Harrisburg, October 9. Since the visit of President Roose-velt and his magnificent tribut to the Pennsylvania legislature and his most complimentary allusions to the beauti-ful state capitol, Republicans here-abouts have been in excellent spirits. The president certainly gave high praise to the work of the Republican majority in the senate and house for the legislation passed at the recent ex-tra session of the general assembly, which was called at the instance of a Republican governor, and of which Republican governor, and of which President Roosevelt said:

"It is surely not tco much to say that this body of substantive legis-tion marks an spoch in the history of tion marks an epoch in the history of the practical betterment of political conditions, not merely for your state, but for all our states. I do not recall any other state legislature which, in a similar length of time, has to its credit such a body of admirable legis lation."

In leading up to this commendatory reference to the legislation enacted by Pennsylvania law-makers the president in referring in detail to the laws passi at that extra session said: "I most heartily congratulate the people of the state of Pennsylvania upon what its government has accompliched during this present year. It is a remarkable record of achievement.

Through your legislature you have abolished passes; you have placed the offices of the secretary of the com-monwcalth and the insurance commissioner upon an honorable and honest hasis of salary only by abolishing the fée system; you have passed a law compelling the officers and employes of great cities to attend to the duties for which they are paid by all the taxpay-ers, and to refrain from using the power conferred by their offices to infuence political campaigns; you have prohibited the solicitation or receiving political assessments by city em-ployes; you have by law protected the state treasury from depredation and conserved the public moneys for use Thence political campaigns; you have by a law for the protection of the eleclive tranchise made tampering with the ballot boxes and the casting of il-legal votes so difficult as in all probability to be unprofitable; you have provided a primary election law which guarantees to the voters free expres-sion in the selection of candidates for sion in the selection of candidates for office; you have by law regulated and improved the civil service systems of your greatest eities; and, finally, you have passed a law containing a pro-vision which I most earnestly hope will in substance be embodied like wise in a law by the congress at the coming section a newsigin expetibility coming session—a provision prohibiting the officers of any corporation from making a contribution of the nioney of that corporation to any candidate or any political committee for the pay-

"If elected governor, I promise you, fully realizing the responsi-bility resting upon me, that I will see that a thorough investigation shall be made of the entire ques-tion, and if such investigation discloses that any man or set of men have been guilty of wrong-doing in the abuse of their trust, or guil-ty of fraud or illegal profit in the turnishing of supplies, they shall neet with the punishment they surely, under such circumstances, would justly deserve.

would justly deserve. "If, as I am informed, the money spent in farnishing the capitol was without specific itemized appropriation first having been made for the pur-pose, I would recommend to the legis-lature that in the future it shall be made unlawith to expend any such larre amount of money without first having a cp-cific appropriation made, basid upon an approximate estimate of the cost. bas

"Any other course is in opposition to correct business principles and con-trary to the safe, economic policy that should govern all expenditures of the people's money."

It is a Noble Building.

Robert S. Murphy, the Republican nominee for lieutenant governor, in commenting upon this "issue," said: "The new state capitol is one the noblest buildings to be found with-in the limits of the country. "There is not a man or citizen of Pennsylvania that can view that magnificent structure without a sense of pride, without a feeling of thankful-ness that he is a citizen of Pennsylvania, and that this great state, with its population of seven million people, with its great wealth and material re-sources, with its reputation abroad as not only the keystone of Republican-ism, but the keystone of the republic, is entitled to a building of that character.

In referring to the itemized state-In referring to the itemized states ment of the expenditures in furnishing the new capitol, made by Governor Pennypacker and Auditor General Snyder, Mr. Murphy said:

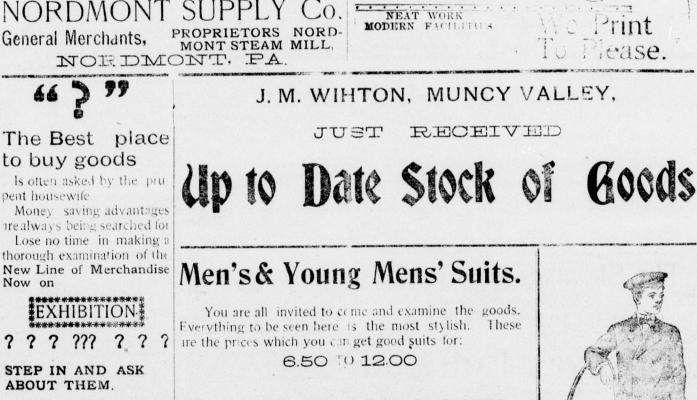

"No man has ever heard the honesty or the integrity of a member of the board ever questioned, publicly or privately. Uniteral that before you de cide this case in your own mind you must hear the testimony and you must analyze it, and I desire to say here that they themselves have furnished the testimony, upon which they are willing to stand or fall. The public statement of Samuel W. Pennypacker, under his own hand and seal, indicates precisely how that large sum of money has been expended, and it has been spent in equipping and furnishing that great capitol, in ornamenting it, in decorating it, and completing it, and I am not willing to take the uncorrobrain hot winny to take the uncertoop orated testimony of our opponents that there has been any wrongdoing upon the part of the officials vested with the power of completing that work.

"But I say to you that I here express myself in complete accord with my colleague upon the ticket and that if there is any man or set of men who have through conspiracy or fraud rob-bed the treasury of the common-wealth of Pennsylvania in that under-taking. I say to you that every one of them should be thoroughly questioned, and if found guilty properly punished. "The Republican party does not and never has stood for anything but what was right and proper in the administration of public affairs, and she is to-day as fair and as honest as ever."
