NOT TO BE CHANGED.

TRUST IS A Safeguard of the American Standard of Living.

When American production is so enormous that after supplying domestic needs there still remain manufactures to the value of half a billion dollars for export to the markets of the rest of the world, it must be conceded that even out and out free trade would not gain for the consumer any material reduction in the cost of the products he purchases. All that a general tariff reduction could accomplish would be the replacing of American labor with cheap foreign labor.

No longer can the idea of a sweeping horizontal reduction of the tariff be seriously entertained. In a broad sense the tariff is simply an equalizer of labor costs and the safeguard of the American standard of living. As such it has been taken entirely out of the realm of discussion by the ever increasing volume of our exports of surplus manufactured products.—Providence News.

For Importers Only.
The tariff revisers who demand that the change in the tariff law, whenever it shall begin, must not be on the lines of keeping the American wage earner in his job, but must be on the lines of getting articles offered in our market

The Greening Nursery Company, Monroe, Mich., one of the leading nursery concerns in the United States, writes us that they want a good live agent in this section to solicit orders for their nursery stock. Experience not necessary. They offer good pay weekly, and furnish canvassing outfit free.

We advise any man or woman in our community, who is in a position to take orders for the above house to write them for particulars immediately.

One of the first effects that constant drinking has on the individual is a weakening of the will power. Though he may at times awaken to the thought that his indulgence in alcoholic stimulation is getting the best of him, and he makes a sincere resolution to stop drinking, he discovers when he endeavors to put his resolution into practice that the alcoholic craving, which is the root of the trouble, has grown too strong for him to conquer. When a man reaches this stage it is time for him to call a halt and seek a means to destroy the craving before he is hopelessly entangled in the web of drink.

A prominent business man of New York, a member of the chamber of commerce, known among his friends as a man of Napoleonic will, stimulated freely in order to work incessantly during months when, owing to a panic, the investments of nearly 40,000 people were imperiled, and he felt responsible for their protection. When the strain was over he decided to stop the stimulant and was amazed to find himself in hopeless bondage. In a private interview he had sought he said: "Doctor, I never had my will baffled before, but in this I am as helpless as a baby. I have struggled in vain and in my extremity have called upon my God for help. To strengthen my will I have on my knees recited a solemn oath to my God I would never touch whisky again, but I have perjured myself to my God. I do not believe I have a spark of manhood left. Do you think there is any hope for me?" At an age that should have marked the prime of his life that man went to his death through alcoholism.

The Oppenheimer Treatment is a successful remedy for the cure of alcoholism.
