An ordinance was passed by the town council Tuesday night, granting privilege to a proposed incorporated water company who will utilize the cold spring and provide Laporte with an up to date water works. This will be a welcomed project and its advancement could not come at a better time, as about the entire populace are now depending upon the two public spigots that the Mokoma Company have generously opened to the people. The Mokoma Company last summer put in a small private system to supply their cottages and were it not for this available source of water supply now being given free gratis it is hard to conjecture what our inhabitants would now be doing for their water supply, as nearly all wells and available sources in aud about the town, with the exception of the cold spring, have yielded to the severe drouth as in other sections.

With succeeding seasons as deplorably dry as this is proving, the new water works project becomes imperative as it is the only source Laporte has to depend upon.

A scientist has established the fact that hens have memory and reason. We never liked the term "hen" as applied to the lovelier half of the human family, but we now see one more reason for its appropriateness. Every married man knows that his wife has a memory years. He is survived by nine far outrunning the effects of the acts of the poor misguided male. As for reasoning well, a man can't reason the way a woman does, that is certain.

In furtherance of its policy of enouraging agricultural interest along its lines the Pennsylvania Railroad has purchased a farm of 50 acres at Bacon, Del., on the Delaware Railroad and will operate an experiment al station for the benefit of famers of the Maryland, Delaware and Virginia peninsula, and with a view of Miss Teresa Walsh, of Lopez, and exploiting the advantages of that
