Republican Nomintee As Viewed By An Editor From His Home County. In commenting upon the contest for state treasurer, the editor of the Hollidaysburg Register says:

"Hon J. Lee Plummer, the Republican candidate for state treasurer, has the ability to fill that office with credit. This fact cannot be successfully contradicted; besides, he is known by the people with whom he has lived all his life to be perfectly thonest and reliable and a man of the strictest integrity. While not a Prohibitionist, he is a man of the strictest integrity. While not a Prohibitionist, he is a man of the strictest temperance habits. These are facts which cannot be controverted. He was regularly nominated in a Republican state convention, composed of delagates who were chosen by the Republicans of the various counties of the state.

"There was every opportunity for any man in the state to contest the nomination with him. He was nominated fairly as the candidate of his party. Now, what Republicans as sist a Democrat into one of the best offices of the state, or vote for their candidate, who is in every way worthy? The opposition is trying hard to raise a respectable fight against him, but the only possible show they will have will be through the votes of Republicans. "The Republicans party is not responsible for the misuse that has been made of it in Philadelphia," says the editor of the Juniata Heraid. "The truth is that if deserves credit for correcting the wrongs that have been committed by some of its faithiess menubers. The corruption that has existed in Philadelphia is wholly of a local character and the party lesswhere suffer on account of 1t? Why should state candidates be defeated because of what seed contend the party elsewhere suffer on account of 1t? Why should state candidates be defeated because of what accounted in a conductor of the sunday and the summary of the survey of the survey

Why should the party elsewhere suffer on account of it? Why should state candidates be defeated because of what has occurred in a single city? If the sins of a few were to be visited upon the party when could it ever be suc-cessful? The Republican ticket is composed of honest men, was fairly nomi-nated and is entitled to the support of every member of the party. Be sure to vote for it."

the bronze age.

Centuries passed by. "High Street of Southwark is now a crowded thoroughfare, because it is the main arrery of a town containing a population of many hundreds of thousands. In the last century it was quite as animated, because it was one of the main arteries by which London was in communication with the country. An immense number of coaches, carts, wagons, and 'caravans' passed every day up and down the High Street, some stopping or starting in Southwark itself; some going over London Bridge to their destination in the city."

sol; some going over London Bridge to their destination in the city."

Among the relics of the bygone ages stands to-day the remains of the palace of the Bishop of Winchester. As ene of the Bishops of Winchester would have made a very good modern Police Court Judge and District Attorney combined, it may not be inappropriate at this place to tell something about the punishments of the time that were ordered by the church. "There was whipping, but not the terrible, murderous flogging of the eighteenth century; there were hangings, but not for everything. Mostly to the credit of the church, punishment was designed sot to crush a man, but to shame him into repentance and to give him a chance of retrieving his character. A man might be set in the stocks or put in pillory, and so made to feel the heinousness of his offe, see. This punishment was like that which was inflicted on a schoolboy; the thing done, the boy is taken back to favor. The eighteenth century branded him, imprisoned him, transported him, made a brute of him, and then hanged him. Did a woman speak despitefully of authority—presumptuous quean—set her up in the cage beside the stoulpes of London Bridge, that every one should see her there and should ask what she had done. After an hour or two take her down; bid her go home and keep henceforth a quiet tongue in her head. This leniency was only for offenses moral and against the law. For freedom of thought or doctrine there was Bishop Bonner's better way. And it was a way inhuman, infestible, unable to for give."

give."

Sir Walter Besant, in showing how the palace either contains or has at some time contained the work of nearly every archbishop in succession, incidentally remarks, in speaking of some of the improvements executed by the various prelates, that the Chicheley Tower, commonly known as the "Lollards" Tower," "never had any connection with Lollards, and that all the talk about the unhappy Lollard prisoners is without foundation."

And, in a word, which will explain about the unhappy Lollard prisoners is without foundation."

And, in a word, which will explain why I have given an apparently disproportionate space to Lambeth Palace, the author thus ends his chapter on the royal houses of Scuth London; "Lambeth Palace, the only palace in the whole of South London, is a monumer/of English history from the twelfth century downward. Kennington appears at intervals; Etham is a holiday house; Greenwich practically begins with the Tudors. Lambeth, like Westmuster or St. Paul's belongs to the long history of the English people."

From the fragmentary "lives" of Shakespeare we have learned considerable about the Globe Theatre, but in "South London" we find a great deal more, and also much about the Bear Garden, Blackriars, and Paris Garden, the Hope Theatre, the Swan Theatre, and the Rose. It is all very interesting.

And of the South London of to-day, and the Ross.

And of the South London of to-day, there is much that is of interest, much that is fascinating, albeit the tourist to London can see it all if he only takes the trouble.

Tempering Steel.

The tempering of steel with uniform results is a feat hardly to be achieved by the most expert artisan. A German inventor had devised a process for accurately obtaining any desired degree of hardness, the variations being effected by changes in the liquid used, and depending on the fact that graded results may be produced by the use of nilk in varying forms and dilutions—that is, by fresh and skimmed milk sweet and sour whey, fresh and old buttermilk, and different mixtures with water. The various stages of acidification of milk are also said to give all the effects of hardening in oil and other fat mixtures.

"MAKES PROPER DIET" PLEASING A

Let an EXPERT BUGGY MAKER Give you some Mr. F. L. Shaw, manager of our vehicle interests, bought two buggies from the same house the other day. One cost $18.00 more than the other. Then he took the buggies all spart to see just why one was higher priced than the other. Here is what he found out:

Both buggies had exactly the same seat and back, same size body, same wheels, shafts and everything else, except that the higher priced one had 14-oz. cloth trimmings instead of Keratol, found in the cheaper; a leather boot, instead of rubber; a better axle, and the finish on the woodwork was slightly better, but not very much.

Read the difference - and learn how easily price can be raised without changing the grade, in a buggy.

SIDE BY SIDE:

Difference in Cost $3.80. Difference in Price to You $18.00.

On their Cheap Buggy Seat and back (see illustrations), Body 23 inches wide, 54 inches long, Malleable 5th wheel without anti-rattier, Malleable Bead block (considered poor), Malleable Bailey Loop (cheapest made).

On the Best They Make ong distance. Same. Same. 14 oz. cloth. Leather Boot. Same. Slightly better.

What do they give for the $18.00 difference in price?

The actual difference in cost, to the buggy maker, did not exceed $3.80, yet one buggy costs you $18.00 more than the other.

Now, either the factory making and selling these buggies to the house Mr. Shaw bought from, was fooling the house, or the house was fooling you. In either case, you were paying $18.00 $3.80 worth.

We tell you these things because we believe in a square deal!
