Among the guests at the Jackson House near the tannery is a tall, handsome Frenchman who calls himself Chevalier de Beutrel. Though of modest and retiring deportment he is an accomplished character, and speaks English and German very fluently.

Mr. Dell Howland, the genial machinist at the tannery, contemplates moving into the large vacant house this side of the depot before cold weather sets in. Dell, with his big family of lusty boys and girls will make it lively for the denizens of that neighborhood during the long, dreary winter months.

Mr. Kizer Edgar and Miss Pauline Gross, both of Lopez, were united in marriage at the Commercial Hotel, Saturday, Oct. 6, by Rev. Thomas Ripple.

Mrs. Virginia Brewster and daughter Alice have closed their cottage for the winter and gone to Washington D. C.

George Hamilton while at work in the woods along Pleasant stream was bitten by a rattlesnake Saturday, and is in a serious condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Harrington held a prohibition rally in the Court House Saturday evening. While Mr. Harrington was forceful in his arguments he left no illfeeling among those who resisted in accepting his views and the truthfulness of the undeniable facts he brought to the surface. Sunday evening he occupied the pulpit at Baptist church and discoursed one of the ablest sermons ever heard at the county seat.

Mr. E. J. Flynn returned last week from Meehan Junction, Miss., and has shipped his household goods to that place. He and his family will leave the latter part of this week for the South where they will make their future home.

Services at St. John's Episcopal Church: A. G. A. Buxton, D. D., Rector. Sunday School at 3 p. m. Evening prayer and sermon at 7:30 p. m. Litany Service at the Rectory Friday 7:30 p. m. Seats free, everybody welcome.

At about 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening burglars secured entrance to the Davidson residence in Canton and secured considerable jewelry belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Jones who occupied the south side of the house.

J. Henry Turrell, widely known as a lumberman of the Trexler & Turrell Lumber Co. of Noxen and Ricketts, died suddenly at his home at Noxen on Sunday, death being due to an internal hemorrhage. He had not been confined to his bed at all and his sudden death came as a great shock to his family and business associates.

The Central Pennsylvania Lumber company, owning saw mills at Mina, Laquin, Gray's Run, Jamison City, Letonia, Williamsport, Loleta and Trout Run, some time ago decided to operate the mills instead of having them operated on a contract and giving contractors a certain amount per thousand for lumber sawed.

Voters of this district should give their undivided support to Dr. Samuels for Congress.

Always with one idea uppermost, namely the greatest good for the greatest number, with fairness for all, Theodore Roosevelt has since his succession to the Presidency, and since his election, been indefatigable in his efforts to give the people of every section an administration that only growlers and croakers can criticize. His recommendations have been carried out by Congress to an unprecedented degree, and much remains for the second session of the Fifty-ninth Congress and the Sixtieth Congress, which should be in both branches Republican, in order that the desires of the President may be carried out to the fullest extent.

It is reported that Attorney General Moody is about to bring suit for the dissolution of the Standard Oil Company, under the Sherman anti-trust law. This law has been in existence for some years, and if it can be operated with such effect it is a pity that it was not done before. It is hardly creditable to the legal power of this country that a predatory organization that has gathered in hundreds of millions for its managers at the expense of the public should have been allowed to practice its pillage a day longer than it would take to enforce the law. Rockefeller's share of the booty should have been cut short long ago.

Finding that the machinery of the Hughesville water works had stopped, T. C. Corson, manager, investigated, and found that the turbine wheel had been clogged up by cels, of which he removed a half bushel, contracting a bad case of blood poisoning in the operation.

Norristown comes to the front with the first goose bone weather tip of the season. David Tyson, a farmer from Port Providence, Montgomery county, had the bone on exhibition on Saturday and the indications are for numerous storms and plenty of snow.

Someone makes the sarcastic remark that if there were a law requiring hunters to use blank cartridges there would be fewer men killed and nearly as many deer and other game. There may be some truth in this, as a large percentage of shot is fired away without effect, and too often the object hit is some unfortunate party that came within range of the hunter's gun. However, this is the season for hunting and the sound of the gun will be heard in woods and fields, whatever may be the consequence.

Services at the Methodist Episcopal church next Sunday as follows: Sunday school, 10 a. m.; preaching, 7 p. m.; Epworth League, 7:45 p. m.

This morning (Thursday) Laporte experienced a regular winter snowstorm which covered the ground, and seemed decidedly out of place clinging to the trees the leaves of which have not yet turned to their natural tints, but are still a fresh green.

Fire which broke out in the stove sheds at Laquin early Monday evening, destroyed about 150 feet of the sheds.

Because of the high wind blowing when the fire began, it threatened to destroy a large part of the company's property, and help was telephoned for to Towanda. Meanwhile, through the heroic efforts of the men at Laquin, the fire was put under control. The long shed was cut in two, and one end entirely torn away. The staves were removed and the fire deprived of anything to feed upon.

I wish to extend to my friends and neighbors my sincere thanks and appreciation of myself and family for the kind assistance given me during the recent illness and death of my son.

THE GRANGE PICNIC

Three Sources of Profit to Be Derived From These Summer Outings.

The grange picnic has come to occupy an important place in the grange calendar, says State Master Fuller of New York, and that we may get the full benefit from this annual event it will be well for us to remember that we may reasonably expect three sources of profit from a picnic—first, the personal benefit that comes from relaxation and rest from our strenuous farm life; second, the educational and instructive benefit of the addresses and lectures, and, third, the stimulating effect to the Order from interesting others in the work of the grange. In order to get the first mentioned benefit from a picnic we must throw off for a day all the care and worry about our business and come to the picnic with a determination to have a good time. To this end it is a good idea to forget forever any little personal dislike we may have for any other members of the grange and get right up close to them and see if we cannot discover some lovable qualities in them. The amount of educational benefit to be derived from a picnic is something hard to determine, but the speaker will certainly be better able to give you something helpful and uplifting if he is met by somebody duly appointed for that purpose and made to feel that he is welcome and that you are glad he is there. He will give you a better address under such circumstances than he will if he is left to browse around the woods until time to make his speech and then have to talk against a baseball game, a merry-go-round and a red lemonade speller. All these things are proper adjuncts to a picnic, but do not mix well together. The third and last benefit to be expected from the picnic, the attraction of those outside the gates to join the grange, is certainly worth catering to. Take some trouble to invite those whom you think would make good members of your grange to attend the picnic, and when they get there see that they have a good time. Think about these things when you are arranging your picnic and see if they do not add to the enjoyment and benefit of your annual outing.
