calamity to have Berry as state treasurer and the announcement go out over all the United States that the doctrines of Bryan and not McKinley are in the ascendant in the Keystone State, the banner Republican fortress.

nation and the high credit the com-monwealth of Pennsylvania now obtains be the result of Republican success—as it unquestionably is—would not a vote for Berry be a stultification of the record made, and would it not be a menace to good financial government to defeat an honest money candidate, an honest candidate and representing an honest party by an avowed and notorious advocate of Bryanism and depreciated standards?

"This is the state of all states in the union where such a dangerous experiment should not be essayed.

"We firmly believe that there are not one thousand Republicans in this commonwealth who, if they perused the speeches of William H. Berry in the memorable campaign of 1896 and who analyzed these radical statements, would ever think of casting a ballot against his own party, which has a typical candidate.

'No fake issue should obscure the field of political vision, and of all years and of all states this one of Pennsylvania is the last, and should be last, to adopt a policy and a candidate so radically opposed to all that has been so successfully advanced and firm-ly secured by the party in the past.

"Standing in the ancient ways, leav-ing aside even the suspicion that she should reverse her splendid financial record, remembering the victories won in both state and nation over just such dangerous political quacks and doctrinaires as Bryan and Berry, we predict that as the campaign unfolds and the artfulness of the political games against our party are exposed, this Keystone State will give a larger majority this

Wants No Extra Session.

The man tilling the soil is not much interested in personal registration now, and don't want the state to go to a heavy expense at this time to satisfy the whims of a few reformers. Personal registration can easily wait until the legislature again me regular session.—Hazleton Sentinel.
