

Ancient Ceremonies of Proclamation Carried Out in Capital of the Empire

LONDONERS CHEER GEORGE V.

Is Mindful of People's Welfare-Asks that Theatres Be Reopened to Prevent Many from Being Thrown Out of Work.

London, May 17.—King George V. was proclaimed in all parts of the British Empire. London took a sudden plunge into mediaeval tradition when George V. was proclaimed with ancient ceremonial. No detail of heraldry or coloring was neglected. Trum-peters in gold lace, heralds in gorgeous tabards, the Earl Marshal with his plumes and garter, the king at arms and pursuivants with splendor galore, made a picturesque group at St. James's Palace, and when the pro-clamation had been read in a clear voice which the great assemblage could hear, the band of the Coldstream Guards played the national anthem and the boom of guns came from the park.

It was a well ordered military pageant, with seven thousand troopers keeping the line for the royal carriages to the Mansion House, but the unrehearsed incidents had more hu-man interest than the mediaeval mummery. One was the group of the royal children in plain sight on the terrace of Marlborough House and saluting luting like soldiers, with Lord Kitch-ener behind them. Another was the singing of the national anthem by the thousands of spectators when the un-known leader, with a powerful voice, had started the opening bars alone.

The calvalcade, under the escort of the Life Guards, halted at Charing Cross for a second reading of the proclamation by another herald, and at Temple Bar for the traditional challenge from the city trumpeters and the Lord Mayor and the removal of the scarlet silken cord. There was a final ceremony at the Mansion House, with the singing of the national anthem.

Queen Mary was not proclaimed, aldetermined with the product of the product of the second s The Lord Chamberlain has received orders from King George to the effect that in view of the number of people who would be thrown out of work by the prolonged closing of the theatres it is his Majesty's wish that the theatres should be opened except on the day of his father's funeral. Furthermore King George made it known that he wished the Ascot races to be held as usual. The royal en-closure will be open as is customary, with the exception of the royal pa-

The Only Victims. West Africa is known to all naviga-tors for its few harbors and its heavy surf, which at certain seasons rages like a battle, defying the white man who would approach its shores. The author of "The Jungle Folk of Africa," Mr. R. H. Milligan, tells of a successful, and to the observers an amusing effort to reach shore at a point where the surf did not seem to be impossible.

One day, when the beach seemed much better than usual, the captain and the ship's surgeon ventured ashore. The captain afterward nar-rated the adventure of their landing to a small but enthusiastic audience. He said that after waiting outside the surf half an hour the head man sud-denly gave the order and in a modenly gave the order, and in a mo-ment they were in the breakers, rid-ing on the top of one of them, and speeding toward the shore at the rate of "seventy miles an hour." The captain was in the bow of the beat well brazed and exclanded. But boat, well braced and cushioned. But when the boat struck the beach with the force of a railway collision, the doctor was thrown violently over two thwarts into the captain's bosom, whom he clasped about the neck with a steel-like grip. The next moment another breaker picked the boat up and hurled it upon the beach, throwing both captain and doctor to a perfectly safe distance, where they sprawled upon the sand. The doctor, still hugging the captain's neck, and very much frightened, exclaimed:

"O captain, dear captain, is there anybody killed but you and me?"

gourds and make pipes for smokers at a profit. The gourds do not grow as rapidly as the gourds of ancient times, but it is said they can be produced in almost any part of this country from seed that is supplied by the gov-ernment, with the directions for planting and for making pipes. In South Africa the gourd is called the calabash. Boers made pipes of the gourds for many years, but the world took little notice until after the Boer war, when the English began to import them. Later the demand spread to the United States, and now there is a large market for the pipes at $8 to $12 each, according to the at $8 to $12 each, according to the circular of the Department of Agriculture.

The Boers tried to monopolize the seed of the gourd, but a large supply has been secured, and there is prospect that the crop will become gen-eral. It is asserted that the gourd pipes color like meerschaum and are highly appreciated by smokers. As no two gourds are exactly alike, each smoker has a pipe of special pattern, and as the sizes vary so much the work of preparing them is done by hand instead of machinery

Astronomers Agree the Earth Will Not Suffer in Passage.

Washington, May 17.—Astronomers agree in regard to the tail of Halley's comet that it will have no effect upon animal or vegetable life, perhaps no perceptible effect of any kind; but there may be meteoric and electrical manifestations. It is pointed out that the comet's tail is so tenuous that it probably does not contain more than a single solid particle or gaseous molecule to the cubic yard.

The Yerkes Observatory has ar-ranged with the Aero Clubs of Milwaukee and St. Louis for observations from balloons in case of cloudy weath-

Recent estimates have put the length of the tail at 20,000,000 to 46,-000,000 miles. To reach the earth it must exceed 15,000,000.

Secrets" Horse

by Dr. A. S. Alexander, and make yourself horse-wise and crook-proof.

Learn how "bishoping" is done-how a "heaver" is "shut"—a roarer "plugged "—how lameness, spavins, and sweeny are temporarily hidden—the "burglar" dodge -the horsehair trick-cocaine and gasoline doping-the ginger trick-the loose shoe trick-in short how to beat ALL the games of crooked auctioneers and dealers.

It is all in the "Horse Secrets" book, and if you ever buy or sell a horse you need just this knowledge to protect yourself from being swindled.
