Let us rally around the standard of our county, and send to Gettysburg such a delegation as will convince Pennsylvania that we are doing things within its borders.

Sensational Allegations That Call For Emphatic Refutation From the Aspirant For Governor.
[Special Correspondence.]

Harrisburg, September 4.
At the very outset of his campaign Lewis Emery, Jr., the Democratic-Lincolnite candidate for governor, has been put upon the defensive.

He has been subjected to a fierce fire from the batteries of the Prohibitionists, who twice turned him down when he sought the nomination of their party for governor.

Homer L. Castle, who was ultimately named for governor by the Prohibitionists, and Dr. Silas C. Swallow, the Prohibition state leader, have each made damaging and serious charges against Emery, to which he must make reply.

In his speech of acceptance in Pittsburgh, Mr. Castle, in referring to Emery, among other things said:

"It was utterly impossible for us to support Senator Emery for at least the following reasons:

"He is merely the representative of one discredited Republican machine which is seeking to dethrone another Republican machine, and so far as I can see the one machine is as bad as the other, either way you take it.

"In the courts of Philadelphia county, confirmed by the supreme court, Lewis Emery, Jr., trading as the Lewis Emery Oil company, has been found guilty of practicing such frauds in the stamping of oils, both on state officers and the public, as would shatter any man's faith in his business integrity.

"He has never in all his life, until now, exhibited any antagonism to trusts and combines, except as a business rival, and upon the contrary, by his own admission, he is a member of the Brewery trust, which is worse than the Beef or Oil trust, and he is the head of an oil trust which, if possible, is worse in character, which lacks only opportunity to be as bad in practice as the Standard Oil company.

"He is affiliated in a business way with Durham-McNichol & Mack, whom he assumes to fight, and we have never yet been shown where these men paid one dollar for their stock or been told what was the consideration which passed then, in 1901, these political manipulators, then in the height of power, became interested in the Pure Oil company. And we want to be told what relation this stock had to the New Jersey pipe line bill and the withdrawal of Standard Oil opposition.

"He has insulted the church. He has shown that he has no higher regard for her than he has for a brewery."

Called a Fake Reformer.
In addressing the Grangers at their Williams Grove picnic last week, Dr Swallow gave a review of the proceedings before the common pleas and supreme courts in the case against the Emery Oil company, and made these declarations:

"The contention of the Prohibitionists in this campaign is that having fought the Republican Machine for many years, and being still in the fight against it we are unwilling that there should be foisted onto the people of Pennsylvania as governor a fake reformer; a counterfeit; one whose reform is only to the furtherance of his own business interests; one who employs in his oil business the very methods he is condemning in the Standard Oil company; one who, if the testimony of nearly a dozen responsible men and the decision of two courts is accepted as evidence, is president of a company bearing his name, which has been guilty of forgery, fraud and perjury.

"The election of such a reformer would be a step backward and would retard for a decade the movements inaugurated by the Prohibition party, and by it partially carried to a successful consummation. We are unwilling as a party to have our work for reform thus sidetracked and despoiled by a pretender and hence our protest."
