

The Most Enticing Breakfasts Are Now Shot from Guns

Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice were served last month for seventeen million meals.

But millions of others lacked them. There are millions yet who don't know them.

If you are among them, we invite you to try them. Serve one of these foods tomorrow.

The world, as you know, doesn't jump to a food which all are not finding delightful.

The foods of the day are the foods that are best. That is always so.

The foods of this day are these crisp, gigantic grains—puffed to eight times their natural size.

These whole, unbroken, nut-like grains, made four times as porous as bread.

You'll like what others like. We do you a kindness when we ask you to try these foods.

Puffed Wheat—10c Puffed Rice—15c

These are the foods invented by Prof. Anderson, and this is his curious process:

The whole wheat or rice kernels are put into sealed guns. Then the guns are revolved for sixty minutes in a heat of 550 degrees.

That fierce heat turns the moisture in the grain to steam, and the pressure becomes tremendous.

Then the guns are unsealed, and the steam explodes. Instantly every starch granule is blasted into a myriad particles.

The kernels of grain are expanded eight times. Yet the coats are unbroken, the shapes are unaltered. We have simply the magnified grain.

One package will tell you why people delight in them. Order it now.

PAPA'S STORY.

His Attempt to Tell It While Trying to Put Robert to Sleep.

"Papa?"

"Well?"

"Tell me a story."

"I'll tell you just one if you will promise to go to sleep."

"My pajamas don't feel good."

"Don't think about them. I'll tell you a story, but one will be all."

Mr. Todd sat beside the bed and began:

"Once there was a little boy—"

"What's his name?"

"I forgot."

"Didn't he have any name?"

"Yes, to be sure he had! Don't interrupt me, Robert."

"Then what was it?"

"Why, his name was—his name was Julius."

"Julius is a girl's name."

"This boy's name was Julius, not Julia. He was named for Julius Caesar."

"I know something about Julius Caesar," Robert exclaimed, sitting up suddenly and quoting:

"Julius Caesar was a very old geezer. But he froze off his feet in a ice cream freezer."

"Where did you ever hear such a thing as that?"

"Alfred Potts told it to me."

"Well, don't you ever let me hear you use that word 'geezer' again. Now go to sleep."

"But you didn't tell me the story."

"All right. This isn't about Julius Caesar at all. Julius Caesar was a king, and he died a long time ago."

"When he froze his feet off, papa?"

"He didn't freeze his feet. That is a piece of silliness Alfred Potts told you."

"What is a piece of silliness, papa?"

"Don't ask me such foolish questions. Gettle down and go to sleep or I'll go back downstairs and leave you alone."

"Papa, my pajamas don't feel good."

"I told you not to think about them. Now, listen and I'll tell you about this little boy. He went out one day and saw—"

"Was his name Julius?"

"Yes, yes! Mr. Todd answered. "His name was Julius, and he—"

"Did he die a long time ago?"

"No. Julius Caesar died a long time ago. This boy didn't."

"Where does he live now?"

"I don't know. Be still."

"How'd you know what's his name, then?"

"Well, he lives—he lives in a town somewhere. And one day he went out and saw a tree that was simply full of birds. The birds—"

"What did the birds do?"

"The birds sang, of course."

"What did they sing?"

"They sang songs. Now, if you want me to tell you this story you will have to be quiet. So this boy looked up at the birds and—"

"My pajamas don't feel good."

"They never will feel good if you don't stop thinking about them. So this boy looked up at the birds, and—"

"he was a bad boy—and he thought it would be smart to throw a stone at them."

"Did he?"

"Yes, he threw a stone at the poor little birds."

"And what did the stone do?"

"It made the birds fly. And then—"

"Papa."

"Well?"

"What did the fly do?"

"What fly?"

"The fly it made the birds into."

"Robert Gallahue Todd, I am going downstairs, and if you are not asleep in two minutes I shall punish you!"

Two Duels.
Sainte-Beuve got an excellent advertisement out of a duel fought on a wet day by insisting upon holding his umbrella up with one hand while he fired his pistol with the other. He was willing, he courageously said, to take the risk of being shot, but he must be excused from taking the greater risk of catching cold.
The duel which Benjamin Constant, who suffered from gout, fought sitting in a Bath chair may have been of somewhat similar character. Honor in that case was declared to be satisfied when the Bath chair was hit.—Straud

Dangerous.
Father—What are you doing, Emma?
Daughter—Oh, Arthur is coming tonight, and I'm cooking something for him. Father—Emma, Emma, you'd better be careful. You'll keep on cooking for him till he breaks the engagement.—Heitere Welt.

It takes a lot of courage on the part of a young man to tell a girl how pretty some other girl is.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

AVOID The INTERNAL WRONGS of ALUM

Alum in food causes stomach disorders—Its continued use means permanent injury to health.

Following the advice of medical scientists, England and France have passed laws prohibiting its use in bread making.

American housewives should protect their households against Alum's wrongs by always buying pure Grape Cream of Tartar Baking Powder.
