THE GRANGE FAIR.

An Innovation That is Likely to Become a Permanent Institution.

The grange fair is an institution of comparatively recent date. We refer to agricultural shows, like county fairs, which are under the management of Patrons of Husbandry and whose exhibitors are most, if not altogether, members of the Order. The number of these fairs held the past fall is astonishing. And the interest displayed by the Patrons is quite remarkable. The fact that these fairs are run by farmers for farmers is one secret of their success. They are agricultural exhibitions pure and simple; the horse trot is eliminated. They are contesting the honors with many a staid old county agricultural society because they are pleasing the farmers, and, in turn, the farmers are patronizing them. Here is a hint to the county agricultural societies that give large place to horse racing and fairs. Incidentally this is good evidence of what the grange can do and is doing for the agricultural interests of the town or county. It is promoting those interests in a most practical and commendable way when it seeks to introduce the spirit of wholesome rivalry in exhibiting the products of the farm and the handwork of the household.

Rather more pretentious than others are the fairs of Armstrong county, Pa., who are moving to have a genuine agricultural county fair held strictly under their auspices. There are about 2,500 members of the different granges, and it is proposed to issue 500 shares of stock at $100 per share, to be sold to members only, no one to have more than one share. A tract of 100 acres has been optioned.

The Grange Develops Talent.

One advantage of the grange is to develop talent. Many a farmer, until he joins the grange and has taken part in its literary and educational work, finds it difficult to speak five minutes on an assigned topic in any public meeting with any degree of interest to his hearers. He had not before believed that he could write a paper on any subject that would be worth the reading. As one farmer said, "I would rather hitch up and drive a mile to carry information than write one postal card." But in the grange he finds opportunity to formulate his ideas into words, and often there is found to be rare worth in what he has to say. The grange educates in many ways. It helps men to know themselves.

Women in the Grange.

One of the nice things about the grange is that it lets the women in. The farmer's wife and his daughter are admitted on equal terms with the farmer himself. They hold their share of the office, contribute their part to programmes and have their voice in the proceedings. And why should they not? The wife is usually the most important "man" on the premises. She does her share of the work, more than her share of the planning and nearly all the saving. She is the friend and companion, the partner, the associate and the best adviser, and without her not only would life on the farm be unendurable, but it is a question if there would be any farm. If to belong to the grange carries with it any benefits or advantages, it is certain that the wife is entitled to her share. The founders of the grange probably looked at it in this light, and possibly their wisdom in letting the women in is the secret of the great Order's success and prosperity.—Exchange.

Extension Work.

It is gratifying to know that the new administration of the national grange proposes to widely organize the farmers of the west under the banner of Patrons of Husbandry, says the New England Homestead. The new national master, ex-Governor N. J. Bacheelder of Concord, N. H., is a man of sound judgment, much experience in this work and of great energy. The grange has been developed in New England to a most brilliant and enduring success. The methods there pursued, grafted upon our western ideas and ideals, should restore this organization throughout the west to a far higher position even than it occupied thirty years ago. It is the one farmers' order that has stood the test of time.

QUEER REASONING.

Free Traders Favor Any Treaty That Annihilates Tariff.

The tariff revisionists and free traders are filled with scorn and anger at the impudence of the Gloucester people in protesting against the reciprocity treaty with Newfoundland on the ground that it would ruin their fishing industries. To the ordinary mind it would seem perfectly natural that any industry should protest against a treaty which would ruin it. But by some peculiar twist of reasoning the tariff tinker and the free trader regard the making of a treaty with a tariff annihilating clause as a duty paramount and superior to the preservation of the national industries.

If an industry is to be wiped out by its operation, so much the more reason for its ratification. The eastern mug, Foley's Honey and Iodine heals lungs and stops the cough.

EXCURSIONS TO THE WEST

To the Pacific Coast—to California, Oregon, Washington—round-trip, long transit and return limits, liberal stop-over privileges.

The rate is practically on the basis of one fare for the round trip. Of course, if you wish to visit both California and Oregon or Washington, the cost is slightly more.

These reduced rates are in effect on certain dates in months of May to October, inclusive. They apply from all Eastern points via Chicago, St. Louis or Memphis gateways. The Rock Island System will take you up in either Chicago or St. Louis, or at hundreds of other Middle West points and carry you to the Coast in through Standard or Tourist Sleepers with unexcelled Dining Car service. The Rock Island also affords a choice of routes: on the "Scenic" route you can stop off in Colorado—see Salt Lake City—visit Yellowstone National Park; on the "Southern" route you can go via El Paso, thru New Mexico, then "up coast" to San Francisco and on to Portland or Seattle if desired.

In short, these Pacific Coast excursions offer an unusually good chance to see our western country in a comprehensive manner.

If you desire to go only as far as Colorado, there are excursion rates in effect to that section and return, all summer long, specially reduced June 30 to July 4, August 12 and 13, and August 30 to September 4. Extension trips to Ogden or Salt Lake and return at low cost also.

From September 15 to October 31, 1901 one-way tourist or "colonist" tickets will be on sale to California and the Pacific Northwest—about half regular fare.

If interested, send name and address on this coupon, designating which booklet wanted and to what point you plan to go. Name probable date of start also, so we can advise definitely with respect to rates, etc.
