Miss Ella McGranahan of Eagles Mere is visiting Miss Vinnie Eddy.

Miss May Rose of Dushore spent Sunday here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Rose.

Fred Cott of Lincoln Falls, was a Laporte visitor Monday.

Miss Grace Hakes who is taking a course in professional nursing in Philadelphia, and who is now recovering from a recent operation, is the guest of Mrs. T. W. Allen.

Owing to the blizzard-like storm on Sunday the services that were to be the closing of a successful revival at the Methodist church, were postponed until next Sunday evening.

Miss Marcella Farrell on Thursday morning, narrowly escaped being seriously burned in the law office of E. J. Mullen, where she is employed as stenographer. When Miss Farrell went to the office she opened the stove door, and as she did so an accumulation of gas which burst into flame as the door was opened, shot into her face singeing her hair, eye brows and eyelashes.

On Wednesday Mrs. W. P. Shoemaker received a message summoning her to the bedside of her father Andrew Rhoe, who was very ill at his home near Dushore.

During the year 1906 seven game wardens in this State were shot, four of them fatally. The shooting in each case was done by aliens, and because of this fact State Game Commissioner Joseph Kalbfus has declared in favor of a law prohibiting non-citizens from carrying and owning firearms.

Rev. S. B. Bidlack is holding a series of successful revival meetings in the M. E. Church, at Muncy Valley. On Saturday evening there were fourteen penitents at the altar and thirteen on Sunday night. At Sometown at the close of his sermon Sunday morning ten of the scholars gave themselves to Christ. The meetings are very well attended filling the church at every service.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Chase and family, and Miss Fannie Meylert all of Eagles Mere were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Meylert Thursday of last week.

Mr. George Shoemaker is visiting at the home of his son W. P. Shoemaker.

Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel company, is planning for a big technical school in connection with his plant where three thousand boys at a time may be taught in the art of brass and iron moulding, firebrick making and laying, electric wiring, care of dynamos and batteries, electric motors, steam fitting, tool making, armor and target making, drafting, designing, pattern making, etc. His idea is to put the boys through a course of instruction in the technical school and then perfect them in their line of work at practical service in the big shops. They will be paid something from the start and wages increased as they advance. He thinks that the American boy should become the foremost artisan of the world.

During the fishing season last summer, John Foster, a resident of Wayne county, went out for a day's sport. Under the laws of Pennsylvania any stream that has been declared a public highway may be fished in, regardless of the fact that private property abuts on either side of it. It was while fishing in a stream of this kind that Foster was arrested by the owner of adjoining property. The charge against him was trespassing the law of 1905 being quoted. Inasmuch as the fisherman was not on the property but stood in the middle of the creek while fishing, he should not have been amenable to the trespass law, but when his case came before the court the Judge ruled against him. If this decision is allowed to stand, fishing in the State will be at an end, and realizing this, every man with sporting blood in his veins will do all in their power to have the Superior Court reverse it. Foster, the man arrested, has not the means to fight the decision, but thousands of Pennsylvania fishermen will gladly lend him aid. The fact that Commissioner Mehan is foremost in the campaign against the decision shows that the danger to fishing is not imaginary.

Traffic on the Williamsport & North Branch railroad was held up for three hours Monday afternoon by a pile-up of three freight cars at the Muncy Valley station, and Tuesday the wreckage had not been cleared away by the crew that worked incessantly since the smash at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Northbound trains were delayed for hours and the southbound trains were running behind their schedules throughout the entire day as a result of the accident.

While a freight crew was doing some switching at the Muncy Valley station the brakes on the cars failed to work and box cars started down the switch and the main track at the same time colliding at the place where the switch meets the main line. One freight car was toppled over, another was hoisted into the air, and the third was jammed in between the debris. The mishap occurred only a few minutes before the northbound passenger train was due, and it was necessary for them to wait until the wreck train from Hughesville arrived on the scene.

Word was sent to Hughesville immediately and the wreck crew was hurried to the station. For three hours they worked to clear the track and allow the passenger to pass the wreckage. On account of the single track system it was with difficulty that the trains manoeuvred about the pile-up, and the entire switching place at Muncy Valley was utilized to the greatest advantage. Tuesday workmen were busy clearing away the debris and unloading the car that had toppled over completely. Damage to the goods in the box cars was the extent of the loss, as none of the cars are beyond repair.

The managers of the big Granger's picnic at Williams' Grove must pay S. H. Kinter of Lemoyne, a substantial sum as a compensation for the death of his son, Ralph, age 12 years, at the picnic last August. While the boy was watching some women who were firing at a target, a drunken woman fired at him so badly that he died in an hour. The woman fled and was never found. The father brought suit for $10,000 damages and the case was settled before it came to trial.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Unions, National and State, are offering prizes for essays written upon topics assigned. Knowing that there are bright, intelligent young people in Sullivan County who should have the opportunity of competing with the young people in other parts of our great nation.

The W. C. T. U. of Forksville, Pa. hereby offers the following cash prizes, viz. $2 for the best and $1 for the second best essay to be written upon the topic, "The Value of Total Abstinence to a Life." Contestants will kindly observe the following rules and regulations.

1. Contestants must be between the ages of fourteen and twenty years and residents of Sullivan County.

2. Material may be collected from any available source, but the essay must be original; composed and written by the individual submitting it and must contain not than six hundred or more than eight hundred words.

3. If contestant be a member of any school the name of school and teacher should accompany the manuscript, so that due credit may be given.

4. All essays must be sent to Miss Sara A. Huckell, Forksville, Pa. before April 1, 1907. Contest closes strictly on above date.

Competent and disinterested judges will award the prizes and the essay receiving the first prize will be available for use in the State Contest, if worthy.

County Superintendent.

Postmasters and postal clerks have been notified that the Government will issue stamp books containing twenty-four 1-cent stamps at 25 cents. A dozen 2-cent stamps have been in that form for some time, and the books have proven so convenient that it was decided to issue the 1-cent books also.

According to the Hazleton standard for the past few weeks Lehigh Valley detectives have been doing sleuth work among the employes of the company in that city, and it has been said that at least one employe has been trapped by the operations of the plain clothes officials. It appears that detectives have been sent out over the entire system to get evidence against negligent employes and particularly those who visit saloons while on duty and guzzle beer and similar beverages. If the detectives discover any employe in the act of violating the rules of the company a snap shot of the offender is secured and this is turned over to the officials higher up. An employe of the road was dismissed just recently and when he demanded an explanation he was shown a picture of himself standing with his legs crossed at a public bar and in the act of blowing the foam from a "bucket of suds." It is said that a number of the company's employes have been discharged as a result of the work of the detectives.
