Considering the serious injuries he received last winter by a log rolling over him, Mr. King is regaining his usual good health as rapidly as can be expected.

A charter has been granted by Governor Stuart to the Wyoming and Sullivan railroad company to construct and operate a line eight miles long from Nordmont on the Williamsport and North Branch railroad in this county, to Ricketts on the Lehigh Valley railroad in Wyoming county. It will have $80,000 capital, the officers being: Theodore G. Wolf, Scranton president; L. A. Watrous, Scranton, vice president; Jacob Griffith, G.
J. Heintzleman, Richard Hughes,
C. M. Hileman, R. Kessler, Jr., James N. Anderson, and J. H.
Bryden, directors. This road will be used mainly for the conveying of wood to the acid factory at Nordmont.

In anticipation of a disagreement over the terms of the next wage settlement, the operators in the anthracite coal fields are reported to be planning to store 10,000,000 tons of coal before April 1, 1909, at which time the three-year agreement under which the miners are now working will expire. If this plan is carried out, 140,000 men will be given steady employment for the next year.

A decision just made by the board of food experts of the department of agriculture will play havoc with the sale of no end of fake mineral waters.
Hereafter manufacturers alleged mineral waters must state clearly on the label whether they are artificial or imitation. The producers will have the privilege of the choice of "artificial" or "imitation" but one of the adjectives must be applied to all waters the result of human art and not bottled direct from their source.

A fine game of baseball is being arranged as one of the attractions for the 4th. of July celebration at Laporte. It will be a contest between Sullivan and Lycoming county, combination teams.

A Jersey Shore farmer about six years ago made himself a home made potato planter which he has successfully used ever since and his neighbors occasionally borrow it. It is built on two runners, upon which is a platform on which the hopper stands. A hopper that holds a couple bushels is in front of him, and while a driver looks after the horses, he drops the pieces of potatoes into the end of a tin pipe that extends down to the rear of a shovel plow-share, set vertically, just back of the pipe are two cultivator teeth set so as to throw the soil over the potatoes after they are dropped. It does good work, and the tubers are planted very rapidly by its use.

It is noted by a Monroe County newspaper that many young men are returning to the farms in that section from the industrial towns in the Lehigh Valley. A few years ago when everything was booming, great numbers of young men left the farms and found employment in the shops and manufacturing establishments. Now that business is dull many of them are out of work, and as they have not been able to save enough to support them very long in idleness, they are getting back to the farm and bringing others with them.
What is true of Monroe county is true of many other sections of the state. The old farm is a pretty good thing to rely upon in some emergency, and very likely it will require a most extraordinary boom in things to get some of these young men away from home again. There is always plenty of work on the farm, and generally a pretty good living.

Oliver M. Kemp, a farmer at Eleven mile Potter county, left his house early last Wednesday afternoon to go to a distant field to blow out some stumps. He carried several sticks of dynamite in a basket. A few minutes later a terrific explosion was heard. Workmen hurried from a nearby field and found Kemp sitting on the ground, still conscious.
Both hands had been blown off. A jackknife had been driven through his right lung. Both eyes were blown out. He asked the men to carry him home, where he died in a few minutes.

There is little doubt that for a time there will be boom in Wall street, which will have a sympathetic reply in business. Congress is out of the way, and the new currency bill although temporary and a makeshift, has given Wall street a stiffening that will draw out money and we may expect stocks to go up, and bonds, stocks and securities come into the market in great volume.
While the nominations still lower, with the big crops promised, and the depletion of stocks of manufactured goods, there must come better business conditions.
St. Louis has re-employed thousands of men who have remained idle since October 1. In the Kansas City district thirty-five thousand miners who have not used a pick in many a day have returned to work.
The South cries for more men to work in her cotton fields. Shipbuilding has been given a healthy impetus on the pacific coast.

Orders for finished steel from makers of farm machinery and other miscellaneous sources are more numerous, and employment in the mills around Pittsburg, Birmingham and other iron centers is steadily increasing, while sentiment in the trade is reported as becoming noticeably confident and hopeful.
The copper market also reports a broadening of demand and the promise of an early appearance therein of the large consumers. Dry goods circles in New York report an increase in inquiries and some gain in actual business, while the word from the cotton manufacturing centers of Southeastern New England is that the tide has unquestionably turned and improvement is noticeable all around.

The first real buying movement of pig iron since the October panic last year has resulted in the placing of contracts for fully 350,000 tons in the three great distributing districts; in the East Central West and in the territory tributary to Chicago.
