WILLIAMS—In sad but loving remembrance of my dear son, Jessie P. Williams who departed this life, November 17, 1906. Gone but not forgotten by mother, father, sister and brothers.

We mourn thy loss dear one,
With a grief untold,
Thou wert a kind and loving son
In the days of old.
We miss thy gentle kindness, here
In our silent home;
And in this grief we feel for thee
We are not alone.
Thy brothers and sisters mourn for thee
And wish the here;
For in our hearts thou were entwined
With a love most dear.
Although we know thou art at rest,
And thy troubles are all o'er;
We will think of thee until that great day,
When we meet to part no more,
In silence he suffered,
In patience he bore,
'Till God took him home
To suffer no more,
May his soul rest in peace.

The first all-steel passenger coach of standard size to be turned out by the Berwick car shops is practically completed and will probably be shipped to New York this week. Several steel cars have been made at the Berwick shops recently, but they were all small sized cars, and some of the parts were not steel. This new car is a sample car made made for the Long Island Railroad, and is for use in the subways which run under the City of New York. The car is full standard size, and is entirely of steel down to the smallest detail—everything about the car with the exception of the plush on the seats and the glass in the windows and the lamp globes. It presents a very handsome appearance, the outside being painted.

The supper served by the ladies of the Episcopal church, Tuesday evening in the Odd Fellows hall was a success in every way. A large number of people partook of the excellent supper and enjoyed the evening in a social manner.

A Heart to Heart Talk With The Women and Girls of Pennsylvania.

Why a women's page? Must women be fed on a special and diluted diet? They do read as men read—and all that men read—and add the women's page to it.
Rightly conducted, it is the earnest journalistic attempt to instruct more than to amuse; well edited, it steers clear of the encyclopaedia and the boudoir.
It should be all that a well rounded, interesting, helpful woman is—ready to put out a strong guiding hand wherever it is needed.
It must take itself seriously. It must be honest. It must reflect what really is, and suggest from experience what might be.
A great class turns to the woman's page for council, for advice, for suggestion. The ready made conventions of one set of people would be a mistake on another set, so why tell a woman who has to cook and wash for a husband and six children how to instruct a footman to receive the cards of a caller.
A woman's page should be all things to all women.
No woman's page deserves success that does not give to its least reader a respectful hearing and the best advice in its scope. It must be kindly. It must inspire confidence.
It must enter into all the home duties of the housewife with zest and enthusiasm. It must hold the affectionate friendship of its women readers.
All these things the woman's page of "THE PHILADELPHIA DAILY PRESS" is and does—it is beyond doubt the most practical and truly helpful woman's page ever offered Pennsylvania woman. You cannot afford to miss even one day.
ANNE RITTENHOUSE.
