Misses Edith Gumble and Olive Keeler visited at the home of the former's uncle, L. R. Gumble at Picture Rocks last week.

Mr. John Hoppes of Hillsgrove is visiting his daughter, Mrs. John Gumble.

Contractor Wm. Rogers has the foundation for the new school building well under way and the frame work will soon be ready for the structure. A. T. Munnix of Lincoln Falls is supplying the lumber.

The ladies of the M. E. church desire to thank all who by their generous contributions and kind assistance helped to make a success of the annual supper on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. A. J. Bradley was called to Dushore the early part of the week by the death of her aunt, Mrs. D. E. Deiffenbach.

There will be a grange picnic at Taylor's Grove, near Muncy Valley, on Friday, Aug. 31. The Muncy Valley grange extends an invitation to all to attend.

Mrs. Helen Boice Hunsinger will give a concert for the benefit of the Laporte Baptist Church, in the Court House, Saturday evening August 25, at 8 o'clock. Several readings will be given by Miss Francis Boice. Admission 25 cents.

Prof. L. L. Ford of Philadelphia, will preach in the Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Prof. Ford needs no introduction to the people of Laporte. A large congregation is expected to be present. All are cordially invited to attend this service. The Epworth League services will follow this service.

The corner stone of the Eagles Mere Methodist Episcopal Church will be laid next Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. Eminent clergymen of different churches will assist in the services. The Hotel Eagles-Mere orchestra will lead the singing.

The Galeton Democrat says: A Coudersport lady while trying to drive a dog from her yard last week threw a stone at his dogship and hit a child which was standing in an opposite direction of the dog, injuring her seriously. An ordinance should be enacted prohibiting women throwing stones within the borough limits.

On Wednesday the Commissioners of Columbia county took up the fight of the citizens of Centralia against the Lehigh Valley Coal Co. on the subject of taxes, determining to investigate the charge that for many years the triennial assessors have favored the coal companies, and that the valuable land containing the mineral is in many cases assessed at one-sixth the amount of farm land in other parts of the county. Similar action by commissioners in other counties where coal lands are located would effect a more equal assessment of taxes.

Mr. J. A. Muller, Sunday School Field Worker, for this county, was entertained last week by Prof. and Mrs. L. L. Ford. On Sunday Mr. Muller assisted with the services at St. John's church.

Mrs. Helen Boice Hunsicker will give a concert for the benefit of the Laporte Baptist church, in the Court House, Saturday evening August 25, at eight o'clock. Several readings will be given by Miss M. Francis Boice. Admission 25 cents.

The Columbia County Farmers' annual picnic, an event of great importance, and in fact a "red letter day" among the tillers of the soil in that and neighboring counties was held Thursday at Grassmere Park, one of the prettiest spots in the famous Fishing Creek Valley.

Mr. F. W. Gallagher received official notice that he was appointed a member of a committee to notify candidates nominated at the late State Convention. This special committee will meet in Pittsburg, August 28th, at which place Mr. Gallagher is making arrangements to attend.

The rather astonishing fact is announced that San Francisco banks have loaned $30,000,000 on six months paper in New York since the fire. There has been an idea that the stricken city was suffering from a lack of currency and would continue to until the fire insurance companies got to distributing their funds more rapidly, but the city has surplus money and finds it advantageous to employ in New York. When rebuilding becomes more general there will be more need of money in San Francisco.

Warding Off Evil Days.
Speaker Cannon says tariff revision is sure to come, but frankly admits that he will keep on soaping the track as long as possible.—Foleo Blade.

CANADIAN RECIPROCITY.

How It Would Work Injury to American Textile Industries.
I shall not attempt to treat the subject on the line of the present and prospective trade in textiles between us and Canada further than to say that Canadians will not knowingly make a treaty that will increase the sale of our textiles there, while if one were made that increased the sale of Canadian textiles or English textiles brought through Canada here it would injure our manufacturers to at least the extent of this increase. This is not the main question, however, by any manner of means. The real question is, Shall we break down our system of protection by adopting free trade in certain articles to the injury of some of our home producers provided Canada lowers her tariff in certain other lines for the benefit of others of our producers who desire greater foreign trade? This is the adoption of the free trade principle in spots, and if it is right and beneficial in spots we ought to have it all along the line.

The proposition is to reduce the domestic sales of some of our manufacturers who need production for the sake of enlarging the foreign sales of others who do not. The same principle carried out logically would remove protection from all home producers. It is free trade as opposed to protection. It may be said that we do not need to be logical in such matters, that we will protect such productions as we choose and establish reciprocity in others. Such a policy would not endure and ought not to endure. Protection is not favoritism, as the free traders say, but if it should become so through reciprocity agreements it not only ought not to endure, but it cannot endure in a republic. Manufacturers and the employees of manufacturers, deprived of protection unfairly, will naturally join the free traders, and the whole fabric will fall—at least until we have learned another lesson like of 1893.

Men and brethren, this Canadian reciprocity, like the tariff reform and free raw materials of 1892, is simply a move on the part of the enemy to divide protectionists so that they may be beaten in detail. Let us be wise enough to see this without another object lesson.—William F. Draper in Textile Manufacturers' Journal.

HARD TO UNDERSTAND.

Why There Should Not Be National Unity on the Protection Idea.
What we are unable to understand is that among patriotic citizens there should be any difference of opinion. The protective tariff idea should be a part of the national political religion and not a matter for bitter party arraignment. In fact, when in tariff revision the duty upon the product of any particular region is threatened with reduction, such as tobacco and semitropical fruits, for instance, Democrats of the regions where these products are raised come to congressional committees as fiercely combative for the higher tariff as the Republicans, although in the following national campaign they are sure to be again heard shouting for a "Tariff for revenue only!" and that "Protection is robbery!"
