County Seat Local and Personal Events Tersely Told.

Mr. A. E. Tripp of Wilkesbarre was in town Saturday.
E. J. Mullen is attending Superior Court at Williamsport.

Mrs. G. S. Eddy has returned from a visit with her parents at South Branch, Bradford county.

Miss Nellie Heess of Piatt, is spending several weeks with her brother, Albert F. Heess.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Wrede have gone to housekeeping in what is known as the Tinklepaugh house.

A number of young people of this place spent Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. T. F. Ripple. A very pleasant time was reported.

Rev. and Mrs. T. F. Ripple, Miss Freda Crossley and H. H.
Kumm were Dushore visitors Tuesday, and while there were the guests of Mrs. A. J. Bradley.

Scarlet fever among the foreign colony at Ralston has caused the people of that place much uneasiness, as the foreigners refuse to obey quarantine regulations.

Society at her home on Tuesday evening March 3.

Floyd Stethers, of Towanda, and Miss Winifred Persun, of Mildred, were married at the home of the bridesister Mrs. John C. Schaad at Mildred, by Rev. W. H. Berk.

Mr. Stethers is operator at the L.

Stethers is a daughter of the late Godwin Persun, of Picture Rocks, who formerly lived in Cherry Twp.

F. C. Schanabacher, stage driver from Forksville, while ascending the hill coming into Laporte Wednesday, his covered sleigh was upset by a gale of wind and narrowly escaped serious accident. He secured assistance to upright his sleigh and while thus engaged his team that was standing unhitched ran away but were caught by some men coming to aid him in the difficulties he met with in his balloon ascension.

The election at Paxinos Northumberland county was peculiar in the extreme as the voters had but one privilege, that of voting for all Democrats.

Some time ago several of the voters called upon the committeeman of the Republican party and informed him that it was about time to hold the party primaries. That official stated he would issue a call within a few days but in the meantime was occupied with business plans and the matter entirely slipped his memory until it was too late to hold primaries and the Democrats had the smoothest kind of sailing.

Governor Pennypacker signed the bill which fixes a penalty of $10 or ten days imprisonment for throwing waste paper, sweepings, ashes, household waste, nails or rubbish of any kind into the streets of cities, boroughs or townships, or for disturbing the contents of any receptacle placed upon the street for collection of such sweep-ings." It is a law and should be enforced.

It has been noticed in several places on our streets where ashes have been thrown, in a way that does not look well, and it is hoped that the attention of our town people has not been called in vain to this important matter.

Harrisburg, Feb. 20.—A campaign and of $3,000 for the election of a Bryan delegation from Pennsylvania to the Democratic National Convention was raised by the executive committee of the Bryan Democratic league of Pennsylvania.

This committee decided to put up candidates for national delegates in each of the 32 congressional districts and to organize auxiliary leagues.

The meeting was attended by 30 members, including State Treasurer Berry.

Mr. P. J. Finan and Miss M. J. Cummiskey both of Dushore, were married Monday morning at St. Basil's church.

"Sin and Society" (Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston), is a volume of essays by Edward A. Roth Prof. of sociology in the University of Wisconsin, who attempts "an analysis of later day inquiry." The essays are preceded by a letter from President Roosevelt, whose attention was called by Justice Holmes to "social control," another book by the same writer, and has since read these essays on their occasional publication. Says President Roosevelt: "You define 'sin' as conduct that harms another, in contradistinction to 'vice,' by which we mean practices that harm one's self; and you attack as they should be attacked the men who at the present day do more harm to the body politic by their siding than all others." "You war against the vast iniquities in modern business, finance, politics, journalism, due to the ineffectiveness of public opinion in coping with the dominant types of wrong doing in a huge rich highly complex industrial civilization." President Roosevelt and the author realize that the worst evils we have to combat have inevitably evolved along with the evolution of society itself, and that the perspective of conduct must change from age to age, so that our moral judgement may be recast in order more effectively to hold to account the really dangerous foe of our present civilization. The six essays deal with "new varieties of sin" due to our modern business and industrial organizations; "the grading of sinners," arguing that they should be punished, according to their deeds rather than according to their character; the "criminaloid," by which the author designates "such as prosper by flagitious practices which have not yet come under the effective banda of public opinion," though they may be guilty in the eyes of the law; "the grilling of sinners;" "corporate sinning by syndicate," and the rules of the game.

There will be a meeting of the Republican Standing Committee of Sullivan County, at the Court House in Laporte, on Thursday March 5, at 2:30 o'clock P. M., for the transaction of such business as may pertain to the party. All members are requested to be in attendance.

Wm. P. Shoemaker, Chairman.
F. H. Ingham, Sec'y.

A STRANGE SENTENCE.

Punishment For Murder That Was More Cruel Than Death.

In 1801 a man died in the Catskills who had been condemned by one of the strangest sentences on record.

Ralph Sutherland was born in 1701 and lived in a stone house near Leeds. He was a man of violent temper and morose disposition, shunned by his neighbors and generally disliked. Not being able to get an American servant, he imported a Scotchwoman, and, according to the usages of the times, virtually held her in bondage until her passage money had been refunded.

Unable to endure any longer the raging temper of her master, the girl ran away. Immediately upon discovering her absence the man set off in an angry chase upon his horse and soon overtook her. The poor woman never reached the house alive, and Sutherland was indicted and arrested on the charge of murder.

At the trial he tried to prove that his horse had taken fright, run away, pitched him out of the saddle and dashed the girl to death upon the rocks, but the jury did not accept the defense, and Sutherland was sentenced to die upon the scaffold.

Then came the plea of the insufficiency of circumstantial evidence and the efforts of influential relatives. These so worked upon the court that the judge delayed the sentence of death until the prisoner should be ninety-nine years old.

It was ordered that the culprit should be released on his own recognizance and that, pending the final execution of his sentence, he should keep a hangman's noose about his neck and show himself before the judges of Catskill once a year to prove that he wore his badge of infamy and kept his crime in mind. It was a more cruel decision than the sentence of immediate death would have been, but it was no doubt in harmony with the spirit of the times.

Thus Ralph Sutherland lived. He always lived alone. He seldom spoke. His rough, imperious manner had gone. Years followed years. At each session of the court the broken man came before the bar of justice and silently showed the noose that circled his neck.

At last his ninety-ninth year came, the time when the court had ordered the most penalty of the law to be executed. For the last time he appeared before the judge's seat. The new judges had arisen in the place of the old laws had been forgotten and there was none who would hln or execute sentence.

A awful restriction that had been a life so intimately to the execution of his crime was now legally relaxed.

But the spirit of self punishment continued, and when Sutherland, after he had passed his hundredth year, was discovered dead, alone in his house, his throat was found to be encircled by the rope which had been placed there nearly three-quarters of a century before.
